Hanson to Report

MANPOWER NEEDS TO HIKE BUDGET

by Dave Hoyt
News Editor

Manpower increases will represent the major new items of expenditure when Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson delivers his proposed budget to the finance committee of the Arlington Heights Village Board tonight.

Hanson says he will request the addition of six policemen and five firemen to the village payroll.

Also requested are a full-time electrician, two more men for the department of public works and a part-time nurse to work in the department of public health.

Hanson says the requests are justified based on the tremendous growth that the village has experienced in the past year.

"I'M GONNA BE able to hold the tax rate constant," he predicted confidently to Finance committee chairman Carl Mees on the telephone, "but the people are going to have the library to pay for."

The manager simply meant that the village will continue to provide municipal service at its current rate of 5.5 mills of assessed property valuation.

Hiring the firemen and policemen will require the village to immediately pay $10,000 into the police and fire pension funds of each man.

Hanson says that the village ranks among the top 10 in the state in its per-man underwriting of the police pension fund and is considered tops in its support of the fire pension fund.

HANSON WANTS the full time electrician because he says the village is currently paying more to hire outside electrical help than it would for the salary of a full-time employee.

He pointed to the increased number of street and traffic lights that must be cared for, as the chief source of electrical repair bills.

With regard to the increase in fire department personnel, the manager explained that he has actually asked for 4½ men. The fifth man would not be added until the fiscal year is half over, and only one half a regular salary would be covered by the budget.

The increases Hanson is requesting will bring the strength of the police department from 46 to 52 men and the fire department from 21 to 26 men.

HANSON ADDED that the current utility tax is beginning to pay the village back on the expenses incurred by the tornado of last June.

He estimates that just over $100,000 has been realized from the tax. The village hopes to gain $150,000 from the special tax before it expires March 31.

He 'Canned' Do Better!

The snow fell and the garbage piled higher. One villager apparently decided it was time to can it all.

Henry Laseke, owner of Laseke Disposal Company in Arlington Heights, arrived at his office Monday morning to find a garbage can—filled—at the front door.

Laseke, located at 8 S. Dunton Ave., is the village's only scavenger service.

Top $2 Million in Valuation

Arlington Heights topped the $2 million mark in valuation of new construction permits issued last month.

Issuing a total of 35 building permits, the village building department reports there were actually 20 less building permits issued this January than were granted in January 1966, when the valuation of permits issued stood at $1,337,290.

The high valuation figure of $2,378,500 for this January is due in part to the inclusion of the $1.1-plus million library.

THE 31 PERMITS for single family residences last month were evaluated at $840,000 according to the building department's report. Last January's 48 single family permits totaled $1,247,000. Business buildings were down from last year too, totaling $50,000 as compared to last year's $103,000.

Where last January's report shows no construction of multi-family living units, this January's report indicates that a unit valued at $285,000 is being built.

The building department's report shows that Arlington Heights' total number of building permits for the 1966-67 fiscal year is lagging behind that from 1965-66. By January of the 1965-66 fiscal year, 885 permits valued at $23,202,507 had been issued. This year's total is 735 permits valued at $22,533,942.

Attorney Knott Named Defender For Rockwell

An Arlington Heights man is the court-appointed attorney for anti-civil rights demonstrator George Lincoln Rockwell.

Paul H. Knott, 415 E. Marshall, will defend Rockwell at his Feb. 20 jury trial in the Second District of the Cook County Circuit Court, Evanston.

Rockwell has been charged with obstructing a peace officer and disorderly conduct.

Caucus Weeding Approaches End

The Arlington Heights Caucus candidate recommendation committee will meet in private Saturday to decide which candidates for trustee will get the committee's endorsement.

Selection committee chairman Scott Ball said that by Saturday the committee will have interviewed 26 prospective candidates.

From these candidates, he said, the committee is required to report on at least two for each of the three open trustee positions.

The committee may recommend as many more than six candidates as it chooses, he added.

Commenting on the number of interviewees, Ball said that he was quite pleased and noted that the last Caucus interviewed about the same number of candidates but was seeking to fill posts on the library board, the village clerk position and the village presidency as well as trustee positions.

BALL SAID that the committee's recommendations will be announced publicly next Thursday. At that time the committee will release biographical material about each candidate so that Arlington Heights residents will have a chance to review them before the Caucus' public meeting on Feb. 20, Ball said.

Members of the Caucus' "get-out-the-vote" committee hope to get 1,500 voters to the public slate selection meeting which, according to Ball, will probably be held at Arlington High School.

All recommendations committee selected candidates will give short speeches at the Feb. 20 meeting.

The final slate of officers submitted by the caucus will be chosen by persons attending the Feb. 20 meeting. Voters will ballot to select a slate made up of candidates recommended by the recommendations committee and candidates nominated from the floor at the public meeting.

ALL CANDIDATES must publicly pledge support to the Caucus' statement of purposes to be eligible for selection to the final slate.

The 10 objectives and goals to which candidates must adhere are:

—Maintain maximum efficiency and economy in village government and keep taxes at the lowest practicable level.

—Promote civic pride and community spirit.

—Enforce the law fairly and justly.

—Conduct village affairs without favoritism.

—Appoint only qualified persons to the various boards and commissions.

—SUPPORT the village manager form of government, embodying a board of trustees elected from the village at large.

—Support measures designed to promote desirable commercial and industrial development in the village.

—Protect residential areas against unjust zoning.

—Continue the use of sound planning principles in the control and development of the outlying and downtown areas.

—Preserve the autonomy of village government.

Gilbert Voted Pay Hike, Car

By MARY SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

High School District 214 Supt. Edward H. Gilbert has been given a $2,000 salary raise.

He will receive $26,000 for 1967-68, his second year as superintendent of the 10,000-pupil high school district.

In addition, starting in October, the school district will provide a car for his use at no expense.

HIGH SCHOOL board members voted to approve the raise-and-car package offer Monday after an executive session.

They said the district will either lease a 1968 car on a two-year basis or purchase a new auto for trade-in in two years.

Similar benefits to business executives were cited by board members in discussing the transportation arrangement this week and last behind closed doors.

Until now, Gilbert has provided his own car. Transportation for school business has been paid by the school district — but it has been the custom for Gilbert, and retired Supt. Harold L. Slichenmyer before him, to only bill the school for mileage expended outside district boundaries.

BOARD members expressed great satisfaction at Gilbert's direction of the school district in announcing plans for the raise.

They stipulated that the automobile, if purchased, be no more than $4,000. A decision on whether to lease or buy will depend upon bids submitted under each plan.

In no case, school board members added, will Gilbert have to pay cost of the insurance for the automobile.

Originally Gilbert was offered a raise of $1,500 plus $2,000 in value of an auto. Board members instead approved the $2,000 raise when they decided it would be wiser to wait until 1968 car models go on sale.

Gilbert told Paddock Publications Tuesday he was "delighted" with the arrangement. In addition to the convenience of the new auto, he noted, the benefit will not represent direct income and thus will be nontaxable.

DISTRICT 214 is not the only school district in the area to provide transportation for its superintendent. This is done now in District 59, while District 21 in Wheeling provides transportation for both Supt. Kenneth Gill and the assistant superintendent.

Some North Shore school districts also provide cars for their chief administrators.

15 Calls

"Just a note to let you know how great the response was to our ad. We had 15 phone calls and the first man to see the car bought it."

Thus spoke Mrs. W. Flamm of Roselle.

'Coupled' Referenda Seen in District 25

A "minimum" building program pricetagged at $1.6 million was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 School Board.

The board is expected to set a date for a referendum after re-examining costs of the project at its March meeting.

Indications are that such a referendum would be coupled with an educational and building fund referendum (for operation and maintenance).

School officials are considering a spring date for the two referendums.

Supt. Ralph Clabaugh listed four top priority projects: a $1 million junior high school; a six room Dryden addition costing $220,000; a 12-room Ivy Hill addition, $368,400; and a $38,125 maintenance shop at Miner.

All the projects are to be completed by the fall of 1968, except for the junior high school. That building, located north of Rand Road, has a completion date of 1969.

Describing the program, Clabaugh called it the "minimum" needs of the district. He said the Citizens' Committee, studying the district's operation, will suggest additional projects.

He said these are a two-room addition to either Kensington or Windsor Schools, a four-room addition to Olive; and eight (rather than six) rooms added to Dryden. He cited no cost estimates for these projects.

Clabaugh said, "It is our assumption that this area (North-Windsor-Kensington) is near saturation. We have enough classrooms in the area but they're not at the right places."

Studies made in December pinpointed the greatest growth north of Rand Road and near the Dryden School attendance area.

Ganster and Hennighausen architects, retained by the school district in former projects, were selected as architects for the proposed program.

District 25 currently is in the last phase of a building program authorized by voters in February of 1965.

This $2.4 million program involved a new Ivy Hill School; and additions to Thomas, South, Dunton, Olive, Patton, Greenbrier schools as well as the administration building.

The building program will end this fall, with the completion of South's addition and the remodeling and addition to the administration building.

Fix School Bus Routing Policy

Current school bus practice became official policy after action by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 School Board Monday.

The policy—more limited than one proposed by Supt. Ralph Clabaugh last November—will go into effect this September.

The policy provides free bus transportation to students living 1.5 miles or more from their schools.

Children within the 1.5 mile limit may ride a bus if there is a route for students beyond 1.5 miles serving them. To ride, he must purchase a semi-annual ticket. The fare will be established by the school board prior to opening of school.

No bus routes will be set up solely for the use of students living within 1.5 miles from school.

THE POLICY WAS drafted by a transportation subcommittee consisting of board members James Penn and Charles Bennett.

Penn said, "It was undoubtedly desirable to provide bus transportation for children within 1.5 miles but financially, we couldn't justify it."

The policy will eliminate a bus route in the Westgate-Dwyer attendance area next fall. Presently it is the only route serving children solely within 1.5 miles of their school.

NEED FOR A written policy appeared when parents from the Ridge-Patton School area petitioned the board for a bus route. The board found that their past practice was inconsistent.

Then the board rejected a proposal made by Clabaugh which would allow establishing bus routes for children living within 1.5 miles of their school.

Lenten Service

Special midweek family services will be held at Faith Lutheran Church each Wednesday during Lent.

The congregation's two ministers, Rev. Edgar H. Behrens and Rev. C. David Stuckmeyer, will be speakers at the 7:30 p.m. services. They will preach on the theme, "The Lord's Prayer and the Lord's Passion."

Faith church choirs will provide music for the Lenten series.

Street Paving, Reservoir Contracts Given Approval

The Arlington Heights village board awarded a quarter million dollars in contracts Monday night for street paving and construction of sewers and a two-million gallon water reservoir.

Breakdown of the funds shows that $134,950 will be spent for construction of the two-million-gallon reservoir and maintenance work on two other tanks. The contract went to Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co.

APPROXIMATELY $94,800 will be spent on paving village streets. Contracts for these services went to Mayer Paving and Asphalt Co. Payment will be made from the village's share of Motor Fuel Tax Fund monies.

The following streets will be resurfaced: Willow from Walnut to Highland; Stratford from Kensington to Mayfair; Mitchell from George to South; Vail from Orchard to Kirchoff; Sigwalt from Yale to Dwyer; Chestnut from South to George; and the intersections of Hawthorne and Arlington Heights Road and Hawthorne and Pine Street will be widened.

Curb replacement is slated for: Orchard from Chestnut to Arlington Heights Road; Highland from Orchard to Kirchoff Road; Evergreen from Orchard to Central; and Rockwell from Arlington Heights Road to Pine.

A $34,668 contract was awarded to the A. A. Conte Co. for construction of a 5,600-foot sewer to serve the Scarsdale Estates area.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson would not begin until 61 per cent of the homeowners in Scarsdale Estates had paid their share of the assessment for the sewer. Tapping on to the sewer will require subdivision residents to annex to the village.

No Third Term For Schaefer

George Schaefer, 12-year veteran on the Arlington Heights Park Board, announced this week that he will not seek a third term as park commissioner.

Schaefer, who lives at 25 S. Salem Ave., told the Herald that he felt it was time he let someone else fill his place on the board.

"I've enjoyed it, though," he said. "We have had lots of problems in the 12 years I've been on the board, but when you see what's been done, I think it's worth it."

CHARLES B. CRONIN, park board president, announced two weeks ago that he will seek re-election.

Both Cronin's and Schaefer's terms expire April 30.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton said that only one person besides Cronin has filed a petition to run for the board. Joseph R. Byerwalter, 218 S. Kaspar Ave. has filed a petition with the park district office. (A

St. James Group To Salute 60's

St. James Christian Family Movement (C.F.M.) will sponsor a Gay Sixties Talent Show Friday at 8 p.m. at the junior high school, 800 N. Arlington Heights Road.

THE SHOW includes a total of 21 variety acts which vary from guitar solos and folk singing to dance routines. There will be at least one representative act from each grade at the school (first through eighth).

Board Supports Sanitarian In Services Step-Up Bid

The Arlington Heights Board of Health last week indicated its general support for a step-up in the environmental health program of village sanitarian Richard Dawson.

Dawson, in his report to the board, enumerated the services which he performs and the services which currently cannot be performed. The "not being done" list was a long one.

Dr. Melvin Gibbel announced, "I'm willing to go to bat right now to get this man some help. It seems to me the whole crux of the problems of public health lies in the area of sanitation."

Other members of the board agreed with Gibbel and said they would recommend to the village board additional facilities and personnel to support Dawson's work, but no deadline was set for making this recommendation.

GIBBELL TOLD the Herald that he would like to see further study of the question before the board makes any final decisions.

In his report Dawson stated that there are some 90 automatic vending machine installations and 250 itinerant restaurants and mobile food vendors which currently are escaping inspection by his office.

He also reported that neither insects nor rodents could be properly controlled with manpower now available to the village health department.

"It is felt that the addition of at least one qualified sanitarian or sanitary inspector, while it would not completely satisfy the needs of a generalized environmental health program, would permit better implementation of food services inspection and minimum protection for problems presented by poor garbage, refuse and rodent control," Dawson said.

The board asked that the sanitarian prepare a report on an effective program for inspecting school lunchrooms and sampling milk that is delivered in the village.

Ask Financial Wait On Proposed Purchases

Tightening the financial belt became evident at Monday's meeting of the Elementary District 25 school board.

Board members cut out several items from Supt. Ralph Clabaugh's recommended purchases while giving a hesitant okay to others.

Given the axe were installation of lights in the courtyard of Thomas Junior High School and installation of a protective fence around a gas meter at South Junior High School.

In addition, the board recommended delaying purchase of a duplicating machine. Clabaugh had asked purchase of an offset duplicator to replace an old mimeograph machine used by all schools.

Several board members, led by Charles Bennett, opposed buying the duplicator because it was difficult to use and required supplemental equipment.

BOARD MEMBER Robert Bukowski said the district didn't run off the number of copies needed to justify buying the offset machine.

Clabaugh contended that other districts were abandoning mimeograph machines for offset.

"It struck me that for a district this size, the mimeograph machine was pretty small," he said.

The board urged Clabaugh to study the situation again and come up with another recommendation later.

It approved purchase of about $20,000 worth of closed-circuit television equipment for Thomas and Miner Junior High Schools. Funds for this purchase will come from the 1966-67 budget.

ASSISTANT SUPT. Robert Campbell said the purchase should complete the system at Miner and set up a workable system at Thomas.

Campbell indicated the district has already invested $12,000 in television equipment—primarily at Miner.

Among the new equipment approved for Miner is a $3,000 video tape recorder, additional lighting equipment, one receiver, and two ceiling-mounted television sets.

Equipment for Thomas includes cameras and lighting equipment, a distribution system, a console, and television sets. (A345

Icy Streets Blamed for Accidents

Icy streets during the weekend caused numerous auto accidents in Arlington Heights. Police reported 26 accidents—with only one injury—from Friday through Sunday.

Injured in an auto accident at Arlington Heights Road and Euclid Street early Sunday morning was Mrs. Carl Thompson, 29, of Park Ridge. She was taken to Northwest Community Hospital where she was treated for head and leg injuries and released.

She was riding in an auto driven by Alan H. Thompson, 32, also of Park Ridge. Police said the Thompson car was eastbound on Euclid Street when it collided with a northbound car on Arlington Heights Road. That car was driven by Richard A. Taarud, 31, of Wheeling.

Police ticketed Thompson for failure to yield right of way.

Variety Acts Near Wheeling Opening

"Footlights to the Future," a community variety show sponsored by the Wheeling High School Community Scholarship Foundation, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18, at Wheeling High School.

All proceeds from the show, in which over twenty local organizations will each present a five-minute act, will go to the Scholarship Foundation in the name of the participating groups.

Funds will be used to provide post high-school scholarship assistance to deserving Wheeling High School students wishing to further their educations.

Director of "Footlights to the Future" is Louis Pintacurra, Wheeling resident, and longtime theatrical personality. Pintacurra's background includes extensive coast-to-coast experience in show business, including vaudeville and night club performing. He also has done dance directing and public relations work with road show musicals on tour all over the country.

WORKING with Pintacurra as Stage Manager and Coordinator of "Footlights to the Future" is Wheeling dancing instructor Mrs. Rae Swanson, member of a national professional dance organization, who trained with several outstanding dance masters in the Chicago area.

Glenn Oaks, Vice-President of the Scholarship Foundation, and one of its original members, will be Master of Ceremonies for "Footlights to the Future." Oaks, who has been associated with Commonwealth Edison for 18 years, was a member of a Commonwealth Edison-sponsored public speaking group for several years.

A resident of Wheeling since 1956, Oaks has been active in various community affairs.

ASSISTING with the production of "Footlights to the Future" is a Coordinating Committee composed of four members of the Scholarship Foundation's Board of Directors: Mrs. Marjilou Olson, Charles Mihalek, Mrs. Leanne Spletzer, and Duane Ainlay.

The following local groups will perform in the variety show: Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Wheeling Junior Woman's Club Men's Auxiliary, Royal Neighbors of America, Prospect Heights Women's Club, Wheeling Youth Commission, Knights of Columbus, Meadowbrook Woman's Club, Cameo Players, River Trails Park District, Wheeling Athletic Association Auxiliary, the Wheeling Village Clerk's Office, Buffalo Grove Women's Club, and Joyce Kilmer PTA.

Other performing groups include the Yesteryears Quartet, Wheeling Public Relations Commission, Northwest Homeowners Association of Wheeling, Wheeling Civil Defense, Wheeling Rotary Club, Wheeling Park District, and the Wheeling Junior Women's Club.

Tickets to "Footlights to the Future" may be acquired by advance sale through any of the participating organizations, or through the Board of Directors of the Wheeling High School Community Scholarship Foundation, 900 S. Elmhurst Rd., Wheeling. (A

$1 Million In TAW Sought

Arlington Heights Elementary School District 25 board of education Monday authorized securing bids for more than $1 million in tax anticipation warrants (TAW).

Supt. Ralph Clabaugh said, "After a careful study of the current receipts and expenditures, we believe that $870,000 for the educational fund and $150,000 for the building fund will be required."

The amounts were included in the 1965-66 budget.

TAW are a means by which the district "borrows" funds it needs this year against taxes collectible next year. (A345

Board Defers to Siegel on Auto Parking Leases

Action on changes in the comprehensive zoning ordinance was deferred by the Arlington Heights village board Monday night.

Village Atty. Jack Siegel told the board that he did not favor recommendations by the plan commission that the rules on the leasing of parking spaces from the village be spelled out in great detail.

"WE ARE BETTER off when we don't prescribe in minute detail," insisted Siegel. He said that the leasing provision had been set up to deal with hardship cases and was not intended for general use by anyone conducting a business or owning a building in the central business district.

The matter was sent to the legal committee for consideration. (A

Thornton Draws Battle Lines In Dispute On Navy Housing

Arlington Heights' superintendent of parks, Thomas Thornton is leading the village's fight against the U.S. Navy's announced intention of building dependent housing at the Arlington Heights Air Defense Site.

Thornton wants a golf course at the site and thought he had the green light to get it.

Three years ago Thornton was told by a representative of the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation that he could expect land at the Nike Site to become available for public use.

He was further told that he should take steps to secure that land for the park system under the government's policy of making such land available as open space.

THORNTON SAYS that he kept a careful watch on the matter and did not become aware of the Navy's intentions until late last year.

As recently as August, 1966, insists Thornton, the Army was telling him that they knew of no one who was interested in the property.

"There are so many people in the federal government that one hand doesn't know what the other's doing," complained Thornton to the Herald.

"I wonder if they (the government) know what that land means to the people of this area as open space," he asked, and answered his own question, "I don't think they can begin to estimate the value of this land as open space land."

Thornton fears that once the Navy puts up housing on the property that a use will be established for the rest of the land.

"It's a start," he declares, "and if they build houses out there, the rest of the land will wind up that way."

THORNTON BASED his case on two premises.

One: If Glenview Naval Air Station is really vital to the defense of the country then the Navy should be able to afford to buy property in the Glenview area.

If the Air Station is not essential, then close it down and end the argument.

"If we are in an emergency that will require military housing, then I can see it, but they didn't even find it necessary to build such dependent housing during World War II," Thornton pointed out.

Thornton challenged the Navy to justify the continuing use of the air station; "I think Glenview is temporary, and the way things change in the military, they are obsolete in five years.

"I think the station would have been closed down long ago, but the admiral (Commander, Naval Air Reserve, U.S.) has to justify his existence," he added.

The park superintendant noted that the Glenview station is in close proximity to civilian housing and suggested that one crash by a Navy jet into the surrounding area would see the station closed in a hurry.

THORNTON was not impressed by the moonlighting problems told by the Glenview commanding officer in an interview with the Herald.

Soldiers and airmen from the Nike Site have worked for Thornton and he says that military personnel often have a good deal of time on their hands and are anxious for outside work no matter what their income.

Both Thornton and Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson point out that the Nike Site has been in existence for over 10 years and has not apparently felt any need to build additional housing on the base for its officers and enlisted men.

As things stand now, the Navy must receive permission from the armed services committee of both the U.S. House and Senate.

Thornton doesn't think the measure will pass.

"I don't think Rumsfeld and Percy will let it through," said Thornton, and said he wished that Sen. Paul Douglas were still in office to do battle on the issue.

It was Douglas who obtained for the village the 13 surplus acres from the Nike Site the last time land became available.

School Board Trims Budget

The Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 School Board Monday wielded sharp scissors to trim items from next year's school budget.

The trimming is a result of last September's referendum defeat. Approval of the referendum would have added $425,000 to the 1967-68 coffers.

Without the additional monies the growing district will operate on substantially the same budget as this year's.

THE BOARD cutback the number of needed new personnel to 23.

Late last year Supt. Ralph Clabaugh had told the board he would need about 50 additional personnel for next fall.

Of the 23 persons, 20 are teachers and administrators (certificated personnel) and three are clerical workers and maintenance people (non-certificated).

The trimming, Clabaugh said, would also eliminate the team-teaching program now in effect at Dunton and Ivy Hill schools.

"We have to be honest with the rest of the district," he commented, referring to the two additional half-time teachers needed for the project.

Board member Robert Bukowski replied, "This is the kind of program the district would want to extend." Board members had seen how team teaching worked at a recent board-staff meeting.

"This (cutting out the program) would be a deplorable step backwards," Bukowski charged.

BOARD PRESIDENT Harold Sortor agreed, but added, "It's the only way we can go. This is just the beginning of our problems. We have to determine personnel salaries yet, and from where I sit that's going to be a big hurdle."

District 25 now employs 539 people. Of these, 222 are elementary teachers, 111 junior high teachers, 38 special education teachers, librarians, and nurses, and 33 administrators. Another 135 are non certificated (clerical and maintenance) personnel.

The personnel chart for next year calls for 6.5 more elementary teachers, nine junior high teachers, three special education teachers, a head librarian, and a director of public information.

THREE noncertificated personnel were also added.

Salaries for these employes, which comprise about 75 per cent of the school's total budget, are currently under negotiation. Salary schedules will be discussed and adopted in March.

Chamber Officers Installed

Formal, Installation of new Chamber of Commerce officers and awards presentation were held at the 20th annual Installation Ball Saturday.

More than 175 guests attended the gala at the Rolling Green Country Club.

New officers installed to the Board of Directors are John Janszen, president; Robert G. Walters, chairman of the board; Ed Keegan, vice president, and John Stanton, treasurer.

NEW CHAMBER directors are Guy M. Anderson, Philip Gustafson, Lowell Henriksen, Mrs. Margaret LeMeilleur, E. Mills, Eugene Schlickman, Wilbert Schwantz, Mrs. Helen Schmidt, James Svoboda, Kenneth Tucker, Wayne Walters, Orin Wellborn, W. C. Wolf, James Warriner, and A. Bernie Wood.

Awarded "Airman of the Year" was Master Sgt. James C. Custred and "Soldier of the Year" was Spec. 4, Monty M. Daniels, both of the Arlington Heights Air Defense Base.

Adding levity to the affair was a special presentation made to new president Janszen. As he took office, he was given two bottles of aspirin — a large one to use when he has problems and a very small one in case he doesn't. (A

Start to Register at Arlington

Registration for courses to be taken next fall has begun at Arlington High School.

During this week, students have been given information about courses, prerequisites, and completion of registration by their counselors. Students were given a worksheet with a list of all courses being offered next fall. Students, after confering with their parents, are to fill in the courses they are selecting to take.

Complete registration of all classes for next fall will be finished by March 1. (A

Housing Opponents Have Two Questions

Two questions raised by opponents of Navy housing at the Arlington Heights Air Defense Site have been: Why doesn't the Navy build its housing at Fort Sheridan and why did they wait so long before making the village aware of its plans?

The second question is usually based on the assumption that the Navy must have known that Arlington Heights was interested in the land from contacts made with the General Services Administration by Park Supt. Tom Thornton.

The answers are:

There is no room at Ft. Sheridan for Navy housing. Thomas Hicks, information officer for the Chicago District of the Corps of Engineers explained to the Herald that all the housing at the lake shore Army post is planned for use by the Army.

Hicks said that 5th Army headquarters will move to the post sometime this summer, and some 250 units are being built to house regular army personnel attached to the headquarters.

Even then, said Hicks, there will not be sufficient housing for the Army's needs.

The post is a small one, according to Hicks, with no open areas used for maneuvers. The base is not used by summer reservists.

Any action to use land at Ft. Sheridan for dependent housing construction by the Navy would have to be initiated in Washington, said Hicks.

In answering the second question — why the Navy did not notify the village after contacting the General Services Administration — Hicks told the Herald that the Navy never went to the G.S.A.

He explained that the different branches of the service are in daily contact with one another. When land becomes excess to one service, the other two are automatically notified of the availability.

This, said the Army spokesman, is how the Navy got wind of the surplus land at the Nike Site.

He said that the Navy had staked its original claim to the land in early 1964, confirming information given the Herald by the commanding officer at Glenview Naval Air Station.

HICKS DECLARED that the G.S.A. is only notified of land and property surpluses after the services have made the information available to one another.

Thus, he said, the Navy probably was not aware of Thornton's letter of intent that had been registered with the G.S.A.

The Navy is asking for title to 51 acres of land, and the Army engineers are in the process of drawing up legal description of the property. Once this has been accomplished the Navy will forward its request for land use to the Department of Defense and the armed services committees of Congress.

Lutheran Home To Dedicate Land

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) learned last week that the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged will dedicate land for the right-of-way for Thomas Street and Kennicott and Ridge Avenues.

Village Attorney Jack Siegel is scheduled to report to BOLI tonight on the home's decision. Siegel has been asked to tell the board about the home's plats or deeds of dedication and what correspondence there has been from the village to the home.

CLARENCE K. Graves, attorney for the home, said the home expects to have to pay about $53,000 for the paving project in addition to the land dedication.

He had asked Siegel if the home could advertise for bids on its own. He said that the village had informed him that this would be impossible as Motor Fuel Tax funds will be used to cover the public benefit portion of the project. When these funds are used, he said, the project has to be under the village's supervision.

Present village plans call for paving the Lutheran home section of Thomas Street — between Kennicott and Ridge Avenues — this year. A tentative schedule discussed by BOLI last summer also slated Kennicott Avenue for improvement this year. (A

Cost a Factor, Navy Says

Navy sources have told the Herald that two big factors in their selection of the Nike Site for construction of dependents' housing is savings to the taxpayer and political expediency.

Said one official, "We could not justify buying land in the Glenview area from the standpoint of cost. It would have to come out of the taxpayers pocket."

"WE HAVE BEEN told not to buy any more land, and have been urged to unload what land we can."

The purchase of land today is politically unpalatable," he continued, "Your neck is on the block for any politician out to make a name for himself as a protector of the public purse."

BOLI Meets Tonite; Two Hearings Slated

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements has scheduled a special meeting for 8 p.m. today (Thursday).

One formal hearing and one informal public hearing as well as a number of reports are included on the agenda.

At 8 p.m. BOLI will resume the formal public hearing on the special assessment paving project for the extension of Lillian Street west of Arlington Heights Road.

BOLI IS expected to pass a formal resolution on the project at tonight's meeting despite protests from the owners of the Market Basket Shopping Center who maintain that BOLI's proposed plan for spreading the cost of the project cannot be justified.

The proposed street extension runs between the shopping center and a Pure (Union) Oil service station.

Informal discussion of Central-Kirchoff area will begin at 8:30 p.m. All property owners involved in this project were to have been notified of the informal hearing by BOLI attorney Kenneth Stonesifer.

Among the reports to be considered by BOLI are a report by Village Atty. Jack Siegel on the Lutheran home's dedication of land for Thomas Street and Kennicott and Ridge Avenues, a report on street lighting, engineering reports on proposed improvement of Waterman Avenue, a summary of proceedings at a meeting of the Board of St. Peter's Lutheran Church at which the church board discussed North Highland Avenue paving and a report on a one lot project on Kaspar Avenue. Dist. 59 Calendar For New Year OKd

The 1967-68 school calendar was adopted by the School District 59 Board of Education Monday.

The 182-classday calendar is essentially the same as that proposed in eight other elementary and two high school districts in the area. There are some internal differences but holiday schedules are the same, Dr. Donald Thomas, superintendent, said.

The calendar extends from the first day of school Sept. 5 to June 14. New district teachers will begin Aug. 29 and all other teachers will start Aug. 30.

DAYS SCHOOL will not be held are Nov. 3, Arlington Area Institute; Nov. 10, parent conference day; Nov. 23 and 24, Thanksgiving; Dec. 25 through Jan. 2, Christmas and New Year holidays.

Others are Jan. 26, Arlington Area Institute; Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday; April 6 through April 15, spring vacation; and May 30 and 31, Memorial Day.

Five days are included in the calendar for "emergency" vacations such as Jan. 26, 27 and 30 and Feb. 2 when dismissed because of blizzard weather. If these are not used for weather reasons, they will be actual school days, Thomas said.

The state requires a minimum of 176 actual school days. Teachers will put in 196 and 195 days. There are 91 school days in both semesters.

PTAs Hold Meetings

Two Arlington Heights PTAs will hold February meetings Tuesday.

Patton School PTA will highlight a panel discussion regarding words and their meaning to parents and children. Meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school.

Panelists are Richard Cowen, moderator; Mrs. Robert Schultz; Miss Sheilah Wilson, learning specialist at the Diagnostic Learning Center, Mrs. Ruth Sangster, social worker; James Walsh; Stanley John, Patton principal; and Dr. William Jones, minister of Southminster Presbyterian Church.

The Dunton School PTA will discuss aspects of marriage counseling. Guest speaker will be Richard Rogaln, from the staff of the Catholic Counseling Service. He will answer questions arising from buzz sessions.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the school's multi-purpose room. (A345

Committee Pinchhitter: Palmatier

Arlington Heights Trustee Frank Palmatier will replace Trustee John White as head of a special village board committee studying need for a building commission and location of a proposed cultural center.

White, who was absent at Monday's meeting, cited the press of his current workload in asking to be relieved of his duties on the committee.

Find Hands Tied In Street Project

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) has found its hands tied in any effort to speed up improvement of Highland Avenue north of Oakton Street.

The Highland Avenue project omitted from the larger Northwest Highlands improvement project so that it would not bog down the larger project with condemnation proceedings, is now being held up by the village board's indecision on vacation of Clarendon and Marion Streets which are included in the Northwest Highland project.

Should Clarendon Street be vacated, specifications on the North Highland Avenue project for the point where the two streets meet would have to be drawn accordingly. If the east-west street is not vacated, the North Highland plans would have to include curb returns.

IN ADDITION, the storm sewer for North Highland Avenue is included in the Northwest Highlands project and would have to be installed before the street is paved.

At present, the North Highland Avenue project is at the informal hearing stage. Property owners whose land abuts the proposed improvement are discussing the possibility of joining in a private contract agreement to pave the street.

St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive St., owns about half the land involved in the $43,000 project.

BOLI member Russell Colvin and consulting engineer Charles McBride met with members of the St. Peter Church board this week to answer any questions the board might have about the project. Colvin will report back to BOLI tonight.

The North Highland Avenue project is further complicated by the fact that several of the property owners have already dedicated land for the street.

Robert Bishop, special commissioner on many BOLI projects, estimated that the larger Northwest Highlands improvement might not even be put in until 1968. (A

New Public Health Needs Are Evident

As a village grows, so its services must also grow. There must be more police and firemen; there must be more men and equipment for the department of public works.

The village is in full stride of expansion, with building permits again exceeding the $1 million mark in January. Arlington Heights will soon number more than 50,000 people.

It is a village with but one public health nurse and one sanitarian. It needs at least one more of each.

U.S. Department of Public Health standards call for one public health nurse per 5,000 population and one sanitarian per 10,000. By these standards the village is short nine nurses and four sanitarians.

These standards are optimal, perhaps hopeful, but they do provide a guideline to what is needed.

Public health is preventative health which cannot be seen as easily as a fire truck. It is home health care which goes unobserved even when the patient lives next door.

Consider for a minute that Arlington Heights is no longer a quaint, dirt-road village of 3,000, but a city of 50,000. Can two people care for the public health needs of so many?

Certainly not. And we hope this is evident to the board of trustees as it considers the village budget for fiscal 1967.

Area News Roundup

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—Village manager L. A. Hanson is presenting the first draft of the 1967-68 budget to the finance committee of the board of trustees. Manpower increases proposed include six policemen, five firemen, an electrician, two men for public works and a part-time nurse to supplement the public health staff.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE—Elk Grove School District 59 has adopted a tentative budget expected to be $631,000 over the current operating budget. The maximum spending is set at $10,220,-290. The increase is due primarily to hiring personnel for three new district schools to open this fall.

WHEELING—A candidate and former parks superintendent for the Wheeling Park Board, Gene Sackett, has questioned the ethics of how the filing of petitions was handled by Park Board Atty. Roger Bjorvik.

MOUNT PROSPECT—Trustee Parker Ekren, after two terms in office, has announced he is withdrawing from active political life. This leaves Harry Bruhl as the only trustee who has not made known his intentions. Frank Bergen was the first to announce he was not filing for re-election.

SCHAUMBURG TOWNSHIP—Elementary School District 54 became the second governing body to pull out of plans to build a municipal complex in Schaumburg Township. Two weeks ago, the Hoffman Estates Park District decided not to take part in the plans to build offices for the village, the school district, the park district and the township.

HOFFMAN ESTATES—The VP Party announced its three candidates for this April's municipal elections. Incumbents James Sloan and Howard "Jack" Noble will be joined on the ballot by political newcomer Eric Edstrom.

ADDISON—Library board and re-organized Friends of the Library outlined their information campaign this week prior to the March 4 referendum asking for approval of $314,000 bonds for construction of a library. This is the second attempt. The November referendum which requested $400,000 bond approval was defeated.

BLOOMINGDALE TOWNSHIP—Republican Curt Barnes Jr. and Democrat John (Jerry) Williams were nominated by their respective party caucuses Tuesday as nominees for township road commissioner in the April 4 elections. Out of a total of 706 votes cast at the Republican caucus, incumbent Barnes received 508 against 187 for his challenger Donald (Jack) Wall. In the Democratic caucus, Williams was the unanimous choice of the 59 present.

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Incumbent Supervisor Fred Koebbeman and incumbent Highway Commissioner Howard Selcke were slated by Addison Township Republicans to run for re-election, April 4. With them on the ballot will be Carl Demme, for assistant supervisor. Democratic candidates will be Julius Wassell for supervisor; Phillip Grisolia for assistant supervisor; and Frank Petrik for highway commissioner.

10 Promoted In District 59

Ten promotions have been made in School District 59, including the naming of principals for the district's three new schools.

The new principals are Stephen D. Berry, Holmes Junior High School, Mount Prospect; Charles W. Welch, John Jay School, Mount Prospect; and Harold L. Hoeksema, Adm. Richard E. Byrd School, Elk Grove Village.

Leonard Garasha, director of transportation, was named supervisor of transportation and central processing.

John Kretekos, an intern with the state gifted program at Grant Wood School, was named full-time assistant principal at Clearmont School. He will succeed Welch who was administrative assistant at that school.

BERRY IS District 214 director of instructional resources center, Elk Grove High School, and Hoeksema is assistant principal of Brentwood School, a position left unfilled.

Promoted to teaching assistant principals are Thomas Powers, Brentwood teacher who will go to Ridge School; Henry DeFeo, Devonshire teacher who will go to Robert Frost School; Mrs. Lynn Westerberg, Rupley School learning center, to Einstein School; Donald Basile, Ridge School learning center, to Rupley School; and Robert Koehnke, Grove Junior High instrumental music director, to Salt Creek School.

The appointments were made Monday after an executive session of the school district Board of Education. Ludwig Bodzewski, superintendent of instruction, said while announcing the appointments that there is a lot of administrative talent in School District 59.

Candidates were interviewed and recommended to the board by a newly created board of review consisting of Bodzewski, William Mann, assistant superintendent of finance; Robert Brower, director of curriculum and Ron Glovetski and Robert Michalsen, principals.

BODZEWSKI said the board interviewed 24 candidates within the district and two outside the district. Board president Donald Burns said the number of new positions filled in one night indicates how large and fast the district has grown. He said the board was pleased with the selections.

The positions of principal and assistant principal will all become effective the fall of 1967. Garasha's new duties will begin in February, 1968, when the addition to the administration building is completed.

Berry is now in his first year as director of instructional resources center in Elk Grove High School. He was audio-visual director at Wheeling High School two years and prior to this, taught biology and did audio-visual work seven years at Lincoln Park High School, Lincoln Park, Mich.

Berry received a B.S. degree in education in 1956 from Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio. He received an M.A. in administration and supervision in 1960 from Eastern Michigan University and an M.A. in science in 1964 at Bowling Green.

THE NEW principal has also had an academic year under the National Science Foundation at the University of Michigan and has done additional graduate work in administration and instructional materials at Northern Illinois University at Bradley University.

Berry, 32, lives at 3211 N. Betty Drive, Arlington Heights, with his wife and two sons.

Welch taught the fourth and fifth grades last year at Salt Creek School.

Before going to School District 59, he completed a master's degree in education in 1965 at Northern. He taught in Orange Grade School, Cleveland, Ohio.

Welch, 27, has a bachelor's in liberal arts from Grove City College, Grove City, Pa., graduating in 1962. He is now in the doctoral program for supervision and curriculum at Northern. He lives in Wheaton and has one son.

HOEKSEMA, 34, is also demonstration center director of individualized prescribed instruction. He was a mathematics teacher five years at Grove Junior High School and before that, taught mathematics and science three years at Union Ridge School, District 86.

He received a B.S. in elementary education in 1958 from Trinity College, Deerfield, and an M.S. in education in 1963 from Northern Illinois University. He has also taken additional graduate work at Northern.

He and his wife Theone, their four girls and one boy, live at 7238 Cullom, Norridge.

Seek to Lighten Village's Cost in Stonegate Project

"Do-it-yourself" may be the answer to Arlington Heights' dimly lit streets bordering the Stonegate subdivision.

Following a Commonwealth Edison Co. presentation last week on the cost of renting the lights, board of local improvements member (BOLI) Harold Klingner suggested that the village might come out ahead by buying and maintaining the lights itself rather than renting them.

BOLI had been exploring the possibility of avoiding a special assessment for property owners involved in the project.

If the project does go in by special assessment, it will be the first special assessment street lighting project in the village since 1954. At that time the village improved street lighting in the downtown business section.

THE PROJECT calls for 82 mercury-vapor luminaires to be installed along three major streets. The streets involved are:

—Northwest Highway between Belmont and Waterman Avenes,

—Dryden Place between Northwest Highway and Miner Street,

—Kensington Road from Northwest Highway to Dryden Place.

Figures quoted by Walter Lambert, district superintendent for Commonwealth Edison Co., showed the electric company's rental charge for these lights would be $7,304 each year for lights mounted on poles similar to those now used in Arlington Heights; $9,805 each year for lights with underground wires, and $11,598 each year for lights mounted on decorative concrete poles.

THESE PRICES, Lambert said, were merely estimates and were probably low.

None of the lights offered by the Edison Co. fit the village's specifications exactly. Plans drawn up by Village Engineer Charles Tower call for 25,000-lumen lights mounted on 35 foot poles.

Lambert explained that his company has a limited number of types of street light available. The highest number of lumens offered by his company was 20,500 per light.

Robert B. Bishop, special commissioner on many BOLI projects, told BOLI that if the village were to take the other route and put the lights in by special assessment, public benefit on the project could be in the neighborhood of 30 per cent.

THE COST TO property owners would then be about $6.50 to $8 per front foot—roughly twice the cost of sidewalk installations.

This rough front footage cost, he said, does not take into consideration any possible sideage benefits to properties not fronting on any of the three designated streets.

BOLI member Russell Colvin suggested that the board consider more information before making a decision.

Can We Afford Empty Schools?

By MARY SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

What happened to the grit and fortitude our fathers bragged of?

Even in my day, downstate, snowstorms like the ones we've seen recently would not have forced school closings.

Downstate school districts still must be hoo-hawing at the thought of our suburban school bus lines bogged down in drifts. Their youngsters go to school no matter what, trudging to cleared "hard roads" to catch the bus if side roads drift. If Old Man Winter really blew our way a blizzard, school still went on for those who could make it through the drifts.

And parents sent them—just as most would have done this week and last (and gladly!) if school men hadn't closed the doors.

Full use of those expensive school buildings is a must—and not just for regular classes but in summer and weekends as well.

Far away as summer looks right now (three years perhaps?), it's not too soon to be planning to better use our schools this summer.

The high schools don't do badly at this, though they concentrate most summer classes at one school—Prospect. But only playgrounds get a workout in most Arlington elementary schools.

The few parents who've tried to ease summer school library openings past their principals have been rebuffed—or at least those I've heard of have. And why?

Maybe part of it is that old temptation of officials to "guard their kingdoms." If it's not their program, it's not important, seems to be their say. Meanwhile, the taxpayer shells out more money—or is asked to—to finance more buildings that get partial use. I hate to see my dollars going down the drain that way!

Even more enticing, of course, is the temptation to build a kingdom so you'll have one to guard. Public officials aren't alone in this. Clearbrook School for the Retarded met for years in unused First Presbyterian Church space. Last year they gave a big enough yank at donor purse strings and got a building of their own.

Akin to this is the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association's plans to build a separate clinic—while again dozens of church education wings sit idle through the week. And the group that wants to start a new District 214 youth center has dreams of getting a teens' own building.

Meanwhile park district and school facilities I've paid for don't get the use they might.

This is one parent that's all for teenage centers—but in existing buildings, not in a brand new structure for which I'll be asked to cough up more dough.

Chamber Co-Sponsors Legislative School

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce last week voted to co-sponsor a Legislative School that will take place at River Trails Junior High, Prospect Heights, on March 11.

They will be one of six organizations co-sponsoring the legislative forum, whose planning was spearheaded by the local League of Women Voters.

SEN. RUSSELL W. Arrington of Evanston will be luncheon speaker at the Legislative School, which will focus on the General Assembly's activities this session.

Co-sponsors with the Arlington Heights Chamber and the LWV are the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce, Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, District 37 of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Education Association.

Legislative leaders from all those organizations will take part in morning workshops for the Legislative School.

Reservations are being accepted now for the Saturday workshop.

COST OF TICKETS, which includes a luncheon, is $1.50.

Reservations may be made by writing Mrs. Earl Burdsall, 1719 Woodview Drive, Prospect Heights, or calling 299-4832. (A

Seek Aid For Field Service

To raise money to bring a foreign exchange student to Arlington High School, adults interested in the American Field Service will sponsor a bridge card party in the school's cafeteria at 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 16.

Tickets at $1.50 per person are available from Miss Martha Craig, Mrs. Robert Schultheis or Mrs. John Lindstrom.

The Arlington Heights adult chapter of the American Field Service raised $800 at its card party last year. This money, along with that earned from the sale of International Cook books and American Field Service stationery, paid expenses of one exchange student. Michael Paelmo, from the Philippines, was brought to the school because of funds raised by the adults.

Another exchange student, Kathy Kouloudi from Greece, was brought to the school by funds raised by the student body. (A

Incumbent To Retire

Thompson Declines High School Race

By MARY SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

High School District 214 school board member T. Earl Thompson announced this week he will not seek re-election in April.

He told Paddock Publications that he wants to be able to give more time to job demands and his family.

THOMPSON IS one of three board members whose terms are up this spring.

The others are Board Pres. Hal Armstrong of Mount Prospect and Raymond Erickson of Arlington Heights.

Neither have so far said whether they will be candidates.

Erickson says he is considering running but has not made up his mind. Armstrong's response to press queries so far is to grin and say, "No comment."

Wednesday, Feb. 22, is the first date that candidates' petitions will be filed at the High School District 214 office in Slichenmyer Administration Center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

FILING PAPERS may be picked up there or from any elementary school main office or the Cook County superintendent of schools.

Persons wishing to run for the school board must file petitions bearing the signatures of 50 or more registered voters.

The last date for filing school board candidates' petitions is March 18.

Thompson was elected to the school board in 1964 and is currently serving as board secretary. When elected, he was a Mount Prospect resident but has since moved to Regent Park — within the boundaries of Arlington Heights though still in the Prospect High attendance area.

Armstrong, first president of the Forest View Boosters club and member of two lay citizens committees, also was elected to the school board in 1964 on a wave of heavy Mount Prospect votes. He, too, soon will move to a new home in Arlington Heights.

ERICKSON WAS appointed late in 1966 to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of William F. Griffith, whose short term would have run out anyway in April.

Board members said informally at the time that they wanted to give whomever they picked a boost toward running for a full term in April. (ACME

Hersey Plumbing To Cost More Than First Believed

Plumbing for the new Hersey High School is going to cost $39,000 more than the school board thought last month.

A bidding error, some legal scrambling, and three weeks of behind-doors negotiations preceded awarding of a higher plumbing contract Monday night.

Still to do the work is R. C. Caruso & Co., which submitted a low plumbing contract bid of $372,977 on Jan. 10.

CARUSO, which was awarded the plumbing contract for Hersey at that time, now will do the work for $411,977.

The company asked for renegotiations — or, if not, to be released from the contract work for Hersey — after finding an error in bidding figures had been made.

The company failed to include, the school district was told, $52,000 for piping installation needed at the school.

Francis Coleman, school district business manager told Paddock Publications that the additional $39,000 demanded by Caruso to do the job represents a compromise between the demands of the contractor and school officials.

Before renegotiating with Caruso, school officials first:

—Consulted their lawyer, who said recent cases had upheld the right of contractors to withdraw from bids if the mistake was a legitimate one, not faked.

—Tried to shift to the second low bidder, who told them a similar mistake was made and then begged off.

—Turned to the third low bidder, Krecji of Elk Grove. That firm's bid, however, was $442,000, still higher than Caruso or the second bidder, Bruno Francis, was willing to settle for.

—Considered readvertising for plumbing bids but decided against it on the ground, Coleman said, that public knowledge of Krecji's bid would bring clustering around that mark.

ALSO A FACTOR in deciding to hold with Caruso at the higher contract price, school officials said, was the need to get work done at Hersey High School as soon as possible.

Hersey must be ready to accept students in September, 1968, and the building time margin is considered thin.

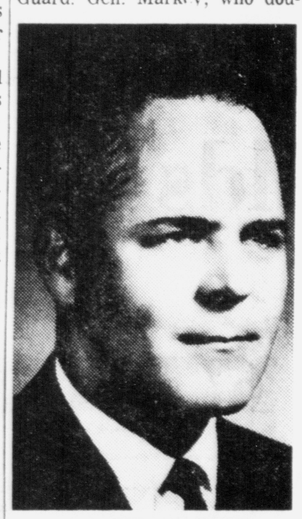
Rebidding, or running the risk of legal action against bond companies if Caruso was held to the lower bid and gave up the job because he was losing money, would bring more delay.

Boy Scout Leaders To Hear General

More than 300 Boy Scout leaders from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows will hold their annual meeting Sunday at Arlington High School.

Guest speaker for the event will be Maj. Gen. Howard T. Markey, commanding officer of the 126th Air Refueling Wing of the Illinois Air National Guard. Gen. Markey, who doubles as a Chicago patent attorney, was one of the earliest jet plane test pilots for the U. S. Air Force in World War II. He also served in the Korean War.

Holder of the Legion of Merit and 14 other decorations, Gen. Markey is a former national president of the Air Force Association and a life member of its board.



MAJ. GEN. MARKEY

SUNDAY'S MEETING will open at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner in the school's cafeteria. After dinner, the business meeting and program will be conducted in the Helene Bristol Theatre.

Election of district officers and a report on Scouting activities during the past year in the Sauk District will highlight the meeting which has been planned by Thomas F. Clauter, Mount Prospect, former scoutmaster of Troop 135.

MEMBERS OF Clauter's committee include Thomas E. Smith, in charge of ticket sales, assisted by Robert W. Link, Robert B. McAllister and Orland C. Zajicek, all of Arlington Heights; Hulan Wilkerson, Rolling Meadows, arrangements; and Philip J. Brice, Arlington Heights, menu and food service.

Clauter said tickets are still available and may be obtained by calling him at 259-4607.

LeRoy H. Stoehr, Arlington Heights, former council advancement chairman, will be master of ceremonies.

Dr. Frank A. Schroeder, Arlington Heights, is chairman of the Sauk Woods District, and Arthur W. Hassel, Arlington Heights, is its commissioner. Jack M. Starke, Palatine, is the district's professional executive. (A(K

Will Ethics Legislation Survive '67 Legislature?

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

In the 1965 session of the Illinois General Assembly there was a flurry of activity in behalf of legislation to establish a code of ethics for state legislators and state employes, and calling for disclosure of what lobbyists spend.

The legislation had strong support early in the session two years ago but it gradually and quietly seemed to be dying.

Then Chicago's American printed verbatim accounts of what was reported to be conversation between three lobbyists in a Springfield hotel, telling how they spent $30,000 to kill a bill.

When the American story hit the streets, ethics legislation and proposals to control lobbyists experienced a quick revival —but again before the spirit of reform could triumph, time passed, the public became less concerned, and the measures died.

IN THIS session, the first three measures introduced were similar measures, though stronger and better than most legislation from the last session. Chief sponsor of the measures is the powerful president pro tem of the Senate, Russell Arrington of Evanston. He announced that these would be the first measures considered in the new session of the legislature.

But January is gone—and there has been no action.

In the meantime three commissions have been working in this field, and hopefully will come forward to make a substantial report by the end of March.

But there is the growing fear on the part of some of us that as time moves along and as the legislature gets bogged down in its billion-dollar problems, that once again substantial improvement in the laws of the state, to provide a board of ethics and to control lobbyists, may experience a quiet death.

Both the Republican and Democratic leadership is on record as favoring enactment of laws along this line in the current session.

But if a conflict should develop among the various proposals, and as other matters dominate the thinking of legislators swamped with other items, there is some danger that the 1965 session of talk and no action may be repeated.

"WE MUST improve the image of the legislature," is often the cry.

Senator Robert Coulson, Republican of Lake County, has more accurately said: "Let's improve the substance and the image will take care of itself."

In a state with a long history of scandal in government, the current session hopefully can do something constructive to improve the picture—and make citizens a little more proud of our state government. (A15

Post Offices Define Customers' Rights

Though there may have been cause for doubt during the recent Christmas rush, post office customers do have rights.

This is made evident by posters displayed prominently in all local post offices on order of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Entitled "Postal Customer's Bill of Rights," they list the services and courtesies the public may now expect as its due as the result of President Johnson's avowed intent to improve the quality of federal services.

THE POSTERS tell customers they are entitled to neat, clean counters; service by well-groomed employees; a friendly greeting; knowledgeable, well-informed, interested window personnel; and prompt, alert and efficient service. They can also expect correct information on inquiries; a helpful attitude; courtesy and tact; polite referral to another window or individual when necessary; and the feeling when leaving that the post office is glad to serve and help at all times.

Area postmasters report that, in addition to improving public relations, the "Customer's Bill of Rights" can expedite handling of transactions at the windows and make service more efficient.

On their part, residents can assist by stating their needs clearly, having money and any necessary forms ready and by being as brief and business-like as possible. (A15

Palatine Council Not a Kid's Game

(In a continuation of our student council series, High School Highlights this week features the student council of Palatine High School.)

by CHRISTI EBERT

"The name of this organization shall be The Student Council of Palatine High School, Palatine, Illinois."

So begins the constitution for this representative body. This council, like most others, has one main purpose, to serve the school, the faculty, the students, and even the village.

Palatine Council has an unusual situation. Not having freshmen at its building this year, sophomores are the only underclassman representation.

But even teamed up with the juniors, the sophomore vote couldn't overrule the seniors, who have 27 representatives to the combined 22 of the other classes. This can be a decided advantage, considering the senior viewpoint. Being the oldest and therefore, traditionally, the wisest, the seniors can handle the school to their own best judgment.

Few underclassmen can complain about this situation because with the senior rule comes the senior privileges.

Open campus is the best example of this. Students are allowed to leave the building for lunch, with few restrictions.

The influx of freshmen next year will change all this, regulations will be tightened, and the three, or possibly two younger classes will have the majority vote.

HAVING A majority of more experienced students creates an atmosphere of efficiency and respect at all student council meetings and activities. Most of the general assembly meetings are conducted in the last hour of school. Each member gets a short outline of the planned proceedings and business. At the close of the meeting the minutes are mimeographed by the secretary, Barbara Arras, and each member obtains a copy of the proceedings.

Homeroom, the representatives' main contact with other students in their actual role as "reps," is usually held the Wednesday following the general assembly. Council members who have homerooms, which excludes the officers, each receive another, more detailed outline for use in addressing their homerooms.

Every Thursday after school, the executive board meets. Here plans are made for the next general assembly, suggestions are considered, and problems discussed. President Bob Hoffman leads these discussions.

When Bob is absent Doug Spruance, vice president, takes over. The treasury and money problems are handled by the second vice president, Jim Ebert. Jim also oversees the informal dances and usually hires the combos.

IN ADDITION to the secretary, each class has two general representatives who attend executive meetings to speak for the other members of their classes.

Palatine Student Council has six standing committees. The social committee is headed by Debbie Belt and Sue Peterson. Mark Powell is in charge of constitution and elections, Anne Chalfant heads service, Jan O'Leary and Kathy McIntosh head publicity, Beata Abbs directs student relations, and Art Zajonc heads safety. All the committee heads and officers are seniors except for Jim Ebert, the second vice president, who is a junior.

Because of complications, an additional committee was formed this year, headed by Rita DeMarco. The Foreign Exchange committee is open to all students for the purpose of supporting the American Field Service and International Fellowship exchange programs in which the school participates.

A foreign exchange day is planned for Feb. 17 at which time students from nearby schools on exchange programs can visit and attend students classes for a day, meeting students and addressing a school assembly. A coke dance in the evening will help raise funds for the exchange program. (16Y

TITANIA (Janet Buerger of Wheeling) is enamored of Bottom (Wasil Pahuchy of Arlington Heights) as one of her fairies watches their actions. The scene is from Wheeling High School's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Winter Play Reset At Wheeling High

Wheeling High School's winter play, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," has been rescheduled and will be presented Friday and Saturday, Feb. 10 and 11, at 7:45 p.m. in the Little Theater.

"Midsummer Night's Dream" is a comedy by William Shakespeare. It will be presented as it was in Elizabethan times, with the Little Theater stage decorated and somewhat altered to look like Shakespeare's original Globe Theater.

The play takes place by moonlight in a forest near Athens. Hermia and Lysander, a pair of Athenian lovers, are running away to be married against the will of Hermia's father, Demetrius, who also loves Hermia and follows them. Demetrius is followed by Helena, who is trying to win his love from Hermia.

IN ANOTHER part of the forest, Oberon, king of the elves, and Titania, queen of the fairies, meet and quarrel. Titania leaves and Oberon, still angry, decides to play a trick on her. He follows Titania and drops a potion on her eyelids that will make her fall in love with the first thing she sees. Overhearing Helena and Demetrius quarrelling, Oberon orders his mischievous servant Puck to do the same to Demetrius.

Unfortunately, Puck mistakes Lysander for Demetrius and confusion ensues. On his way back to Oberon, Puck plays a trick on one of a company of amateur actors who are rehearsing in the forest. The actor then runs into Titania, who immediately falls in love with him.

Oberon, furious, thinks that Puck did everything on purpose to cause trouble, and orders him to set things right. Puck obeys, and the confusion comes to a happy ending.

Oberon, king of the elves, will be played by David Spung of Buffalo Grove. Janet Buerger of Wheeling will be Titania, and Puck will be played by Kathy Foran of Prospect Heights.

Margo Franklin of Wheeling will play the part of Hermia, Jeff Sorenson of Prospect Heights will be Demetrius.

Bill Cason of Wheeling will play Lysander, and Marcia Taugner of Mount Prospect will be Helena. The part of Theseua, governor of Athens, will be played by Jim Kellogg of Prospect Heights, and Laura Nelson of Mount Prospect will be Hippolyta, his bride.

The company of actors will be played by Wasil Pahuchy of Arlington Heights, Ken Ball of Arlington Heights, Tom Tamillo of Mount Prospect and Rick Jackson of Mount Prospect.

Music by Mendelssohn and actual Elizabethan tunes will be included in the play.

Tickets are 75 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Homemaker Search Cites 3 Seniors

Three District 214 senior girls have been announced as having scored highest in their respective high schools in the 1967 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow test given nationwide Dec. 6.

They are Ann Robbins of Prospect High School, Joy Hermansen of Forest View High School and Barbara Broscovak of Arlington High School.

For achieving top marks in the 13th annual written knowledge and attitude examination dealing with homemaking, the local winners will be awarded a special Betty Crocker silver charm and will remain eligible for scholarships ranging from $500 to $5,000. Registering for the 1967 test were 581,334 girls in 14,753 high schools.

In the program's next step, a state homemaker of tomorrow will be selected from the high school winners of the state. She will receive a $1,500 scholarship, and her school will be awarded a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica. The runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

FOLLOWING HER selection, the state homemaker of tomorrow, together with a school advisor, will join winners and advisors from each of the 49 other states and the District of Columbia in an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Climax of the trip will be the naming of the 1967 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Chosen from the state winners on the basis of her original test score, plus personal observation and interviews during the tour, she will receive a scholarship increased to $5,000. Grants of second-, third- and fourth-ranking homemakers of tomorrow in the nation will be raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

All judging is conducted by Science Research Associates, Chicago. This educational testing and publishing firm also constructs and grades the written test. (16Y

Conant's 'Brigadoon' Sets Four-Night Stand

This year's Conant High School musical, presented by the members of the music department, will be filled with novelty. Lerner and Loewe's prize winning "Brigadoon" is scheduled for a four-evening stand May 5 and 6 and May 12 and 13.

The decision for the four performances was made because of hearty response for lead roles during tryouts. More than 40 people were auditioned for these roles. The four evenings will be split between a double cast of leads according to Dyanna Wicklund, student director of the production.

Unlike last year's first musical production—a takeoff on the music dance and drama of "West Side Story," "Brigadoon" will be presented in its entirety as it was originally produced for Broadway.

This is the story of a lost city filled with the naivete of fantasy as it comes to life in the deep woods of Scotland every hundred years. A mysterious agreement reached when Scotland was plagued with witches and sorcerers brings the city out of sleep for 24 hours every hundred years. In this way the city escapes the evil and is untouched by the conventional pitfalls of a modern society.

THE STARRING characters are American hunters, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas. Tommy, played by Frank Getz and Brian Bethke, is the 30-year-old romantic lead. His home is New York and his background one of society.

His side kick, Jeff, is 35, good natured and is responsible primarily for the comical lines of the partnership. Teamed as Getz's side kick is Marshall Hjertstedt with Frank Demore as Jeff filling the team with Bethke.

In choosing "Brigadoon," the student directors, Dy Wicklund, chairman, with Maureen Lux and Ray Zabulski, assistants, and Faculty Advisor John Van Hook, felt that this is a musical where the music and drama are equally balanced.

The beauty and sincerity of the script coupled with such popular songs as "Heather on the Hill," "There, But For You, Go I," "Almost Like Being in Love," and "Come to Me, Bend to Me" are bound to make an audience pleaser.

Another decision affecting the choice was the desire to again present a musical with interesting, challenging, and important chorus parts. The Chorus in "Brigadoon" serves a complete musical role as well as one in script development and unique staging.

Senior Maureen Lux will be responsible for the following cast of leads: Kathy Clifford, Frank Getz, Marshall Hjertstedt, Cheri Marek, Sharron McJunkins, Sam Culpepper, and Doug Griffin.

Assisting the over-all student director, Dy Wicklund, with the other cast will be Ray Zabielski. His cast includes Kathy Molbeck, Brian Bethke, Frank DeMore, Steph Simone, Ruth Nicholson and Earnie Sanders.

Characters not previously announced who will be performed four nights under one cast are Archie Beaton — Jeff Larson; Angus MacGuffie — Mike Romaniw; Sandy Dean — Dave Bond; Andrew MacLaren — Randy Lynch; Maggie Anderson — Michele Dean;

Stuart Dalrymple — Dave O'Neal; MacGregor — Pete Fleming; Frank — Paul Cornett and Jane Ashton — Connie Rosenkrantz.

The chorus, consisting of the Townsfolk of Brigadoon, are members of the Concert Choir and other students who expressed an interest in the production. The chorus will also provide the dancing which will be under the leadership of Cheri Marek, assisted by Sam Culpepper. (16Y

Wheeling Speakers Prime for District

Eight Wheeling High School students are preparing for the district level of the Illinois High School Association State Individual Speech Events Tournament Saturday, Feb. 11, at Waukegan.

Representing Wheeling in the various events will be Karen King of Prospect Heights, prose and verse reading; Bob Anderson of Prospect Heights, after-dinner speaking and original monologue; Karen Kiffel of Wheeling, oratorical declamation; Linda Geething of Mount Prospect, comedy reading; Harriet Brown of Wheeling, serious reading; Jim Kellogg of Prospect Heights, original oration; Bill Reed of Prospect Heights, extemporaneous speaking; and John Freechack of Prospect Heights, radio speaking.

This district meet will be the first of three levels. If a speaker rates a first, second, or third, he then qualifies for the sectional meet. This tournament is slated for Feb. 25 at Forest View.

A FIRST or a second at the sectional meet will qualify students for the state finals. This tournament will be held at Illinois Normal University March 31 and April 1.

Last year, out of 18 schools competing at the district level, Wheeling placed third. Assisting Richard Panagos in coaching the speech team is Christine McMillian. Both have favorable opinions concerning the coming meet. Commented Panagos, "With a 100 per cent team effort, we have a good chance of winning." (16Y

SUNDAY'S SERMON

TROUBLE

"Trouble comes in bunches—like bananas."

This remark was made by a man who had his share of "trouble". Things went wrong with the home appliances; his wife became ill and was hospitalized; he was forced to try to run a business and at the same time look after seven young children. One of the children broke a leg. Two of them turned up with the measles.

Trouble is something most of us never think about—until we meet it face-to-face. Then, it may seem that we have a lot of luck — all of it bad.

We can meet troubles more effectively if we refuse to let troubles get the best of us. We can realize that things have to get better. We know they will, if we have faith.

Turn to God in your hour of need. Pray for strength and faith. There is nothing permanent about problems and troubles. Things become right much sooner if we pray and work, rather than despair.

FOREST VIEW HIGH SCHOOL
Play Is Tonight

Tonight (Thursday) more than 250 members of High School District 214's Gold Card Club will attend a special performance of the winter play "Our Town," a performance which was postponed from last week because of inclement weather.

The performance will begin at 7 p.m. in the school theater. Refreshments will be served afterward. Also invited are faculty members and members of the board of education.

The Gold Card Club is comprised of residents 65 years of age or older who live in the school district. They receive complimentary passes to all public performances and athletic events at the five District 214 high schools.

Public performance of the play was Saturday. The next play, now being cast, is "Mr. Roberts," according to Harold Petersen, director. The play will be presented March 9-11 at 8 p.m. in the school theater.

TPC Next Week

Forest View High School's Teachers-Parent Council will conduct a dinner meeting and classroom conferences Thursday, Feb. 16 at the school.

This will be an "opportunity for parents to enjoy a typical school meal and afterward talk with teachers regarding classwork and procedures, "according to L. S. Jenness, principal.

The meal will be served to those arriving between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m., with a choice of four entrees. Cost of the meal is $1.25 per person. Reservations must be made by today (Thursday) and service is limited to the first 500.

Reservations can be made by calling 437-4600. Tickets will be paid for the night of the dinner.

Family Needed

A family in the Forest View High School attendance area with a big heart and an open mind is being sought by the school's Student Council to share their home with an AFS student next year, according to Burton Showers, director of student activities.

Other qualifications for the AFS home are that the family must unanimously favor the plan, must be able to take the necessary financial burden of another member of the family, and must provide a separate bed for the student in a room with another comparable teenager.

It is also suggested that the mother does not work nor take on too many outside activities. No restrictions are placed on the religion of the family.

Those families interested may contact Showers at Forest View High School.

WHEELING HIGH SCHOOL
Graduation Plans

Cap-and-gown measurements for Wheeling High School's second graduation ceremony will be taken today (Thursday), during lunch hours and homerooms.

A rental fee of $3.50 will be required at the time of the measurements. Fifty cents of the fee will be returned to the student if he does not wish to keep the tassel.

The gowns are continental blue with gold collars for the girls. They were chosen in November of 1965 by a committee of counselors and administrators with the help of several members of the class of '66. The caps and gowns are from the Collegiate Cap and Gown Co. of Chicago.

Plans for graduation have already begun. Those on the committee are Principal Thomas Shirley, assistant principals Roland Goins and Frank Bohac and teachers Valmer Erickson, Marilyn Bishop, Dorothy Smith, Marjorie Galloway, Doug Larsen and Charles Jenks.

Seniors will be expected to wear their caps and gowns in the Senior Assembly on Monday, June 12; the Baccalaureate Service will be held at W.H.S. on Sunday, June 11 and the graduation ceremony on Wednesday, June 14. The caps and gowns can be picked up Friday, June 9, after graduation practice.

RADIO COURSE

A course leading to a radio amateurs' license began Jan. 14 at Wheeling High School under the direction of John Griffith. The hours are from 9-11 a.m. every Saturday in the laboratory, room 187.

Included in the course are teaching in electronical theory and the international Morse code. The students should be able to pass the test for the radio license after six weeks, according to Griffith.

"A course like this is required in order to receive and transmit in the 20 or 40 waveband," Griffith explained. With special radio equipment, the students will learn how to contact other radio amateurs all over the world.

"BOTH BOYS and girls can take the course, but so far we have had only boys," added Griffith. He also said that some of the boys are about to begin building their own radio equipment.

The course is not a new experience for Griffith. He has been a leader of similar courses at Arlington, Prospect and Forest View.

HONOR PIN ASSEMBLY

The four and seven semester honor pins will be distributed at the annual Honor Pin Assembly at Wheeling High School on Wednesday, Feb. 15.

The silver four-semester pin is awarded to those students who have maintained a 4.0 average and been on either honor roll for four consecutive semesters.

STUDENTS earning a gold seven-semester pin must have a 4.0 average and been on the honor roll for seven consecutive semesters.

Principal Thomas Shirley and assistant principals Roland Goins and Frank Bohac will participate in the assembly.

PROM PLANS

The main project of the Wheeling High School junior class this year will be the Junior-Senior Prom.

Class activities for the year have been outlined by Thad Mikols of 2320 N. Lafayette, Arington Heights, junior class president.

"The organization of the prom is our main project," Thad said. "I also encourage all juniors to work for a competitive spirit in any future projects between the clases," he continued.

LAST SEMESTER, the junior class sold concessions for the Prospect and Arlington football games. They also participated in the all-school carnival with a computer booth that won second place.

Other officers of the junior class are Regina Naples of 611 E. Valley Lane, Arlington Heights, vice-president; Barb Joynt, of 1418 Small Lane, Mount Prospect, secretary; and Rich Abrams of 662 Cindy Lane, Wheeling, treasurer.

BIOLOGY CLUB ACTIVE

The Wheeling High School Biology Club is planning a field trip to the Chicago Field Museum for Feb. 18.

Each participant will receive a list of questions prepared by club sponsor Miss Jo Anne Bibergall, and it is his goal to answer all the questions while touring and examining the displays. The first one to complete the whole list correctly wins, as a prize, a book donated by Miss Bibergall.

Meanwhile, Biology Club members are still active in the "Saturday-research" program. Some of their projects are being financed by the Biology Club.

CLOSED CIRCUIT TV

Closed-circuit television will operate in Wheeling High School during the second semester.

"Over 50 classrooms are wired for reception and the televisions can receive either professional stations from the Chicagoland area or from Wheeling's own studio," commented Miss Georgiana Luecker, television advisor.

The closed-circuit televisions will broadcast a wide variety of programs, ranging from educational speeches to repertoire theatre. These programs will be video-taped.

ROOMS 129 AND 127 will have a section of the wall removed. The room contains a control console, television cameras, video-tape recorders, and the television receivers. The audio-visual department is training those interested in working with the television equipment.

Wheeling's faculty will preview the closed-circuit televisions at a meeting on Feb. 8, and make final suggestions concerning the program.

TESTING PROGRAM

A representative from the Illinois State Employment Service will be at Wheeling High School on Monday, Feb. 6, to outline its testing and counseling program for the year.

The program is offered to all seniors who are unsure of what kind of career they would like to follow. It is primarily for students seeking full-time employment after high school.

Because all seniors wishing to take advantage of the program may not really need to, students will be screened this year. As a result, a drop in number from last year's 50 to 60 students to only 20 to 30 students is expected this year.

ST. VIATOR HIGH SCHOOL
Postponed Musical

Because of the recent surge of bad weather, St. Viator High School has postponed the Feb. 3, 4, and 5 performances of "Annie Get Your Gun" to February 17, 18, and 19. All tickets for the original dates are effective for these latter dates.

The performances scheduled for Feb. 10, 11, and 12 will be held as planned.

"Annie Get Your Gun" is the first Broadway musical put on by St. Viator, and is done in cooperation with Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

All performances will take place in the auditorium of St. Viator High School. Curtain time is 8 p.m. All ticket orders should be placed by phone.

ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL
New Play Dates

Arlington High School's winter play "Light Up the Sky" has been rescheduled for tonight (Thursday), Friday, and Saturday.

The play will begin at 7:30 p.m. tonight and 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Tickets can be purchased from members of the cast or at the door.

Wins Festival Championship

The Wheeling High School dance band won the grand championship first place trophy in the eighth annual Chicagoland Stage Band Festival at Oak Lawn last Saturday, Feb. 4.

Considered to be the largest one-day stage band festival in the United States, the competition drew entrants from 54 high schools, representing Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. Wheeling competed in Class AA which included 25 schools of over 1,500 enrollment.

The Wheeling band received a superior rating during the day's competition and was named one of the six finalists for the evening's playoff. Other finalists were East Leyden, Ridgewood, Libertyville, Earlville, and Notre Dame of Niles, the defending champion which had won the festival for seven consecutive years. All had received superior ratings earlier in the day.

TWO MEMBERS of the Wheeling band were named to the all-star stage band. They are Dick Brancato of 1128 N. Phelps, Arlington Heights, who pays the alto saxophone, and Larry Cuttone of 1107 N. Oak Ave., Prospect Heights, who plays the tenor saxophone.

The three selections played by the band for competition were "Hobo Flats" by Oliver Nelson, and "Dreamsville" and "Charade" by Henry Mancini. All three numbers were arranged especially for the Wheeling band by John Higgins of the University of Michigan.

Dean R. DePoy and Douglas E. Peterson are the directors of the band which is composed of boys from the symphony band. It is considered an extra-curricular function which meets two evenings a week at school.

All bandsmen received lapel pins inscribed with "best of class" in addition to the championship silver bowl which was presented to DePoy.

"We've been working three years for this," said DePoy, beaming. "And it certainly is great to win the championship!"

WHS students will have an opportunity to hear the stage band champs at an all-school assembly on Feb. 28. The group also will be featured at the annual winter concert on March 3.

Next competition for the stage band will take place on April 22 at the Spring Festival of Jazz at Mundelein. (16Y

Anniversary Party Set

Past and present members of the U. S. Women's Marine Corps are invited to the group's 24th anniversary party Feb. 18 in Chicago.

The annual dinner will start at 6 p.m. at Jimmy Wong's Restaurant, 426 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago. Cost is $4.50 per person.

Speaker will be Lt. Col. Michael Palatas, in charge of the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Chicago.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Marge Hancock at 259-5690 in Mount Prospect, or Helen Campbell at 422-1775, Oak Lawn. (A-15

Forest View High 'Shack' Houses Ham Radio Station

By MEREDYTH BUCKHOLZ

Forest View High School now has a fully licensed ham radio station in operation in a newly constructed "shack" in the school.

The members of the Radio Electronics Club are busy building their "shack" an enclosed room used for the club equipment. The shack is located in the corner of the electronics laboratory in the industrial education section of the building.

The shack was started in December last year but senior Ed Ellesson, club president, stated that he doubts it will be finished this year.

Radio Electronics Club officers are President Ed Ellesson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ellesson of 1204 Birch Drive in Mount Prospect; First Vice President Mike Kondrat, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kondrat of 126 Robert Drive in Mount Prospect; Second Vice President Dennis Koppo, son of Mrs. Betty Koppo of 1213 Robert Drive in Mount Prospect; and Secretary Dan Semple, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Semple of 2106 Sigwalt in Rolling Meadows.

PETER TITRE is in charge of the club, and the sponsor and station trustee is David Vanderweel.

There are many reasons why boys are interested in ham radios. For some, it's the operation and pleasure of experimenting with the developments in electronics and related modern equipment. Others get enjoyment out of communication with other ham radio operations in various corners of the world.

Hams have been helpful in many emergency situations and were the first to complete a two-way contact across the ocean.

Although the radio station at Forest View has not contacted individuals in many countries as yet, they have made many contacts with England and Canada.

Most of the licensed amateurs at Forest View have radios of their own at home but for those who don't and for those who are just learning, the school station can be used.

THE PURPOSE of the school station is to foster interest in ham radios and to get new members.

Awards are given to those who can get a DXCC (contacting 100 countries or more) and an All-States award (contacting the states of the United States).

To acquire a license in ham operating, you are required to take a Federal Communications Commission test which covers radio theories and also a code test.

Forest View's hams meet each Tuesday after school instructing beginners and practicing code. Every Friday there is a formal meeting for everyone. (16Y

Show to Draw 100,000 a Day to Randhurst

Fifth Annual Show Starting on Friday

by MARTHA KOPER
Staff Writer

Randhurst Center is presenting its fifth annual auto show this week beginning Friday (tomorrow), lasting until Feb. 19.

It will be held, again this year, in the mall directly under the dome area.

Ten area dealers representing all the major makes of cars will be included in the display at Randhurst. All the autos are staffed with people provided by these dealers to answer any questions the viewers might have.

Topping the list of special attractions are the newly created designs in car paint. This concept, Autoart, suggests a possible new trend in automobiles. Such paint jobs vary from a bright floral design to stripes or plaids. Nine differently designed cars will be displayed at the show.

In addition to the various 1967 models, expeimental cars and cars for the future will be shown. One auto manufacturer has submitted a car that's missing a steering wheel, controlled only by a pair of handles located in front of the driver's seat. There will be several cutaway sections of motors demonstrating how they function also.

THE EXHIBIT was originally planned for early March so that it would follow a similar show scheduled for McCormick Place. Since that show has been canceled, the Chicagoland dealers are willing to allow the new designs and models to be shown here at an earlier date.

During an average 10-day period, Randhurst Center enjoys a crowd of 200,000 people. It's expected that the traffic will increase to more than 300,000 people while the Auto Show is there.

Shopping hours for the stores will be the same for the Auto Show: weekdays, from 9:30 to 9:30, Saturday, from 9:30 to 5:30, and Sundays, from 12 to 5.

'Autoart' Paint Jobs Part of Center Show

Floral or checked designed cars may soon be brightening our streets and highways.

These are only two of the new ways to paint a car created by noted Chicago artist Tom Strobel and displayed at the Randhurst Auto Show. The idea was conceived by Chrysler-Plymouth dealer Mel Wolff, who commissioned Strobel to come up with some new, sturdy and safe designs for automobile painting.

STROBEL produced five creations titled Autoart. Using a 1967 Plymouth Sport Fury convertible he designed a brilliant floral pattern of yellow, green, orange, pink and blue. Another Sport Fury is painted in a black and white houndstooth check. For the more conservative customers, a black and burgundy floral painted Chrysler Newport is offered.

Included in the Autoart designs are two op art creations. A bright red and blue check design decorates a 1967 Plymouth Belvedere GTX, and a kinetic black and white pattern covers a Chrysler 300.

The dealer didn't end his idea with the artistic automoibles, but selected New York designer Arthur McGee, to design an Autoart fashion collection. Each of these automobiles will be accompanied by a model wearing apparel specially created to go with the car.

BOTH THE AUTOS and the fashions are exhibited at Randhurst's Auto Show beginning Feb. 10.

Of course, Wolff has hopes that his idea will soon catch on with the American public. The cost of the unusual paint job is approximately $500 more than the price of the car. He has set up a consulting office in his dealership where a customer may receive advice on the type of paint job that best suits his needs and personality. Autoart is labeled as the newest way to express individualism.

Artist Tom Strobel, explains, "What could be a more meaningful comment on American life today that art in the automobile?" (CR

Contest On, Despite Weather

by KATHY SIMONS

The forensic contest, sponsored by the Chicago Catholic Forensic League and held Feb. 4 at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, was a great success for all involved. Participating in the contest were 14 Catholic high schools from Chicago and the surrounding area.

Contestants from SHM were sophomores Jennifer Gresey and Marilyn Rossi in poetry reading; Cathy Gallagher and Modanna McMahon in prose reading; Mary Alonge and Pat Paynter, non-original speaking; Peggy Moran and Mary Pat Sweeney, original oratory; and Debby Threedy and Colleen Roe in extemporaneous speaking.

Sacred Heart of Mary placed five contestants in the finals: Marilyn Rossi, Madonna McMahon, Pat Paynter and Peggy Moran. Out of these, Peggy received a second place trophy in original oratory.

First-place winner was Loyola Academy, with 73 points; second place, Regina Dominican with 70 points; and Sacred Heart of Mary, third with 66 points.

A Column Devoted Exclusively to Your Spare-Time Activities

—Maryann Buczek, editor

Now that exams are a thing of the past (till June), let us welcome you back to the land of the living. And guess where most of the liveliest people in town are . . . the clubs, of course!

Sorry, but this week we have no listing for the Teen Clubs, Inc. activities. We'll print it when we can.

Two new additions to our listing, which will be included regularly, are The Hut in Des Plaines, and the Deep End in Park Ridge. Both clubs are owned by V. Giovannini of Prospect Heights.

Friday at The Hut, you can see The Sons of Adam, and Saturday, The Serenes and The Loners will play. At the Deep End on Friday, The King's Court will perform; Saturday will bring The Malibus, and Sunday will feature three groups: The Reasons Why, The Reefers and The Relics.

AT ARLINGTON Heights' Cellar this week, you can enjoy the fabulous Mauds on Friday, and the recent addition to the Cellar's family, The Shady Daze on Saturday. The Cellar is still temporarily closed on Sundays.

At the risk of straying off the subject, here are some interesting sidelights of last week's Chicagoland entertainment. The Shadows of Knight and Saturday's Children played to tremendous crowds at The Cheetah in Chicago.

Discover Chicago

More than 30 portraits of President Johnson line the walls of the Richard Grey Galaries in Chicago this week.

Some three-score Chicago artists were invited to send their representation of the Chief Executive to the showing. All complied.

The paintings ranged from caricatures of the President and Lady Bird to serious studies. Each idea was individually original, and some uproariously funny.

And the White House opinion of the exhibit? An invitation to attend was extended to the President. His reply consisted of best wishes—and regrets.

If you are interested in a more serious art show, Rosary College in River Forest will display part of a collection of fine prints in their art gallery through February 28.

THE ARTISTS represented include Kohn, Chagall, Frasconi, Roualt, and others. The collection is owned by John J. Hansen of Chicago and can be viewed daily 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. There is no admission fee.

Still another exhibit in another media is to be held at the Field Museum of Natural History. Prize work in nature photography will be on display through February. The museum and the Chicago Nature Camera Club are sponsoring the showing.

A Discovery!

It may seem a bit inefficient to review an "old" record, but The Associations' release, "And Then . . . Along Comes The Association," is a little different story.

On the Valiant label, this album is just being discovered by a large number of record enthusiasts. True, the group's popularity actually began with their hit "Along Comes Mary," but the real debut of their talents was with the more recent smash, "Cherish," which topped some of the nation's charts for more than five months.

Now with their pinnacle popularity, The Association is being noticed. This is a good album for discovering the sound and personality of the group.

Their two singles, "Cherish" and " . . . Mary" are included, as are "Don't Blame It On Me," and "Your Own Love," the flip sides.

THE REST OF the cuts range from soft and low sounds like "Standin' Still" to solid and rocking sounds like "Blistered" and "Changes."

Eight of the 12 songs are written by members of the group, and their unique and versatile personalities are evident throughout the 31 minutes of listening pleasure.

According to Teen Magazine's entertainment editor, " . . .they can play bluer blues than the Rolling Stones, harder rock than the Raiders, and put more folk into their folk music than the Kingston Trio."

CONANT HIGH SCHOOL

"Brigadoon" Addition

Conant's production of "Brigadoon," which will take place in May, will include, besides the main characters of each cast, the members of the concert choir.

The choir will begin the play with the "Prologue" and will sing throughout the program. Some of the numbers will include "Brigadoon" and "MacConachy Square." The program will close with a reprise of "Brigadoon" which will be heard faintly in the background.

Choir members will begin work soon on not only music but costumes, technical aspects and staging.

Ugly Man Contest

Who will be voted the Ugly Man of Conant High School?

Five cents will be charged for Conant students to vote for the ugly man. The Ugly Man Contest is one of the activities planned for Foreign Exchange Week, Feb. 6-10.

FES is twofold in plan — to promote interest in and knowledge of the foreign exchange program and to finance the trip of one Conant student this summer to South America.

Feb. 6, Conant will take on a new look as the students who purchase a 25-cent ticket for Sweatshirt Day will wear sweatshirts to school. Feb. 7 voting for the Ugly Man Contest will start. He will be crowned Feb. 18, at the Turnabout Dance by Rosa Sanchez, Conant exchange student from Lima, Peru.

So, in the midst of fun activities like Sweatshirt Day and the Ugly Man contest, a more important idea emerges. To whom will the money for the South American trip go? This still remains a mystery!

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY

Bonnie Lloyd, who last summer traveled to Argentina as Conant's exchange student, will speak of her visit at a special assembly on February 10.

Bonnie will return to Conant from Oklahoma City, where she now lives. In mid-August, while Bonnie was still in South America, her father was transferred to the Oklahoma captial. The Lloyd family moved before Bonnie returned.

While in Argentina, Bonnie lived with the J. C. Gabasio family of Santa Fe. Her official sister was Stella, elder daughter of the Gabasios.

Her trip was an exciting one which offered many unique experiences. Among the "memories" which Bonnie will relate to Conant are such things as being introduced to Santa Fe society at a debutante ball with her sister Stella, and being proposed to by an Argentinian who spent four years in America.

Bonnie's return to Conant will be during F.E.S. week. Her talk concerning views and opinions she retains from her trip will climax the week which is an effort to foster enthusiasm for the exchange program.

PALATINE HIGH SCHOOL

Ski Trips

Two ski trips are planned by Palatine's new ski club. Tomorrow the buses will leave the school at 4:30 p.m. to drive the skiers to Wilmot.

Tuesday all skiers are invited for a trip to Four Lakes Ski Resort from 4:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. Tow tickets, a lesson, and equipment will cost $4.50. Sixty cents more will be charged for bus transportation.

This money and a permission slip are due tomorrow. Skiers who provide their own equipment need pay only a $3 tow fee, plus bus money.

Basic rules of the hills and procedures such as lacing boots and working ski bindings were introduced at the last meeting. Palatine's club will cooperate with Fremd's new club on all ski trips.

Athlete Honored

Palatine Lettermen's Club has named Paul Dolik as January athlete of the month.

Paul, a senior, was chosen for this honor once before. He is the heavyweight on the varsity wrestling team and has been one of the outstanding wrestlers this year, having compiled a 13-1 record. Paul won the Palatine Quadrangular and secured important victories against Glenbrook South, Fremd, Conant and Maine.

Last year, wrestling at 180, Paul placed third in the district tournament. He has also been on the varsity football team for the last three years.

Medical Careers

Palatine Medical Careers Club held a meeting today at which mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was demonstrated. A dummy woman, obtained from the Palatine Fire Department, was the club's victim.

At the last meeting, June Harrison and Lynn Leimbach described the medical programs, costs and tuitions of the colleges with which they are familiar.

June discussed the financial aid and the tuition of DePaul University in Chicago. Lynn gave a description of St. Luke's Presbyterian College and Wesleyan Memorial College.

Each member of the club was given a paperback, "Horizons Unlimited," as a gift from the American Medical Association. The book describes different medical fields.

A pamphlet entitled "Nursing Education Programs Today" was also issued. It discusses the $300 scholarship awarded to an eligible senior girl who wishes to become a nurse.

Interesting Reading

Robert Wilder's "Fruit of the Poppy" is a fast-paced story of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and its work.

The main plot line deals with undercover agents working to penetrate the closely guarded "poppy belt" of Mexican mountain communities.

Complete with gangsters of the Al Capone variety, murders and secret agents, this novel is intriguing and original.

Although quite a few of the ideas have been hashed over before, Wilder adds just the right twist to flavor his plot—building blocks with fresh and unusual angles.

"Fruit of the Poppy" is classified as fiction but the basis of the story contains too much realism and accuracy to be pinned down to a writer's imagination.

Wilder, who also penned "Wind From the Carolinas" lived in Mexico for five years. He spoke personally to officials and agents connected with his subject.

"Fruit of the Poppy" is fiction and can be enjoyed as a novel. But in the author's words, "I have avoided the mock heroics of the agents so common in fiction with running gun battles and tough, iron-fisted G-men. What I hope has been accomplished is a story of a "silent service" on both sides of the border interwoven with the elements of a novel."

A Love Story

"Lisa and David" by Theodore Isaac Rubin (Ballentine Paperback, 1962) is a tragic story of two young people and love, with an unusual angle.

Written by a psychiatrist, "Lisa and David" handles the compassionate story of disturbed children in a readable and captivating style. While poignantly sad, the story is beautiful and carries an outstanding note of hope.

Lisa is torn between two entities buried within her subconscious mind: Muriel—her paranoid personality; and Lisa—terrified of the world and involved in a desperate attempt to escape her mind cage.

This book is an accurate and victorious portrayal of their arduous journey back to health.

While it cannot be considered a new book, Rubin's "Lisa and David" still merits attention. The subject is as current as ever and the treatment is tasteful, alive and moving.

The New York Times said, "Rubin's short and poignant book is a novel . . . Despite its bizarre background, this book has the pattern of a classic love story, told with true beauty and tenderness."

If you are a movie goer this week, these recommendations might prove helpful.

At the Mount Prospect Cinema this week is a movie that, from all indications, is hysterically funny. It's a Disney production called "Monkeys Go Home." Before all the teeny boopers get excited, let it go on record that it is not about the Monkees of television fame; it's about the monkeys of zoo fame.

The movie stars Yvette Mimieux, Dean Jones and Maurice Chevalier. Recommended for any one who liked the "Merlin Jones" and "Absent Minded Professor" movies.

ON THE OTHER side of the scale is a definite "miss-this-one" type movie. Columbia Pictures' "Murderer's Row" starring Dean Martin as Matt Helm is a bad movie. Its forerunner, "The Silencers" was also a Matt Helm movie, but it was a spoof on James Bond types and was fairly well done, if taken as what it was meant to be.

However, "Murderer's Row" is tasteless, plotless, thoughtless and noisy. There is no element of good sarcasm and satire involved in the production and the time it takes to see it could be put to better use, like playing chess with a ten-year-old first grader.

TV or "Live"?

If you are very careful, and close all doors and draperies next Sunday, you can enjoy yourself with some special entertainment and no one will ever know.

Feb. 12, the ever-popular, eternally entertaining "Wizard of Oz" will be retelecast at 6:30 p.m.

This lovely bright movie, shown annually, and starring Judy Garland, Ray Bolger, and Burt Lahr, is of World War II vintage but retains its charm and appeal for "children" of all ages.

THE STORY, written by L. Frank Baum, is of Dorothy, her dog, a cyclone, and a visit to a beyond-the-rainbow-land of un-Dylaned, un-Beatled, unprotested, un-Vietnamed sunshine.

If you have any romanticist blood in your "hardened arteries" or "student-strained" heart, you'll enjoy the show.

But perhaps television is not to your liking and you'd rather see a good stage play. A delightful bit of froth, "The Pajama Game," has recently opened at the In-The-Round Dinner Playhouse.

Taken from the original book "7½," "The Pajama Game" deals with a labor strike in, logically, a pajama factory. The plot is light; the songs and dance routines are very worthwhile.

10 Dealers Enter 65 Autos in Show

Sixty-five cars representing 10 dealers in the area will be displayed at the Auto Show being held at Randhurst this week.

Ford, Pontiac, Buick, Dodge, Oldsmobile, Chrysler-Plymouth, Lincoln-Mercury, Chevrolet and Cadillac dealers have entered various models they offer in the show.

This year's total number of cars is a sizable increase over last year's when there were only 40. When all of the cars had been arranged for the 1966 Auto Show, the indoor mall still had plenty of room, so it was decided that this year the area could accommodate an additional 25 cars.

FOR THE YOUNGSTERS and even maybe some of the adults, it's a wonder how all those cars get into the mall. There doesn't seem to be a large enough door. But, if you've ever noticed a 12-foot wall between Baskin's and Gangi's, you've seen the Auto Show's driveway. The entire wall can be opened, and it's through here that the cars are driven.

Foreign cars will not be included in this show, but there are tentative plans for an auto show later this year featuring only foreign cars. (CR

THE RICHLAND TRIO—Roy Gorman, Jim Moran and Jack Niemet—perform at the Old Salt Box in Elk Grove Village. (16Y

The Richland Trio

'...There Still Exists A Large Audience...'

The lights dim, and the audience quiets. Three well-groomed young men, dressed in red and white striped shirts, step up to the microphone and swing into their rendition of the ballad "Hard Travelin'."

The scene is the Old Salt Box in Elk Grove Village and the boys are Jim Moran, Roy Gorman and Jack Niemet—The Richland Trio.

For more than a year and a half, this group has been singing at coffee houses, high schools, and private parties throughout the Chicagoland area.

"We are convinced," said Jim, a senior at St. Viator High School, "that there still exists a large audience for folk music, especially when it's presented to entertain and not to preach."

THE TRIO WAS formed in August 1965. All three had been associated with other groups, and decided to get together one afternoon just for the fun of it. "We met in Jim's basement," said Jack, a junior at St. Viator. "We were pretty terrible, but we thought we had something, so we stuck it out. After a lot of hard work, we began to develop."

The group chose the name Richland just before their first engagement at a party in September 1965. "We wanted something that would represent us as midwestern," said Roy, a senior at St. Viator. "So we looked on a map and found the name of a small town in southern Illinois. It seemed to fit, so we used it."

Since then, the Richland Trio has traveled far and wide and has played for a variety of audiences. They have performed for an advertising director of Look Magazine, luncheons for the employees of Northwest Community Hospital and the Tarragon Club of Mount Prospect, the Irish Show of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, and numerous high school hootenannies.

On Christmas Eve 1965, they entertained patients at two hospitals in Elgin. In July 1966, they played for the first time at the Old Salt Box and have played there each month since.

"ON THE AVERAGE, we play three or four times a month," said Jim Moran, spokesman of the group. Jim, who was born in Libertyville, plays tenor guitar and five-string banjo. He sings the tenor harmonies, and sets up most of the group's engagements.

Jim has played piano for eight years, guitar for four, and banjo for three. He would like to go to Notre Dame University concentrating on the liberal arts.

Roy hails from St. Louis, and is the "personality" of the group. He has played guitar for three years and is the one who keeps the act moving between songs.

Of his voice, Roy said, "I just try to sing wherever Jim and Jack aren't. It usually works." Roy plans to attend Notre Dame and major in engineering.

JACK, ORIGINALLY from Chicago, is the serious musician of the group. He has played organ for eight years and now teaches it. He has played guitar for four years, and also plays piano on the side.

Jack has a deep, rich baritone that provides much of the power in the trio's vocal blend. A member of St. Viator's chorus, Jack says, "Singing is my favorite pastime. I particularly enjoy singing in a group —either large or small."

The Richland Trio enjoys singing together, and what is better, they sound like it. "They sing 'happy music,'" said Pastor Charles Fisher, program director at the Old Salt Box.

This style and quality did not come easily, however. The trio rehearsed for as much as 16 hours a week during last summer. "The result of that was that we improved about 100 per cent over our performance in St. Viator's variety show, which we had considered our best performance to date," Jim said.

ANOTHER RESULT was the expansion of the group's repertoire to about 80 different and varied songs. Though they have come up with a unique style, their approach is based loosely on that of the Kingston Trio.

"We have found that our audiences appreciate this approach more than any other," Roy said. "And," noted Jack, "our most successful numbers seem to be old Kingston Trio standards like 'Going Home,' 'Reuben James,' and 'The Reverend Mr. Black.'" These songs are characterized by a steady beat and a strong banjo accompaniment by Jim.

The future looks as bright for the Richland Trio as the past. "We plan to continue playing together as long as we can find anybody to listen to us," Jim said.

The group plans to investigate new coffee houses which they have learned of as well as remain at their current spots. They will also keep playing for liturgical events, of which they already have a long list of credits.

Some experimental recording is also planned for the near future, as is an appearance at the Talented Teen Contest and the Indiana State Fair.

Wherever they go, however, The Richland trio will continue to play that "happy music" as long as they can. (16Y

Area Firms Open Doors For Prospect

By means of a new career program at Prospect High School, "Vocational Visitation," students may, either as individuals or in small groups, visit certain area businesses.

As this program was developed by the counseling department, a student must first show an interest in visiting a business to his counselor.

His counselor will then make all possible arrangements for the visit to take place on the nearest field trip day or school holiday. Visitations will not be permitted during regular school days except under special circumstances.

"VOCATIONAL Visitation" is operated on the same principles as Business and Industry Day, which was held several years ago. The only difference is that students then went in large groups.

Seniors Rog Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson, 10 N. Elm, Mount Prospect, and Mike Rutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rutkowski, 320 S. George, Mount Prospect were among the first to take advantage of "Vocational Visitation." Both were interested in agriculture.

After seeing their counselors, arrangements were made for them to visit the Borden Bottling Co. in Woodstock. They also had a tour of a modern dairy farm. Rog's reaction was that it gave him "something to strive for in the future."

Clarence Feiereisel, one of the coordinators of the program, feels that this is an excellent opportunity for students to see what their possible career is like and talk with professionals in that area. He also believes that this will help students decide whether they really like this career.

"This experience cannot be duplicated by career days or tours and will be helpful in future career selection," he remarked.

Feiereisel also expressed the hope that parents of high school students would volunteer their businesses to aid the counseling department in this program.

Freedom: A Cup Or Teaspoonful?

Do you have enough, or too much, freedom?

The key for evaluating this question when asking it of yourself is, "Can I handle the freedom I have?"

One cup of freedom mixed well with responsibility and knowledge will not invariably turn out a model teen, nor will half a teaspoonful.

For some young people, a drop is too much and for others, a carload is a just amount. Privileges should be earned, not merely received as gifts just because a person has reached 14, 15, or 16 years of age.

If you can live with the freedoms and responsibilities designated yours by your parents, and prove your worth, then you deserve your rights.

THE TEEN who has use of the family car whenever he needs it, has a curfew of 1 a.m. or later, and is given few stipulations on where he may go has a good deal of freedom.

If he can handle his freedom, enjoy his life, and keep himself out of trouble, he deserves all of his privileges and perhaps more.

If he can give as well as take—maybe running family errands with the car, or being home earlier than curfew if possible, he is well on his way to proving himself capable of becoming an adult.

But, if he must use the car as a toy or weapon, ignore his already extended curfew and continue to be adversely conspicuous, he has been given too much freedom and should be curtailed. Chances are that those in authority over him do not care, or are too busy to help.

There is no pat way of deciding a given amount of freedom and rights to be doled out as pacifiers for a child prone to throwing tantrums.

Each teen must prove in his own way that he deserves and can handle the freedom he has or wants.

Do you have enough, or too much?

Cookery Tips

Day-old bread may be trimmed of its crust and cut into small cubes. Toss in butter to which some garlic salt has been added, in a frying-pan to make croutons. Use in soups and salads.

To remove pomegranite seeds, wash the fruit and cut in half. Loosen and remove seeds with a fork and sprinkle over desserts and salads for a colorful garnish.

Canned mushrooms will taste better if you empty the contents of the can, including liquid into a frying-pan with a small amout of butter and cook until all liquid is absorbed.

Minced parsley? Wash, dry leaves between paper toweling then cut very fine with scissors.

When you want to fringe cucumber slices, cut off both ends, then run the tines of a fork lengthwise on the surface. Repeat until the whole cucumber is done, then slice.

For coarsely shredded cabbage, cut on a board with a knife. For finely shredded cabbage, cut in sections and use a grater.

Helen's Favorite:
Spicy Pears
(6-8 servings)

1/2 cup chopped spiced crabapples
1/4 cup thinly sliced celery
1/4 teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
6 to 8 canned pear halves, drained

Mix crabapples, celery, ginger, almonds and lemon juice. Spoon 1 to 2 tablespoons of this mixture into each pear half. Heat in a slow (300° F.) oven 10 to 12 minutes. These may also be served cold. Use as a garnish for poultry, meat or fish.

Too Much Snow? Ski Club Loves It

Many of us feel that we could do without the cold and snowy days of winter, but to at least 65 Wheeling High School students, the white ground symbolizes a chance to enjoy one of their favorite sports—skiing.

The Wheeling High School Ski Club is one of the largest and most active clubs in the school. Weather permitting, they usually go to a Wisconsin ski resort each Friday. This year they have been able to make three trips, one to Mount Fuji, and two to Alpine Valley.

Skiing is becoming one of the most popular sports in the United States, which perhaps explains the rapid growth of the club. Any student who may still wish to join is welcome. There is a $2 membership fee.

THE CLUB meets every Wednesday during the activity period. It then decides upon where the members will ski and determines the cost, which is considerably lower with the group. For tow, bus, rental, and lessons, the cost is usually between $6-7.

The officers of the Ski Club are Tom Kreis of 341 Highland, Wheeling; Mike Marchildon of 388 Walnut, Wheeling; Dave Anderson of 802 Rose Ave., Prospect Heights.

The sponsors are Ronald Boguski, Burton Gloor and Earl Philip. (16Y

Wheeling Scholars To Hear Historian

The American History Round Table's first guest speaker, E. B. Long, will lecture in the Wheeling High School auditorium beginning at approximately 2:30 p.m. on Feb. 13.

The lecture will be open to the public, according to Alan Aimone, the group's faculty sponsor.

Long, a professional historical researcher, has traveled throughout the United States seeking manuscripts, memoirs, and records on the American Civil War. In his travels, he has become a well-known speaker, and he has received various awards for his scholarship.

LONG'S PAST achievements include research for Bruce Catton's multi-volume work "The Centennial Civil War"; editing of Ulysses S. Grant's memoirs; serving as president of the Chicago Civil War Round Table; and compiling an almanac of the Civil War. He is currently doing research for the famous historian Allen Nevins.

The title of Long's speech is "Lincoln, a Man, not a Saint." In his discussion, Long will interpret Lincoln as a man with faults and problems. He will analyze why most Americans today revere the Civil War President.

Long has been criticized for his views on Lincoln by organized groups of descendants of Civil War veterans.

During his visit to Wheeling, Long will autograph four of Bruce Catton's Civil War volumes in the library. These are "This Hallowed Ground," "Never Call Retreat," "Terrible Swift Sword," and "The Coming Fury." (16Y

Wheeling's College Night Set Feb. 23

College Information Night will be held at Wheeling High School on Thursday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m.

This night will be primarily for the parents of juniors. A film, "College Perspectives," will be shown. It is hoped that this film will assist parents and students in choosing a college.

A PANEL will discuss admission requirements, necessary college test information and factors involving the choice of a college with the parents. Financial aid, federal and state scholarships, and the Guaranteed Loan Program will also be discussed.

Persons who are interested in the financial programs may attend a meeting at Arlington High School on Feb. 28. The guest speaker will be Lee Noel from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission. (16Y

Class Heralds Computer Age

Computerization has invaded the hallowed halls of Arlington High School in recent years in the term of a special math topics course taught by John Gardner.

This one-semester course is designed to offer a basic understanding of the functioning of computers. The students study FORTRAN, which stands for the language with which the students are able to apply their problems to a computer.

The first quarter consists of learning the FORTRAN language or learning to program problems, and in the second quarter the students apply this knowledge to problems to be solved by computer.

THEY ARE also working toward a term project, and John Gardner emphasized the importance of this.

The students are faced with problems in algebra, statistics, accounting, and tables. With the help of FORTRAN, they program their problems. The programmed problems are then punched out on cards at Arlington.

Gardner takes the cards down to the District 214 Slichenmyer Administration Center where the cards are fed into a computer.

The answers come back in a matter of minutes. The answers are either correct, or there is a list of errors that must be corrected in the programmed problem.

These answers are mailed to Arlington. The students may work on the same problem up to several weeks.

Even though Gardner always takes the cards to the computer, the students have visited the Administration Center, in addition to a field trip to the Pure Oil Computer Center.

There are eligibility requirements. A student must have a background in advanced algebra or be a sophomore in the accelerated group.

OTHER SCHOOLS close to Arlington would like a similar course taught if they can find the teachers with the necessary background. Gardner has been studying computers for three years and studied last summer.

Gardner points out how important a background in computers can be in today's rapidly advancing technological world. He said that regardless of the fact that a student might never use this knowledge, it is a valuable course.

The course appears to be popular with the students, and will be offered next year. (16Y

High School Shows Film 'La Strada'

The English department of Sacred Heart of Mary High School will present the film "La Strada," an Italian film, fifth in a series of foreign films presented this year.

The movie, to be shown tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m., was directed by Fredrico Fellini and produced by Dino deLaurentiis and Carlo Ponti, all Italian film makers. It is an example of the post-World War II spirit of Neorealism, "a hunger of reality, that is a hunger to know the moment in which we live in an always more direct and immediate fashion."

The showing tonight is designed to acquaint adults to the value and new movement in foreign films. Thus, only adults will be allowed to view the film and to participate in the "coffee-discussions" afterwards.

Admission is 50 cents and all adults are invited. (16Y

Electric Heat's No Novelty Now

The all-electric home, no longer a novelty, has taken its place as a significant segment of residential construction in the United States, with 3 million electrically-heated living units (apartments and houses) in existence today and a forecast of 19 million by 1980.

The three-million figure came out of the Electric Heating Association's annual poll of key electric utilities around the country, and the forecast figure was made by the Federal Power Commission.

According to John H. K. Shannahan of the Electric Heating Association, the rapid growth of electric heating continued in 1966 in spite of the nationwide drop in residential construction.

IN CHICAGO, for example, all-electric high rise condominium home developments have been on the increase. Among these are: Thorndale and Thorndale South, twin 16-story towers; The Carlyle, 38 stories; The Tiara, 30 stories; and East Point, 44 stories.

Other significant all-electric developments in the area include, the twin 60-story Marina Towers, and the 60-story Lake Point apartments and the 100-story John Hancock Center—both now in construction.

"With prices sky-rocketing and inflation all around," said Shannahan, "the cost of electricity to the consumer is becoming cheaper every year. This is due primarily to increased consumption and a desire on the part of electric utilities to meet oil and gas competition head on for the heating dollar."

IN MOST areas of the nation, in fact, the cost of electric heating has dropped to a point where it can compete effectively with heating fuels, according to EHA. And even in regions where operating costs for electricity are slightly higher, the total cost of an electrically heated building is claimed to be competitive because it is generally less expensive to install and maintain electric heating equipment.

"The American public," Shannahan said, "is buying electric heating because of its obvious advantages such as cleanliness, flexibility of equipment, modernity, efficiency and other factors." (O

GARDENING TIPS

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

by MARY B. GOOD

Feb. 9

Don't you think it's about time to wave good-by to winter and start to think about spring? Beautiful dreams can be conjured up by browsing through the seed catalogs. Remember that reliable nurseries are members of the Mailorder Association of Nurserymen.

Feb. 10

Insectivorous plants, like the Venus Flytrap, need a high humidity. Place pot in a pebble-coated saucer and cover both plant and pot with a clear plastic bag. Remove twice a week.

Feb. 11

Check bulbs in storage for shriveling, and sprinkle lightly if necessary.

Feb. 12

Branches of pussy willow, Forsythia, flowering almond, and other flowering shrubs will come into bloom if cut and brought indoors. For more details on forcing write: Box 362, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Feb. 13

What ever happened to rose jars? The Hove' Parfumeur, Dept. "G," 723 Toulouse St., New Orleans, offers a free catalog. You'll have no trouble recapturing the lost art of making rose jars, but you may encounter a little difficulty finding roses in February!

Feb. 14

Interested in an early-bird's special price for World Flower and Garden Show Tickets? Phone 259-0156 for details.

Feb. 15

If rabbit damage is a problem, cut out sucker growth and lay it out to divert the bunnies. They'll concentrate on munching on the suckers and leave the tree itself alone.

Feb. 16

A good rule of thumb is this: Never carry over half-used fertilizer. If you haven't disposed of it yet, do your spring cleaning now.

HOME LAWN and GARDEN CARE

by RICHARD H. DeLANO Associate Horticulture Adviser

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL 392-3060 DAILY

The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but with a woman the way to her heart is with flowers. Flowers or plants on Valentine's Day are the perfect gift at this time to express sentiment and tenderness.

In the past the heart shaped leaf of wild violets and their flowers were a suitable Valentine's Day offering. They may still be obtained occasionally in larger flower shops. African violets though not a heart shaped leaf are an alternative. Floral gifts may take several other forms. A most sophisticated flower could be an arrangement of cut antherium imported from Florida or Hawaii. The flower may be described as a patent leather heart with a yellow spike at the notch.

FOR A LESS formal occasion, a pot of cyclamen is a good expression of this holiday mood. The semi-heart shaped leaves have quite an attractive mottled effect. Over the leaves are pink, crimson, or white flowers. The reflexed petals give a flame-like effect. Thus the general Valentine's Day impression is that of a group of flaming hearts. As a pot plant, the cyclamen has the added advantage of expressing your sentiment over a period of many weeks . . . even months.

For care, it demands a cool place in the house and plenty of light. This requirement will probably be met if the plant is held flush against the glass. It is also important to lower the plant's night temperature. This can be done by merely drawing the draperies in back of the plant. This keeps out the room heat. In addition, give the plant plenty of water, and you can expect bloom for about two months.

Cyclamen are usually discarded after bloom. However, should you wish to try the difficult art of reblooming, start by reducing the water after all the flowers are gone and as the leaves fade. In summer when all the leaves are dead, turn the pot on its side in a completely shaded spot in the garden. Repot the corm in a good light garden soil in late July. Allow half the bulb to be exposed above the soil line. Growth will soon start from the crown and you will find it ready to bring indoors by late September.

GREEN PLANTS with heart shaped leaves can also exhibit an expression of Valentine's Day sentiment. A small pot of pothos in a suitably decorated container is a good example. Pothos may best be described as varigated or marbled philodendron.

Philodendron dressed in ribbons, hearts and bows can also be given. Many varieties of them have arrowhead or heart shaped leaves that will readily carry out the theme of the day.

Culture of the dozens of philodrendron varieties is basically the same. They thrive in a temperature range of 62 to 85 degrees. If you can pass your hand over the surface and see a faint shadow, then you have enough light to grow philodendron.

WATERING OF philodendron is a little different from many flowering plants such as the cyclamen. Philodendrons should be watered thoroughly and then permitted to dry out. Water again when the soil is dry to the touch. Sufficient water, properly applied, is probably the most important factor in producing large uniform leaves.

Regardless of what you give, cut flowers, blooming or green plants, don't forget Valentine's Day next Tuesday Feb. 14. (O

Plastic-Finished Panel Rates Well

Plastic-finished hardboard paneling, with its many colors, woodgrains, decorator patterns and textured surfaces, is gaining even more attention from families planning a new house or improvement project.

Long used in kitchen and bathrooms, this prefinished paneling now is finding its way into every room in the house.

What is plastic-finished hardboard?

IT IS A fully-finished paneling for walls and ceilings. Its baked melamine plastic surface is permanently fused at high temperatures to a durable base of tempered hardboard.

It can be used in every room of the house. Its easy maintenance makes it practical for kitchens, bathrooms and family rooms.

Can a home handyman install it? Some paneling, for instance, comes in four-foot panels and 16"x8' planks. Home handymen can install both with wallboard adhesive, following instructions packed with each carton of paneling.

It can be put up over old walls.

Local lumber dealers have complete information on plastic-finished hardboard paneling and its accessories, such as molding and adhesives. Ways in which it can be used are portrayed in a colorful new decorating idea handbook that may be obtained by sending 25 cents to Decorating Book, Marlite Paneling, P.O. Box 250, Dover, Ohio 44622. Desert Air May Be Rather Moist

Do electric sparks fly at your house this time of the year? That static electricity means you need more moisture in the air, the Illinois Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors points out.

Grandma used to set pans of water about the house to get a little desired moisture, but the modern way to do it is with a humidifier.

The amount of moisture needed in a home depends upon several things, one of which is the tightness or looseness of the home's construction. The temperatures both outdoors and indoors are other factors. Actually, it isn't the humidity that makes people comfortable or uncomfortable—it's the relative humidity, which is the amount of vapor in the air compared to the amount it could hold at a given temperature. People are most comfortable when the relative humidity is between 35 and 40 per cent and the temperature is 70 degrees.

HEATING EXPERTS say relative humidity in the average home during the heating season may be as low as 15 per cent. That's drier than Death Valley or the Sahara, where the relative humidity averages around 25 per cent.

Besides providing every day human comfort, humidifiers often are prescribed by doctors to give relief to people with respiratory problems, the association notes.

There are several types of humidifiers. Some are free-standing and others are installed in the heating plant. For advice as to the best type for your home, consult a heating contractor. (O

Important Feature of Design Is 'Comfort'

"One of the important things people look for in a new apartment is practical comfort. That includes common-sense layout and the best use of space—and these are exactly the things we try to build in, in our apartment design."

This was the comment of Jack Tomlinson, sales director for Ramlin Rose North Apartments in Rolling Meadows, as he explained the growing popularity of the apartment homes. Located on Route 62 (Algonquin Road), just west of Route 53 and north of Northwest Tollway. Ramlin Rose North has now opened a second large group of buildings to rental.

Available in units of one, two and three bedrooms, rentals begin at $140 monthly—heat, appliances, water, storage and parking facilities included.

TOMLINSON noted how each apartment at Ramlin Rose North, regardless of size, fell naturally into two areas: the family living zone and the private sleeping area. From the foyer, with guest closet to one side, traffic is immediately dispersed to kitchen, dining area or living room. At the far end of the latter, the balcony or patio opens past sliding glass doors.

The three-bedroom unit is a well-planned extension of the basic two-bedroom layout. Here, however, extra space is added to living room, dining area and kitchen. Also, in this layout the master bedroom boasts its own private bath, giving this popular apartment two full baths.

In the two-bedroom suite, layout is also carefully thought out, with natural traffic flow featured. Here, the living room is semi-open to dining area and the kitchen. The corridor into the sleeping area leads directly back to bedrooms, bathroom and a walk-in closet and dressing room.

THE ONE-BEDROOM layout is typical of the comfort and convenience found at Ramlin Rose. The entryway extends well into the apartment, and serves as the natural traffic center and distributing corridor for the home. Immediately beyond the entry, visitors are drawn into the family-living room—or into the dining-kitchen area. Immediately off the entry corridor is the bathroom, with attractive color-toned fixtures. The bedroom takes up a corner of the apartment, together with a large walk-in closet.

Other attractions of Ramlin Rose apartments include full carpeting; colorfully-tiled and modern-lighted baths; wood-paneled dining area; kitchens done in Italian provincial decor; matching built-in appliances; and off-street parking. Each resident enjoys special laundry room facilities and his own storage locker. Year 'round maintenance is provided for grounds and all apartment exteriors. And there are attractive pool and clubhouse facilities provided for residents and their guests.

Fully furnished model apartments at Ramlin Rose North are open to public inspection daily from noon to dusk—from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. (REL

Plum Grove Homes Opens Last Section

Opening of Plum Grove Countryside's Lincoln section, the last section in the northwest community development of 294 homes has been announced by Albert Riley, developer.

The Lincoln section, on Kirchoff Road two blocks west of Route 53 in Rolling Meadows, has 24 homesites, six of them already sold. Each homesite is one-quarter of an acre. Three models are on display, in the $30,000 to $42,000 range. Plum Grove Countryside was first opened in 1961.

Riley will build his custom homes on the buyer's land or on one of his Countryside sites.

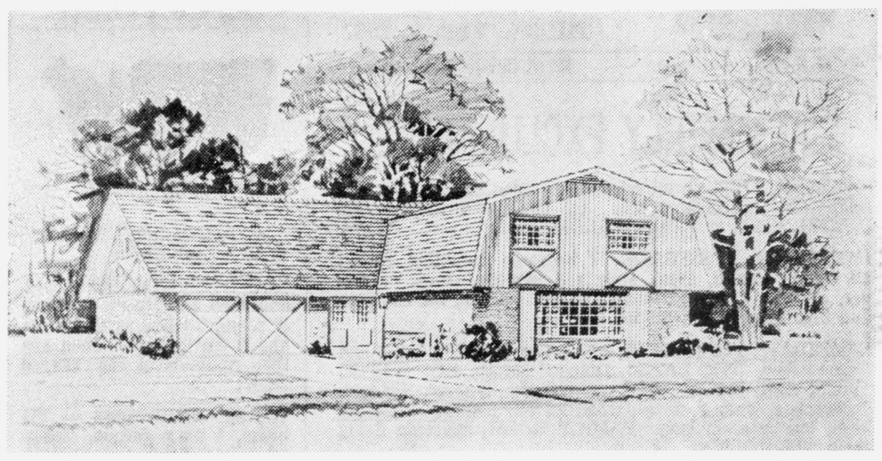
To aid prospective buyers at Countryside who had money tied up in a home they hadn't yet sold, Riley developed a "help-sell" program. A buyer selects a basic model, makes whatever changes he wants, chooses his site, and Riley sets a completion date for the new home.

IN THE MEANTIME, the Albert Riley Builders Realty Division takes over the responsibility of selling the home already owned by the buyer.

"Most people looking for a bigger and better house need the money from the house they own," Riley said, "and we decided when we first opened Countryside in 1961 to ease the transition with a 'help-sell' plan."

A professional appraiser determines the selling price of the customer's old house, and both Riley's realty division and the owner naturally must agree on that figure.

Riley said the plan has worked extremely well. "During the six years we have used our 'help-sell' plan, we have had only two instances when we had not sold the buyer's old home by the time his new home was ready for occupancy."



THE PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH is one model available at Plum Grove Countryside's Lincoln section. Reminiscent of our early American heritage, the house incorporates the feelings of stability and warmth. Country kitchen with its terraced eating area is an attractive feature of the home, which has four bedrooms and a large family room. The house is priced at $34,600. (REL

An earth shaking announcement from the builders of REGENT PARK:

Forget what you've read or heard about home sales during the past year. It was a different story at Regent Park in Arlington Heights. We have just completed an exceptional year, with sales going beyond our original projections. And we are equally confident of our sales success during 1967. So much so, in fact, that we expect to be sold out of townhouses and condominium apartments before the end of the year.

To do this, we have begun construction on all remaining units—40 townhouses and 26 condominium apartments. In view of this accelerated construction program (with some units being completed as early as 30 days from now) we are able to make a limited number of these units available under two special "Executive Purchase Plans."

PLAN NO. 1 Qualified individuals may reserve a townhouse or condominium apartment in Regent Park contingent upon the sale of their existing home—once the home has been approved under this plan. A down payment now will guarantee that you have your choice of model . . . in an excellent location. And, if you are unable to sell your present home, your money will be refunded.

PLAN NO. 2 Qualified individuals wishing to make lower down payments may now do so. With this special plan you could, for instance, purchase a 2-bedroom, air conditioned townhouse (with natural wood-burning fireplace, separate living and dining rooms, basement and garage) for as little as $2,700 down.

By acting now, you could be living in Regent Park within a few months (or even sooner, depending on your selection) and this summer . . . boating on our beautiful lake or swimming in our delightful, private pool. And, most important, you could begin completely "care-free living"—while Regent Park's maintenance crews cut your lawn, trim your shrubs and rake your leaves. For instance, if you lived in Regent Park this winter, you wouldn't give a thought to shoveling snow.

Hurry out soon. We're open seven days a week until 6 P.M. Drive through our beautiful community (stop and ask a resident about his great "leisure-time" home!) . . . or perhaps just watch our bulldozers at work. It's an earth-shaking experience.

WHAT MAKES OUR HOUSE YOUR HOME?

Come to Ballantrae where you'll find a home to suit your needs and tastes. We think we offer the best combination of homes—prices—community facilities —and custom quality you'll find around. But the major ingredient is the homeowner's particular needs. That's why our four models will change to suit you: four different roof styles to suit your taste, a selection of floor plans on each to suit your space requirements, and custom appointments to match your needs or fancy.

For example: the Carlisle, an 1856 square foot, three bedroom, split level with all the custom appointments including the lot, is priced at $26,145. Down payments begin at $2,245. with an F.H.A. 6% loan. While you're visiting, see the three other models at Ballantrae.

Multiple Listing Service gives you
ACTION

Buying or selling a home is no easy task. Often times it can result in lengthy, unnecessary delays causing inconvenience or even hardship on both buyer and seller. Most often these delays are unnecessary and are the result of the buyer and/or seller's failure to seek professional assistance.

Multiple Listing Service gives you action. From the moment the buyer or seller expresses his intention, a team of highly skilled real estate experts go into action seeking a solution to the needs of both parties. Their combined know-how and experience produce results fast.

Next time you decide to buy or sell your home, make your first move to call one of the members of the M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service.

Show Set To Begin On Friday

The Illinois Business Opportunity Show bows at O'Hare Inn Friday (tomorrow) and runs through Sunday.

All available exhibit space was contracted three weeks before opening day, and more than a dozen national franchise organizations are waiting in hopes space may become available to them through cancellations, report show officials.

More than 60 of the leading franchise organizations will showcase their own-your-own-business opportunities. These are a portion of a type of retailing system which rang up sales in excess of $70 billion in 1966—25 per cent of the nation's total retail sales.

Expected are 10,000 visitors, many women either interested in starting their own business, and husband and wife teams.

Trucking, Union Pact Ratified

Negotiations for a pay increase to Barrington Trucking Co. drivers have been concluded between the company and members of Local 782, International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

A new three-year contract with the Chicago and Suburban Refuse Disposal Association, of which Barrington Trucking is a member, has been ratified by union membership retroactive to Oct. 1, 1966. The new contract adds up to a 50-cent-an-hour wage increase and benefits, the company reports.

According to Ben Essenburg, general manager of Barrington Trucking, the new contract brings drivers' wages to $3.61 per hour and on Oct. 1, 1968 the rate will go to $3.86 per hour. In addition, drivers get time and one-half for work over eight hours a day or 40 hours a week. (BB

NIGas Earnings Continue Ascent

Consolidated earnings of Northern Illinois Gas Co. for 1966 continued upward, reaching $2.33 per common share, compared to $2.23 for 1965.

The figures were revealed by Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas chairman and president, in an address before a joint meeting of the Investment Analysts Society of Chicago and the Public Utility Securities Club of Chicago.

Chandler also stated that the company expects to add approximately 30,000 new customers each year for the next several years. The growing company furnishes natural gas to 944,000 customers in a 16,000 square mile area in northern and western Illinois. (BB

Overlooked Averaging As Tax-Saving Device?

You may be able to reduce your federal income taxes by making use of the new income averaging provisions first made available for 1964, reports James H. Hurt, a manager of Arthur Andersen & Co.

"Many people," Hurt noted, "presume that only successful authors, professional ball players receiving large bonuses and others receiving substantial increases in income can qualify. In part, this is true, but there are a great many taxpayers with steadily rising incomes who may qualify."

Hurt said in some circumstances taxpayers may have earned less in the current year and may still qualify.

"WHETHER YOUR annual income is $5,000 or $50,000 it may be to your benefit to consider income averaging."

The mechanics of averaging allow for a reduction in your top tax rate. There is no deferral of the income or the tax, said Hurt, only a special computation for the current year on Schedule G — Form 1040. While the details may become somewhat involved, the actual tax savings can be substantial:

"First, you must have been a citizen or a resident of the United States during the taxable year and the previous four years.

"Second, you must have provided 50 per cent toward your own support for the past five years. There are some special exceptions to this rule, but generally a young athlete who signs a contract could not qualify because of this limitation.

"Third, your current taxable income (this is the figure upon which you compute your tax) must be over $3,000 more than you averaged in the previous four years, after adding a third to that average. In making this computation, adjustments must be made for capital gains and certain other items. If you meet all three of the above conditions, you may save money by choosing to average."

Hurt cited an example of a business man with a 1966 taxable income of $30,000 but whose taxable incomes for 1962 through 1965 were $8,000; $10,000; $12,000, and $18,000. By averaging, he saved $700 in taxes.

Another example was of a man whose 1966 taxable income was $16,000—or $1,000 less than the previous year. By averaging the four-year base ($4,000 in 1962; $4,800 in 1963; $6,000 in 1964 and $17,000 in 1965) the man was able to save $123.

"It is the base period (the preceding four years) which makes the difference," Hurt stressed. Many taxpayers do not have a fluctuating income and as a result will not qualify for averaging. However, there are applications for averaging which tend to be overlooked, for example:

"1) The receipt of a large bonus or commission may provide enough income to provide an opportunity to average.

"2) If both husband and wife are working for the first time in the current year and the base period is low enough, then the extra income may qualify for averaging.

"3) A man who served a period in the Armed Forces may have a low base period and may be able to average for one or more years."

Hurt said if the taxpayer already has filed his 1966 return, he may file a corrected return using the averaging provisions any time prior to April 15. If you overlooked averaging in either 1964 or 1965, you may file an amended return within three years of the due date.

Named Association Head

P. L. Cowling, assistant to the president of the Milwaukee Road, has been elected president of the National Railroad Piggyback Association.

Cowling, a founder of the association, served as Midwestern vice president in 1965 and as national vice president in 1966.

Cowling, who lives at 282 Maywood Lane, Hoffman Estates, also is vice president and general manager of the Milwaukee Motor Transportation Co., the railroad's motor trucking subsidiary.

The National Railroad Piggyback Association, initially organized in 1964, has a membership of representatives from 42 Class I railroads which offer piggyback services for shipment of trailers or containers. (BB

Record Year Revealed For Arlington Realty

For the seventh consecutive year, record sales of residential property were reported this week by Arlington Realty, Inc. of Arlington Heights and announced by Herb Carl for the firm.

Sales of 230 homes and a sales volume of $6.3 millions were both new record highs, up from the previous all time high in 1965. The sales total showed an increase of 17 per cent over 1965 and nearly double the volume achieved just two years ago.

The average sales price for 1966 was $27,500 compared with $26,200 for the previous year for an increase of $1,300 for the average home sold.

OVER THE past six years, the firm has doubled, then redoubled, its sales volume and has grown from four to 14 licensed salesmen and brokers.

One of the oldest realty names in the area, Arlington Realty is owned and managed by four local Realtors: Herb Carl, Al Cinquini, Bill Kleiner and Elmer Zilen.

Carl and Cinquini opened a second office in June 1964 at 550 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights. The other office is at 535 S. Arlington Heights Road, also in Arlington Heights.

THE TWO offices are members of M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service, local, state and national real estate boards and exclusive representatives of the area for Homerica, the largest and oldest Nationwide Home Referral Service. (RE

Tight Money Puts Crimp In Realtor Sales Record

Baird & Warner, Inc., grossed sales totaling $84,147,870, down 7.4 per cent over the firm's all-time high of $90,883,755 tallied during 1965, with a corresponding decrease of only 3.4 per cent in the number of transactions concluded, according to John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager. He notes that had sales activity experienced for the first nine months held during the last quarter, the real estate company would have achieved a new record.

"Tight money was definitely a determining factor." Hall points out, and says that sales made to investors were fewer than anticipated because of the unavailability of mortgage money and high interest rates. In addition, a number of prospects for single family residences could not be qualified because of higher down payments required to finance the purchase of pre-owned housing. He also observed a lack of listings in some areas of metropolitan Chicagoland.

DESPITE THESE somewhat adverse conditions, the company participated in a total of 2,091 transactions. Residential properties, including co-op and condominium apartments, accounted for 1,810 sales and Hall noted that transferred families continued to constitute the bulk of Baird & Warner's business in single family residences.

Commercial and apartment buildings with 12 units and over reflected a 9 per cent increase with 107 transactions being concluded. At the same time, apartment buildings containing less than 12 units showed an 11 per cent decrease. Sales involving vacant land parcels totaled 108 for a 5 per cent increase over the 103 tallied during 1965.

"Money for mortgage purposes is definitely becoming more available," Hall observes, and he looks for increased activity in 1967. He bases his optimistic view on the fact that sales made by Baird & Warner's staff during the first two weeks of the new year were over a half million dollars above the volume realized in a similar period last year. Critic's Corner

Taxpayers Feel Pinch

by CHARLES E. HAYES
Executive Editor

Suburban taxpayers aren't smiling very broadly these days. Small wonder.

Rising local tax rates are destined to soar even higher; municipal and school officials are searching for new revenue; increased state taxes seem certain in the immediate future.

And the pinch on the taxpayer's pocketbook suffered its fatal squeeze a few weeks ago with President Johnson's proposed federal budget and fiscal program.

If Congress grants his request for $144 billion in new spending authority for fiscal 1968, it will mean even less take-home pay for suburbanites—more withheld income taxes and Social Security taxes.

The President proposes a 6 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income tax bills to begin July 1, 1967, and to end June 30, 1969.

HAYES

For a family of four earning $7,500 this year, it would mean a $21 increase in income taxes. The family's tax bill would rise from $686 owed on this April 15 to $707 on April 15, 1968, deadline for 1967 taxes.

SOCIAL SECURITY taxes would increase in stages from a total of $290.40 for a person earning at least $6,600 in 1967 to $599 in 1974 for a worker earning $10,000 annually.

This means a worker would pay 4.4 per cent of his first $6,600 this year. On Jan. 1, 1968, he would pay 4.4 per cent of his first $7,800 and by 1974 he would be paying a total Social Security and Medicare tax of 5.55 per cent on his first $10,800.

These increased tax burdens will be unpopular with a restive suburban middle class in no mood to tolerate a larger bite from its paychecks. Congress increasingly will feel pressure to heed public demands for spending restraint before a tax increase.

IN HIS budget message, President Johnson asked $1.9 billion for the wide range of Great Society domestic programs. In many cases, their efficiency and effectiveness have been open to serious question. As yet, the taxpayer has no assurance these broad programs have been sifted out and refined to a point where federal funds will be used to better advantage than earlier Great Society appropriations.

Other items in the staggering budget deserve close Congressional scrutiny. This includes $73.1 billion slated for military spending. Largest "peace time" defense budget in history, it includes an estimated $24 billion a year to continue the war in Viet Nam.

Defense spending is a "sacred cow" in Congress; to challenge the veracity of a military budget is almost akin to treason. Such expenses rarely get more than minimal scrutiny; continued evidence of military waste and duplication are traditionally brushed aside.

Many experts even predict that Congress will press for even higher defense spending, let alone pare the President's requests.

THE HIKE in Social Security taxes would finance the President's proposed 20 per cent over-all increase in Social Security payments beginning July 1. Those on minimum payments would get a whopping 59 per cent jump, and everyone would receive at least 15 per cent more.

It's obvious that those on Social Security have fallen behind under inflation—despite some liberalization of payments—and that there are areas where the needs of elderly citizens have been overlooked.

Reputable economists, however, have suggested that an 8 per cent increase, coupled with last year's 7 per cent rise, would make up for the inflation of the past 15 years and be both eminently fair and economically feasible.

AS TAXPAYERS look about for a political scapegoat, they shouldn't overlook the Congress itself.

The President proposes, the Congress approves.

Without Congressional authorization, the President cannot spend a penny of public money. Congress has the power—and responsibility—to examine the budget, evaluate spending proposals, and control taxes.

This doesn't absolve President Johnson of his responsibility—he prepares the program—but in the final analysis, it is up to Congress to either accept or reject the Administration's tax and budget requests.

IN THE WEEKS to come, there will be much gnashing of teeth and clucking of tongues for the benefit of hapless constituents. There will be a plethora of GOP press conferences and a volume of outraged oratory.

There will even be some token cuts. Social Security deduction proposals may be pared.

But when the political fog lifts, the President's program will have been approved.

From Democrats, there will be appeals to patriotism, prosperity, and social conscience.

From Republicans, there

The Way We See It

County Officials Move to Trim Fat

Encouraging efforts to trim the fat off sluggish county government are occurring in both Cook and DuPage counties:

In Cook County, formation of a blue ribbon commission to look into operation of the county board has been announced by Richard B. Ogilvie, new president of the board. Republican Ogilvie already has begun to institute another major campaign promise: transfer of county jobs which belong on civil service to the civil service system.

In DuPage County, consideration is being given to the movement to reapportion county boards along lines more closely related to population. And serious thought has been devoted to possible streamlining of county administration through creation of a professional county manager's post.

Cook County is faced by a severe shortage of funds during the coming year. Operation under those conditions will be a challenge to the county board president and will create a burden for many devoted county employes. However, we feel the county government has not operated at maximum efficiency, owing to the large number of patronage employes. The job of increasing efficiency during a period of financial stress should not be as difficult as might appear.

We hope the county's "Little Hoover" commission, during its one-year study, will examine not only the efficiency and scope of county operations but the relationship between patronage and efficiency. While we are pleased Ogilvie is planning to transfer most county jobs to civil service, we would like to have the commission explore weaknesses in the present system which permit the civil service machinery to be ignored. We would like to have legal guarantees that it will not be ignored by future administrations.

We also would like to have the commission explore the need to extend civil service to jobs not presently covered. It is estimated that only about 15,000 of the county's 17,000 employes should be under civil service. We question that 2,000 jobs should exist for party reward; instead, patronage jobs should exist only at policy-making levels.

DuPage Republicans and Democrats are discussing means of reducing the size of the board of supervisors while having representation more closely related to the one-man, one-vote principle. DuPage and other board of supervisor counties now have representation based on townships. Each DuPage township has one supervisor. Townships with large populations have one or more assistant supervisors. This results in large boards making only a stab at equal representation.

State Rep. William A. Redmond (D-Bensenville), perennial supporter of reapportionment at the county level, has introduced a bill which would eliminate townships as the basis for representation while retaining the other township functions. Representation would be based on "supervisor districts."

Study of county manager government has been suggested by DuPage County Auditor L. D. LaFleur. In a recent letter to the Fence Post, he reported growing interest in county manager systems now allowed by a handful of states.

We think these developemnts to improve county government have much in common. Both metropolitan counties could learn from an exchange of information and ideas with the other. For example, the Cook County Board of Commissioners has 10 representatives of Chicago and five from suburbs. That apportionment, creating a permanent legal distinction, will not continue to serve the principle of one-man, one-vote.

The efforts to improve professionalism of Cook County employes through extension of civil service should be followed with interest in DuPage County.

Telling a Job Story

by TERRY WEIDE
Staff Writer

"Even today, with labor shortages, many capable handicapped persons cannot find employment."

And an expanding economy cannot afford to overlook their services, W. Harold Bleakley of Mount Prospect added.

A partially blind businessman, Bleakley has been heading up efforts to tap this large labor pool in the suburban area.

BLEAKLEY IS chairman of the newly formed Northwest Municipal Council on Employment of the Handicapped, a civic organization representing nine communities.

More than 15,000 handicapped persons are expected to be affected by efforts of the council, organized shortly before the New Year by municipal officials, businessmen and representatives of social agencies.

Among chief tasks of the council will be closing the communication gap between handicapped applicants and would-be employers, according to Bleakley.

"You must interest the employer with good selling points . . . And the handicapped must be made aware that there is job training available."

JOB TRAINING, offered by the State of Illinois, is often a missed opportunity among the handicapped whose skills sometimes languish after disease or accident, according to Bleakley.

"I knew a man who became blind and, subsequently lost his job as a computer programmer, as a result of diabetes. Unaware that he could have been retrained for the same job under the state program, he died unemployed two years later.

W. H. BLEAKLEY

"I often wondered whether his disease, the apparent cause of his death, was not aggravated by worrying about his family's future, whether his four children and their mother would go on the relief rolls," Bleakley said.

Bleakley is uniquely equipped to bring the story to both the employer and the handicapped.

AFTER AN archery accident left him only with light perception, Bleakley earned a scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh, where he was graduated with degrees in industrial engineering and psychology.

In spite and because of his handicap, Bleakley has built careers around industrial management and vocational training for the handicapped.

In his native Pennsylvania, he helped develop the state program of rehabilitation, served as psychologist at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind and directed rehabilitation of World War II veterans at Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

"Those were the toughest two years of my life (at the naval hospital). Those kids were completely defeated. They were fighting in the Pacific one day . . . and then found themselves stateside the next," Bleakley recalled.

"WE GOT patients on their feet and working as soon as possible — before fear took over. This is now recognized as a good rehabilitation technique," he added.

With his talents, the handicapped worker brings other qualities esteemed by bosses. On the job, the handicapped account for fewer absences and less turnover than other employes, Bleakley said.

"The handicapped worker is satisfied with constructive employment. And, unlike many other applicants, he comes to a new job completely trained," Bleakley said.

JOBS FOR the handicapped range from domestic service, factory piece work to positions in business, law, accounting and other professions.

Bleakley is president of his own business, Emcor, Inc., a Des Plaines firm of scientists and engineers that provides maintenance and installation of "industrial household" equipment in plants.

He travels more than 150,000 air miles each year for his company, while tracking its progress with records and reports transcribed in braille.

Of his preparation for the business world, Bleakley says:

"I grew up in a home where work was viewed as a means to a goal — not a chore. This philosophy stuck. I was never spared any duties because of my handicap," he said.

THE COUNCIL regards itself as an official arm of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Bleakley explained.

"The state alone cannot do the job of placing the handicapped. Citizens themselves must see that everybody who wants to work has that opportunity."

Already on the council program are plans to facilitate placement. There will be a membership drive and formation of committee to work on obstacles faced by the handicapped.

"For instance, many business places present architectural obstacles, such as doors too narrow for wheelchairs and stairs, instead of ramps. We are going to investigate this problem."

"Meanwhile, we've got something to sell," he said.

Represented on the council are the communities of Palatine, Park Ridge, Elk Grove, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Barrington, Barrington Hills and Rolling Meadows.

Clearing Off Walks

Most residents of the northwest suburbs have rebounded in good humor from the series of storms which have struck the area in the past two weeks. Deep snows have created hardships for some and inconveniences for many.

Helpfulness to others has been repeated in story after storm story.

The snows have "created" many pedestrians of people who normally would have used vehicles to get to shopping areas and commuter stations. Fortunately, most residents have responded by clearing paths along their sidewalks. Some, however, have ignored the needs of others.

Most communities have ordinances requiring sidewalk cleaning. We suggest it is time to begin vigorously ticketing those who choose to ignore these ordinances.

A Wise Investment

When you get your 1966 tax return form, take a look at the option that lets you take U.S. Savings Bonds instead of a cash refund. You'll find how to hang on to your tax refund, if you're lucky enough to have one coming.

When you check the Savings Bond line, you automatically assure yourself of two advantages: You provide an easy way of hanging on to your money and a sure way of making it grow one-third bigger at maturity.

Another good thing about that checkmark—it also helps to strengthen our country's future security.

Decency Push Misdirected

by DAN BAUMANN
Managing Editor

A writer in last week's Fence Post criticized a local motion picture theater operator for showing "objectionable" films, and she invited rebuttal. I hesitate to rush to meet her challenge because, I think, the Fence Post has the advantage of better readership.

The writer, Mrs. Poulos, noted that the Meadows Theatre had taken some knocks from another resident before the city council. She said she and other members of St. Colette's Parish have available to them a monthly listing of decency ratings of motion pictures.

BAUMANN

AND SHE suggested she and other Catholics start using the listing and passing it along to friends, since the same general notions of morality are shared by all major Christian Denominations.

I have no argument with her or the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures or any organization trying to improve the moral level of movies. But what she suggests is really the basic idea behind decency ratings — and that basic idea has proved itself to be unworkable.

The ratings accurately reflect that there are levels of acceptance and that some material is unacceptable morally on any grounds at any age. Adults have different experiences from children, lead different lives and are not content to live in a world of children's entertainment.

THE MANAGEMENT of the Meadows, I can testify as an occasional patron, also takes this into account. Once when I was in the theater and an "adult" film was on the night show bill, the manager made a very thorough pass-through to eject minors. (Sad part of the episode, I thought, was the number of children of all ages accompanied by parents too lazy or too cheap or too unconcerned to hire a babysitter, yet still eager to see "adult" entertainment and willing to expose their children to it.)

Main advantage of the decency ratings is that people who want to limit their entertainment by moral standards may do so.

Main disadvantage to using ratings in an economic boycott, as was suggested in the Fence Post letter, is that most people don't want to so limit their entertainment. This includes, obviously, many Catholics. The truth of the matter is that with the heavy suburban concentration of Catholics no theater here could withstand a boycott by this group.

ON THE CONTRARY ratings may create an audience for a film. "Banned in Boston" is still a commercially profitable label for a book.

Another major disadvantage of decency ratings is that they do not take into account the entertainment value of a film. A film rated tops morally for children and adults could be a poor

Volunteer Help Aided Hospital

For each of us, the recent storm has sharply etched in our memories many vivid recollections. For those of us at Lutheran General Hospital, the most lasting memory is the wonderful response of people who provided the hospital with help during the crisis.

There were hundreds of people who provided aid and additional hundreds who offered to help if the need arose. It was impossible for the hospital to get a complete list of all those who helped, so we are using this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to all who helped and offered to help.

CERTAINLY AN extra word of thanks should be extended to the police and fire departments for their gallant efforts in bringing in supplies and aiding employees to get to the hospital. The all-out cooperation of governmental officials was also deeply appreciated.

We will be sending personal thanks to the many people, groups and firms whose names we have. Yet we know that we dont' have all of these names and so we say "Thank you" to each and everyone of you.

The 375 patients in the hospital during the storm were well cared for—thanks to the dedication and sacrifice of concerned employees and community volunteers.

Our deepest thanks and appreciation to all. (FP

Public Works Chief Is Lauded

To Jim Bennett,
Palatine Public Works Director:

This is a letter of commendation. You read correctly, COMMENDATION. We on Maple Court would like to express our appreciation for the fantastic job the snow removal crew did in Palatine and on Maple Court in particular.

The recent record snowfall truly separated the exceptional crews from the mediocre and poor ones. Knowing that Maple Court, being a dead-end single block, would be on the bottom of the priority list, we were amazed when a plow arrived shortly after noon on Friday the 27th. Amazement turned into pleasure as the driver did an outstanding job.

Some of us traveled to and struggled through other northwest suburbs during this past week. We learned first hand that Palatine is heads and shoulders above most and second to none in snow removal.

Congratulations and a rousing HIP HIP HORRAY for our team!

Coverage of Vote Helped District 54

I wish to thank Paddock Publications for your excellent in-depth coverage of the issues and considerations of our School District 54 referendum. Pat Gerlach's reportial skill shows forth in her probing for the facts and in her analysis of the complex issues which face our school board.

Your editorial endorsement was indeed a contributing factor to the success of this very vital referendum. We who serve on the school board can now proceed with a comprehensive three-year program to fulfill the school building needs of this district.

Our True Nature Is Shown in Adversity

The recent snowstorm crises have once again proven that adversity brings out our true colors. Whether a man gives of himself in time and labor to help those in need, or whether he will be numbered among the looters and price gougers who prey upon the misfortunes of others, reflects his upbringing and moral integrity.

I was among many who were stranded in bogged-down traffic on Franklin Avenue from Franklin Park to Bensenville. The most appalling and frustrating thing I observed was the unwillingness of motorists to get out of their cars and join together to hand-push the vehicles blocking the road. They would rather sit and wait for someone else to do it.

I was one of about a dozen volunteers who kept lanes open and traffic moving by hand-pushing one car after another, and by directing traffic around obstacles. At every obstruction it was the same dozen who climbed out of their cars to run ahead through the drifting snow and biting wind to find the trouble spot and do something about it.

THE SECOND example of incomprehensible behavior exhibited by most motorists is their nearly fanatic optimism. They have an amazing capacity for faith and confidence, convinced that if they wait long enough, traffic must surely start moving. Many of those perished in their cars during the night, having made no attempt to seek refuge in a public or private building. It apparently never even occurred to them.

Another example of optimism carried to extremes is the fact that only one in 20 motorists carries a snow shovel in his car, and only one car in 10 is equipped with snow tires. A little foresight and preparedness goes a long way.

I am not writing to claim recognition for my part in helping others. I felt that it was my duty, and everyone's, to do everything necessary and possible. Helping one's fellow man has its own rewards.

The point I do want to make is one that has been made many times before — that no man is an island, needing no one and being needed by no one. We all need each other, and one way to be a help instead of a hindrance is to be prepared for the unexpected. Also, a little action is sometimes necessary to get things done, whether or not we find it distasteful.

Community Interest Served by Plans

Thank you for inviting me to your luncheon meeting to advise the community at large of your plans to publish three times a week.

FOR THE VILLAGE of Elk Grove Village, we are very happy to have this additional opportunity in which to communicate with the people concerning what the government is working toward in the interest of the entire community.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for sending the Municipal Newsletter, giving the highlights of the news of each community and each governmental unit in the area. You know I subscribe to about seven of your papers in order to keep up with the community, and some weeks it is actually an impossibility timewise to even scan them. Now, with the extra communication facility which you folks have provided, I at least have the opportunity to keep posted, even though in capsule form.

With every best wish to you, I am

Homeowner Group Not Incensed Mob

In your Jan. 26 issue of the Palatine Enterprise, a glaring headline proclaims "Trustees to Face Angry Homeowners."

Reading this, one gets the impression of an incensed mob ready to storm the meeting of the Palatine Board of Local Improvements which is certainly not the case.

THE PROPERTY owners in Arlington Crest are naturally greatly concerned about the proposed improvements and especially about the estimated high cost, but they plan to voice their objections in an orderly manner.

In the article itself, you refer repeatedly to the Arlington Crest Civic Association as being the agency acting in behalf of the property owners. The majority of the property owners does not belong to this association and the fact is that a committee of 12 was appointed at a mass meeting of the property owners—members and non-members—with instructions to gather information to support objections to the proposal which could be presented to the village board. At a later meeting a second committee was formed to obtain signatures of protest.

We do not know where you obtained your information but we feel that a correction is in order.

Here's Salute to Fire Department In Arlingon

I want to publicly express my sincere gratitude to the members of the Arlington Heights Fire Department, who helped the lady in the gray coat about 4 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, during the big snow storm.

BEING AN independent soul, I tried for nearly an hour to get my car out of the parking lot before I asked for help.

I tried several service stations, I tried the police department.

My car was in such a position that if it had not been removed, there would have been much confusion later in the day, when more car owners returned from the city.

Men, I Salute You! You are gallant gentlemen.

Township Road Crews Praised

I wish to thank the Wheeling Township road department for the excellent job they did during our recent snowstorm. Their unceasing efforts were greatly appreciated.

Gold Snowshovel Award Conferred

The undersigned wish to add their "Thank You" to the Village of Arlington Heights officials and employes who in our opinion did an excellent job during the recent snowstorms. The streets of Arlington Heights were kept freer of snow than any other community we know of. In fact, if it is possible we would like to suggest the employes of the public works department be given a "Golden Snowshovel Award" for their outstanding accomplishments.

More on Storm: He Found Helpfulness in Bensenville

The January blizzard of 1967 will live in the minds of many motorists for many years to come. No doubt many of them will live to have their grandchildren sit on their knee and listen to grandpa tell his experiences of that fateful day. I was one of these unfortunate individuals who was stranded in this storm. I was alone in my car when I left the fire hall in Bensenville to return home at 9 p.m. the evening of the 26th of January. It was snowing and blowing but the roads were open and busy in both directions. Driving was slow due to slippery conditions. I traveled York Road south to about the Three Pines, when movement began to slow up and then advance by short distances and then another halt. I finally stopped just south of Belmont Avenue where I spent all night in the car.

TRAFFIC WAS at a complete halt due to a large truck that had blocked the road at York and Grand Avenues. Lucky for me I had a full tank of gas. Each 15 minutes of each hour I had to run the motor to keep warm. The wind and snow continued all during the night until by daylight the drifts were up to the car windows on the north, south and east of every car.

Representatives of the Grace Lutheran Church came alongside the cars and invited the occupants to come into the church to get warm and get some hot food and coffee.

Later a gentleman from a white house came by to invite those still in cars to come to his house for coffee. The only footwear I had was a pair of low shoes that were very unsatisfactory for wading in snow. Soon, a young gentleman stopped by my car, offered me his own boots, and insisted that I come to his place for hot coffee, breakfast and the use of his bathroom. This gentleman turned out to be Mr. Bill Baur, at 8 E. Belmont. Three other people were there besides me, and his wife Martha made breakfast for all. We spent most of the day here keeping warm and watching for snow plows.

THE neighborhood church group of men organized about 3 p.m. on the afternoon of the 27th and started to move all the cars out of the road from the north end. For this service they asked each motorist to contribute $2 to the church, a fair price for the service. When the cars were in the clear, a grader moved in and cleared a path to the south so that the cars could move to the south on a one-lane path. I finally arrived home in good shape, except for the wear and loss of sleep, at about 8 p.m. on the evening of the 27th.

When one considers the length of time that many thousands of motorists were drifted in during this record breaking storm, I consider myself lucky to get out in 24 hours. My heartfelt thanks to those who gave their time and efforts to meet this emergency in good time.

Crocodile Tears Attributed To Dismayed GOP 'Democrats'

I have been watching with considerable interest the recent controversy caused by some of the United Citizens Party candidates who took Democrat ballots in the primary last June and are now insisting they are still bona fide Republicans. These gentlemen say they voted Democrat only to try to elect their Democrat friend and U.C. party mentor, Mr. Mugalian, to the post of Democrat Committeeman of Palatine Township.

It can only be assumed that anyone qualified to run for village office is also well acquainted with Illinois laws and would know exactly what it means when a citizen declares himself ir a primary for one party or the other. Working on this assumption, these are some of the points which these particular U.C. "Republicans" must have borne in mind when they made their big decisions last June:

FIRSTLY, IN A closed primary such as we have in Illinois, they were required to announce the party of their choice, in this case the Democrat Party, and thereby forfeit their opportunity to vote for any member of the Republican Party, including Dick Ogilvie, Mr. Percy, Don Rumsfeld, and many others. Secondly, from the moment they called for a Democrat ballot, they automatically became members of the Democrat Party for the next 23 months, during which time, by state statute, they are restricted to signing only Democrat petitions. Thirdly, whether Mr. Mugalian won (he didn't) or lost in the race for Democrat Committeeman, each of their votes gave one more vote to the victorious Democrat Committeeman to carry into the powerful Democrat Cook County Central Committee, of which Richard J. Daley is chairman.

All this seems rather a high price for "Republicans" to pay in order to help a Democrat friend. And in the end, who lost? Mr. Mugalian and all those Republicans who turned their backs on their own party to serve the purposes of a self-serving Democrat friend. And who won? Mr. Mugalian's Democrat opponent and the Democrat Party of Palatine Township.

So please, let us have no more crocodile tears pour out of the eyes of these erstwhile Republicans on the United Citizens' slate. We would much prefer to believe they knew what they were doing when they turned Democrats for two years; but if they continue to bleat like sacrificial lambs, we might start to suspect that their friend and adviser, Mr. Mugalian, had purposely pulled the wool over their eyes.

Storm Victim Praises Teens

Just a word of thanks to the five thoughtful teenage boys who helped push my car on two occasions when our "great storm" began. I'm confident that for every mis-guided teenager there must be at least 100 who are wonderful kids, wanting to help rather than destroy.

My generation is handing them a world full of trouble, and they are the ones who will lead us to a better world. But we are also handing them a world full of opportunities unheard of 20 years ago. They will never have to be bored, as it would take a lifetime to scratch the surface of many scientific wonders.

Once I heard that trouble is like a sword. You can grasp it by the blade or by the handle. I personally feel that most of these young people are grasping them the right way. Thanks a lot, boys!

Hospital Cites Suburban Chiefs

(Copies of the following letter were sent to fire chiefs Thomas Fogarty of Rolling Meadows, Harvey Carothers of Arlington Heights and Edwin Haberkamp of Mount Prospect and police chiefs Robert Centner of Palatine, L. W. Calderwood of Arlington Heights and Cy Campbell of Rolling Meadows):

The doctors and personnel of Northwest Community Hospital want to express their profound appreciation to you and to the members of your expert staff for the unprecedented efforts you made to transport patients as well as essential doctors and personnel to the hospital during the traumatic course of the recent snowstorm. If it had not been for your valuable assistance our patients could not possibly have been adequately cared for during this period.

We believe that the citizens of your community have more than justifiable reason to be proud of the performance of your staff during this emergency.

Parking Ticket On Snowy Day Upset Reader

Thursday last, Jan. 26, due to the abnormally large number of C&NW commuters, I was forced to park my automobile at a four-hour meter. This rather than leave it on the street in a 60-minute zone.

On my return to Palatine late that evening (you may recall that it snowed) I was dismayed, disgusted and extremely upset to find an overparked ticket on my car. Now, if cars are left with utter disregard to the time limitations, that is one thing, but when all parking space is occupied, it is nothing short of rotten to sit and wait for meter violations to occur. And when conditions are impossible, words can't describe your actions.

IT IS unfortunate that mitigating circumstances cannot be taken into account, rather than having your meter maids act overzealously. This leaves an extremely poor impression of the progressive Village of Palatine.

Village Crews Earn Plaudits

To the superintendent of streets, Elk Grove Village;

I wish to compliment you and your entire force for outstanding peformance during the "Great Blizzard of 1967." This also comes from many of my neighbors, and I am sure, all residents of Elk Grove Village.

WE TAKE A lot for granted, but when we see some of the other areas compared to Elk Grove Village, we must say "thanks" to a group of enthusiastic people that have pride in their work and their village.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Paddock Publications, so they will be informed of how I feel.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Just what is the proper and most tactful manner in which a girl can decline a date with a boy?

A. She should be gracious about this, because after all it IS a compliment to be asked. She may say some such thing as, "Thank you for asking me, but I won't be free that evening." Even if she IS free, there's no need to give an excuse. She can be cordial, but vague.

Q. When a meat dish is passed to you at the table, and the portion held toward you is too large, too well done, or has too much fat on it, is it all right to search through the portions for a suitable iece?

A. Yes—if you can accomplish this without too much fuss or without disarranging the whole dish.

Tri-Weekly Plan Exciting: Percy

I want to congratulate you and the entire staff of Paddock Publications on your decision to publish the 16 Paddock suburban newspapers three times a week.

This is exciting news for your readers, your employees and for journalism in general. I believe that suburban journalism will continue to grow in importance in the years ahead, and I know that Paddock will continue to be a leader in that growth.

With every good wish,
Charles H. Percy

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

How Wisely Would You Act In An Emergency?

The chances are that, during your lifetime, you will never meet a severe emergency, but the one chance you will may mean the difference between life and death.

In the following cases, are the treatments wise or foolish:

	WISE	FOOLISH
1. A member of your family trips and falls down stairs. Try to lift him onto a couch or bed.	( )	( )
2. You burn your hand severely with hot grease. Plunge it into cold water.	( )	( )
3. On a hiking trip, a friend says he has a headache and feels nauseated. Remove his outer clothing and see that he does not take any liquids.	( )	( )
4. You find a person pinned under a wrecked automobile. Try to lift him out of the wreckage.	( )	( )
5. A stray cat claws you. Wash the wound with running cold water, apply a sterile bandage.	( )	( )
6. You sprain your ankle severely. Apply hot and cold compresses and keep bandaged tightly between treatments.	( )	( )
7. Your child cuts the palm of his hand deeply, causing blood to gush. Allow the bleeding to flow in order to wash out any glass fragments.	( )	( )
8. Your young child appears with an empty bottle of medicine. Put him to bed immediately.	( )	( )
9. A neighbor working in his yard turns pale, perspires and says he feels nauseated and cannot breathe. Insist that he lean on you. Keep him walking until help comes.	( )	( )

EVALUATION OF YOUR TREATMENTS:

1. Foolish. Cover the victim and call a doctor. Moving him may intensify any injuries.
2. Foolish. Prevent air from reaching the burn either by salves, which should be in your medicine chest for such an emergency, or by mixing 3 tablespoons soda in a quart of water. Make a wet compress and keep moist until you can see a doctor.
3. Foolish. These symptoms indicate exhaustion. Cover the patient and give him a third cup of water mixed with a half teaspoon salt. Repeat four times.
4. Foolish. Do not move the victim (see 1.) Try to control bleeding. Use coats, blankets, etc. to make the victim as comfortable as possible and to keep him warm.
5. Wise. Wash the wound with soap and water, apply a bandage and see your doctor as soon as possible.
6. Wise. Alternate between ice packs and hot towels. Keep the foot raised and tightly wrapped to prevent swelling.
7. Foolish. Bleeding should be stopped. Fold the fist firmly around a wad of gauze and bind into position. See a doctor immediately.
8. Foolish. Force the child to drink warm water or milk. Tickle his throat to induce vomiting. Keep him warm and call a doctor. Keep him moving and awake.
9. Foolish. These are symptoms which may indicate a heart attack. Get your neighbor into bed, keep him warm and call a doctor.

VT Crews Announced

The technical staff for the Village Theatre production, "Look Homeward, Angel," was announced this week by Doris Patterson of Palatine, production manager.

Robin Glauber, the play's director, has ordered a two-story set with inhabited rooms always in full view of the audience, quite an undertaking for a construction crew.

Alvin Estrella and Jim Patterson head the group that will build such a set. Volunteer carpenters are Dick Baker, Charlie Linde, Howard Risberg, Jim Smith, Harry Jenkins, Dave Dove, Jerry McGrath, Oliver Smith, Cleve Taylor and Tom Dixon.

PAINT AND effects will be applied by Marley Smith, Bea Taylor, Polly Johnson, Dot Watkins, Mary Estrella and Bonnie Luster.

Set decoration and furniture for the Dixieland boarding house, setting for the play, will be handled by Carolyn Burkett, assissted by Barbara and Gene Connors, Sheila Baker, Sarah Levin, Audrey Lawson, Bonnie Luster and Ginger Grey.

Pat Breitsprecher is in charge of set and hand properties with the committee including Mary Jane Jayne, Bea Taylor, Betty Weber, Pat Eslong, Chris Bauske, Lucille Dukes and Anne Butler.

COSTUMES ARE in the hands of Mary Spellman, Polly Johnson, Farral Dixon, Wilma McGrath, Kelsey Gengel and Bimbi Corinier under the supervision of Joyce Zeller.

On the make-up committee are Dorothy Bair, Annabelle Herbst, Lorraine Zisman, Doris Silver, Binki Wilson and Darryl Schultz.

Lighting will be directed by Herb Braden, assisted by Kay Hawley and Anita Wilkins. Sarah Levin has charge of the billboard.

STAGE MANAGER for the play, to be given at Elk Grove High School March 4, 5, 10 and 11, is W. R. Pownall, who also will be in charge of sound effects. He will be aided in his stage manager duties by his wife Gladys.

Play information may be obtained through the Village Theatre box office, CL 9-3200.

Highlights of New Ravinia Series Told

The Ravinia Festival Association has announced highlights of its new series of Tuesday "Specials."

Included in the season's schedule of Tuesday evening performances are Ravinia's first presentation of a touring orchestra, Yehudi Menuhin and the Bath Festival Orchestra (July 18); an appearance of the celebrated Merce Cunningham and Dance Company (July 25); the return engagement of famous pianist Van Cliburn (Aug. 1); a festive Fourth of July celebration, culminating in a band concert and the Michaels Award finalists appearing with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra (Aug. 8).

THREE of the Tuesday "Specials" will feature concerts by the Chicago Symphony, the first the season's opener Tuesday evening, June 27. Byron Janis, world-famous pianist, will be the soloist, initiating the Prokofiev Piano Cycle with a performance of the Russian composer's Concerto No. 3.

To celebrate July 4th, Ravinia Park, famous for its picnic facilities, will be open from late morning through the afternoon. A number of activities are planned before the afternoon band concert. Details of the old-fashioned celebration will be announced later.

HELD OVER at the Thunderbird Theatre, "Monkeys, Go Home," Walt Disney's hilarious new comedy, features a mischievous menagerie of "banana bandits" (chimps) plus Yvette Mimieux, Dean Jones and Maurice Chevalier. The popular Chevalier introduces a new song, "Joie de Vivre" (Joy of Living) and sings with Darleen Carr, recent teenage singing discovery. Also playing at the Mount Prospect Cinema along with Frank Sinatra in "Come, Blow Your Horn."

Cary Artist Will Exhibit Work Sunday

Ronald Borucki, a Cary, Ill., artist, will be exhibiting some of his work in an Arlington Heights residence this Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peder A. Finnberg, 1500 W. Thomas St., are opening their home to anyone interested in seeing Borucki's art. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Borucki studied at Lake Forest College and in Erlangen, Germany. He has exhibited in both the United States and Western Germany.

He uses a pallet knife technique resulting in a bas relief texture. Though most of his work is landscapes, Borucki also has done some religious paintings and studies of the human form. (Bill

Satellite II Homemakers To Study Food Purchases

Do you read the labels on the food you buy? Do you actually look at the weight printed on the outside, or do you purchase your foods by looking at the size of the box or can?

To learn how to get full value of the purchasing dollar, the area homemakers' group, Satellite II, which meets evenings, will study these questions at the Thursday, Feb. 16, meeting at Mount Prospect Country Club.

THE GROUP meets every third Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. Most of the members are working women in the Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling and Des Plaines areas who enjoy having a homemaker unit in which they can conveniently participate.

The information on "Buying of Foods, Part I," has been prepared by the Cooperative Extension Service in Home Economics, University of Illinois, and will be presented by Mrs. LeRoy Armstrong of Des Plaines, a local leader of Cook County Homemakers Extension Association.

DURING THE January meeting, Miss Jean Rushton, assistant Cook County home adviser, installed Satellite II officers for '67 as follows: Mrs. Ervin Cole, Mount Prospect, chairman; Mrs. William Ryan, Mount Prospect, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Kluczyski, Prospect Heights, first vice chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Fish, Wheeling, second vice chairman. (S

Human Investment Act Reintroduced

Rep. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) last week reintroduced a bill to the Congress designed to attack the nation's chronic problem of structural unemployment.

Rumsfeld, along with several Republican colleagues in the Senate and the House, is sponsoring the Human Investment Act of 1967, which he and others had originally introduced during the last Congress.

The act offers an incentive to American business to invest in the improvement of the nation's human resources by hiring, training and employing unemployed workers lacking needed job skills, and by upgrading the job skills of and providing new job opportunities for workers presently employed.

The bill, if adopted, offers employers a tax credit of 10 per cent of the allowable training expenses. The maximum allowable credit is $25,000 plus 50 per cent of the taxpayer's liability in excess of $25,000.

"AT A TIME when industry demands thousands of trained and skilled workers, thousands of Americans sit idly because they cannot meet industrial skill requirements.

"Private business is best equipped to close this employment gap and should be encouraged to do so through the Human Investment Act of 1967; it will link private enterprise efforts with those efforts being made by Federal and State governments in this important area," declared Rumsfeld.

The bill attracted strong Republican support when it was first introduced in the 89th Congress. Modifications in the bill since the 1965 model make it "even more attractive and desirable," said Rumsfeld, "and I am hopeful that it will attract bipartisan support."

Lyric Opera Needs Singers; Auditions Set

Lyric Opera of Chicago still needs tenors, baritones, basses, altos and mezzo-sopranos to complete its 68-member regular chorus for the 1967 season and will hold two auditions during February to finish the roster.

Chorus candidates who are not chosen for the main group will be automatically considered for the supplementary chorus.

The two auditions will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 14, and from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 18. All auditioners will be heard by Lyric's chorus master, Michael Lepore, in Room 631 of the Opera House, 20 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago. The telephone number is FInancial 6-6111. (Bill

New Concert Association Members to Receive Bonus

Those joining the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association during its March membership drive will receive free admission to the Norman Luboff Choir concert March 12.

Thomas O. Grisell, newly-elected president of the concert association, announced the bonus concert is possible because it is being given in the boys' gym at Arlington High School where there is extra seating.

Usually the concerts are performed at the Arlington Theatre.

THE MEMBERSHIP drive will run from March 6 through the 11th. Grisell urged persons interested in joining to call Mrs. Lawrence Zonsius, membership chairman, CL 3-6377, or Mrs. Harry Jenkins, co-chairman, CL 9-0766, as soon as possible.

Membership is by season ticket only, he said, and is limited to about 1,400 persons. The association has been sold out the past three seasons, he reported. There are no single admissions sold at the door.

From three to five concerts will be offered next season, Grisell said. One of these will be a performance by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra.

"MANY OF these artists and performing groups can be seen or heard in the city," said Mrs. Edward R. Vogeney, publicity chairman, "But the convenience of having them perform in Arlington Heights is hard to beat."

These concerts add prestige to the cultural life of the area, too, she noted.

Besides Grisell, the new officers of the concert association are: Mrs. Zonsius, first vice president; Mrs. Jenkins, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Dunlop, recording secretary; Mrs. Michael Swanson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur Franzen, treasurer.

Mrs. Vogeney, publicity chairman; Howard McElhose, artist selection chairman; Clayton Sauers, concert manager, and Mrs. Gale Blocki Jr., E. Marvin Buehler, Mrs. Dale Galloway, Rudy Kaspar, Mrs. Charles Opela, Boyd White, George Bochum, Mrs. Grisell, John Gilfoy, Mrs. Carl J. King, Mrs. Frank Palmatier and Mrs. Harold Wenzel, all directors.

Catholic Schools Announce Teacher Recruitment Project

The Catholic Archdiocesan School Board has just announced a new teacher training program aimed at the northwest suburban housewife.

Designed especially for the mother who can't attend archdiocesan summer training course because of home commitments, the new course will start in March.

It combines crash training at Loop colleges in elementary school techniques with six weeks' observation in local parochial classes.

DIRECTING the program as part of his duties as teacher placement officer for the archdiocese is an Arlington Heights man, Philip D'Appley of 720 N. Gibbons.

D'Appley will start Monday interviewing women interested in the training program, designed for the college graduate who doesn't hold a teaching certificate.

Application forms are available from the archdiocesan school board office at 430 North Michigan Ave., Chicago.

In the northwest suburbs' 10 parochial schools, some 110 teaching posts must be filled before classes start next fall, D'Appley estimates.

WOMEN COMPLETING the spring teacher training course will have their choice of schools. They also will be eligible for salaries pegged from $4,500 to $6,200.

Certificated teachers receive $5,000 to $7,150 for the 10-month school term.

Parochial school teachers' salaries used to be much lower. Raised last year, they now come close to being competitive with public suburban school salaries.

"Particularly," D'Appley points out, "when you consider our school term has 15 fewer days."

PAROCHIAL schools are staffed both by religious and lay teachers, with the ratio currently about three to two. D'Appley, however, predicts that the number of lay teachers will soon equal or outnumber the religious. While vocations are increasing, he says, the increase isn't large enough to keep up with the rising demand for teachers in America's parochial classes.

In the Chicago archdiocese next year, D'Appley expects to have 600 lay teaching jobs to fill. About 75 per cent of these go to recent college graduates, being interviewed now as part of an active on-campus recruiting program.

BUT MOST OF these young girls teach a few years, then marry and "retire" to raise a family. Maternity resignations and family transfers account for much of the 18 per cent turnover which the archdiocesan parochial schools experience yearly.

Parochial school officials have to work hard to replace leaving teachers — and meet the demand for extra classes. But this isn't a problem for Catholic schools alone, as D'Appley is quick to add.

He cites State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ray Page's announcement last fall that 1,300 classrooms throughout Illinois had no teachers when school started in September.

To ease the teacher shortage, attracting the married college graduate — and retraining her, if she wasn't an education major — seems "the only answer," D'Appley believes.

"THE STRENGTH they bring is that they know about children," says D'Appley of the women he wants to attract to the spring training course.

The archdiocesan school board's education program is designed to give these mothers some of the other background a teacher needs — a knowledge of teaching methods and the assurance that they really can handle a classroom. Hopefully, observation in the schools will give them this confidence.

Non-certificated teachers assigned to parochial schools are encouraged to go on and take the education courses they need. The salary differential also provides incentive, D'Appley says.

Harper Signs First 3 Faculty Members

William Rainey Harper College is no longer a college without a faculty.

Recently the first three faculty members in the brief history of the new junior college signed contracts. By fall, an estimated 50 educators will be under contract and ready for the opening of classes.

The trio of new faculty members is John H. Thompson, William H. Miller and Rosario DePalma. Miller and Thompson presently teach at Maine Township high schools while DePalma is subchairman of the biology department at Forest View High School.

According to Dr. Herbert R. Pankratz, dean of instruction at Harper, "These educators are a fairly good representation of what the new faculty will be. Each will make a distinctive contribution.

"ALL THREE have 30 or more graduate hours beyond their master's degrees. Few junior college faculty members have the academic breadth Thompson has earned — more than 60 graduate hours beyond the master's degree with concentration in biology, physics, mathematics and chemistry. Miller has exceptional depth in his field with almost 40 graduate hours in biology beyond the master's while DePalma has the most experience, including several years of college teaching."

There is keen competition for faculty openings at Harper, Dr. Pankratz noted, with more than 10 applications being received for every counseling and teaching job.

"Judging from the 20 faculty members now under contract," he said, "Harper's teaching staff will be highly qualified, yet diverse. They average nearly 10 years each in teaching experience with about half having experience on the college level.

"Not counting the several who have doctorates, the new faculty will average more than 20 graduate hours beyond the master's degree. This kind of academic background is unusual among junior colleges and difficult to achieve even for many four-year institutions, including universities," he added.

Harper expects to obtain its faculty members from four main sources — other junior colleges, graduate schools, high school faculties and business and industries.

THE FACULTY will have obtained their degrees from a variety of institutions, including most major universities in Illinois. Others will likely include Notre Dame, Louisiana State, University of California, Vassar and New Mexico Western, as well as universities in Iowa and Michigan.

Dr. Pankratz noted that the average age of the new faculty is expected to be about 36, with most married and with families. "But we don't want to give the impression Harper's faculty members will be exclusively men. As a matter of fact, Harper will have several very capable and attractive women," he said.

Although a full-time faculty numbering about 50 is planned for the fall of 1967, the exact number will depend on the number of students registering. Part-time faculty will be hired to meet special teaching needs. Formal student registration begins Friday, Sept. 8.

Most of the hiring for full-time positions should be completed early in March, with a few positions in specialized technical areas perhaps not filled until later this spring, according to Dr. Pankratz.

He indicated that courses in communications plus fine and applied arts will require the most faculty members, 16. Other subject areas and the number of teachers anticipated include: Mathematics and physical science, eight; engineering and technology, six; life and health sciences, six; social sciences, five; and business, five.

The new faculty first convenes on Monday, Aug. 21 to begin three weeks of planning and orientation.

Harper College will conduct classes at Elk Grove High School. The college's new campus in Palatine is expected to be ready for occupancy in 1969. Groundbreaking and initial construction are scheduled for late this spring. (B10

Inside Randhurst

February Focuses On New Cars, Love

by MAGGIE IRWIN

Spring, (no kidding) really is on its way! A positive sign is, that Randhurst is presenting its Annual Automobile Show. Starting tomorrow, Feb. 10 through Sunday, Feb. 19, the Randhurst mall will be the show place for the 1967 automobiles.

There's nothing like looking at new cars to get you out of the winter doldrums and there's no place like the spring-like atmosphere of the Randhurst mall to view them. We assure you, you are in for an optically tantalizing treat. Five of the autos are the most unusual you have ever seen, all I can say is, seeing is believing! The beautiful 1967 cars will start you dreaming of spring and summer and travel.

BY THE WAY, how is your summer wardrobe? Are you all set for the warm days that soon will be here, and I am not being overly optimistic . . . there are just 40 calendar days until spring arrives. Beautiful spring, that "come alive" time of the year when one's morale gets a terrific lift with the new clothes. Marvelous colors can be seen everywhere in our stores as they get ready for spring and summer.

What do you think of the splashy color combination printed dresses? You might think it takes courage to wear them. Not really, they're fun to wear and they do so much for you. Not only do they add dash to a drab wardrobe, but spark your personality as well. Don't you love the bright and beautiful matching handbags and shoes? If you need a new coat, I know you will be happy with the selection. Come on out to Randhurst and see for yourself.

Don't forget your sweetheart on that HEARTfelt LOVEly day, Feb. 14 and most of all, don't forget the Randhurst Auto Show, Feb. 10 through Feb. 19 . . . see you there. (Rh

Hospital Appoints Richie

John D. Richie has been named assistant administrator of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, it was announced recently by administrator Robert J. Nast.

Richie was formerly district executive of the Hospital Federation of Columbus, Ohio, a combined hospital council and area planning organization.

He is a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in institutional management. Richie earned his master of hospital administration degree from Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio.

JOHN D. RICHIE

At Lutheran General, he will be in charge of coordination of personnel policies as well as having other administrative responsibilities.

A native of Detroit, he is married and has one son.

Dr. Ferraiolo Is Hospital Staff Chief

Dr. Frank Ferraiolo of Des Plaines has been named head of the department of general practice of the medical staff of Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge. He will serve during the coming year.

Dr. Ferraiolo received his bachelor of science degree from Duke University. He received his bachelor of medicine and doctor of medicine degrees from the Chicago Medical School.

He served his internship at Elmhurst Memorial Hospital and has been on the staff of Lutheran General since the hospital opened in 1960. (B-10

Harper College Meet

Board to Consider Easement Approval

Harper College Board will meet tonight in Palatine to consider approval of an easement for the village of Palatine required to sink a well on college property.

Since the Harper campus site recently was annexed to the village, approval of the college board is required to place the well on the property. The well would provide water for the campus and would serve other parts of the village.

Also to be considered at the meeting to be held at 8 p.m. at 34 W. Palatine Road, is final approval of purchase by the college of seven mobile classrooms at an estimated cost of $105,000.

The units are needed to accommodate the college staff and classrooms for the 1967-68 school year. They will supplement the college operations at its temporary quarters in Elk Grove High School when classes open this fall.

IN DECEMBER the board approved negotiations by the college for purchase of the relocatable classrooms at $15,000 each rather than their rental, also considered. The board decided they may be used permanently on the campus at a later date, or they could be resold to local school districts.

Tonight's agenda includes a review and possible approval of the lease with High School District 214 for the Elk Grove High School facilities to be used by Harper.

The board will be asked to recommend appointment of an advisory committee to plan a dental hygiene program to be offered at Harper.

The complicated question of charge-backs will be discussed by the board. Purpose of charge-backs is to provide money to students going to other colleges because of the unavailability of a local college in their district or of programs they want which are not offered at the local school.

THE BOARD previously has discussed the need for a clarification of the interpretation of a July 1 deadline date on charge-back costs and how they relate to junior college districts and Harper in particular.

Board attorney Frank Hines has been studying the issue and its interpretations. He has communicated with various state junior college officials but the lack of guidelines, procedures and deadline dates for all junior college districts has hampered his investigation.

The long agenda further includes recommendation by the board for appointment of a director of counseling, counselors and new faculty members, as well as a discussion and possible approval of a tenure policy. (B10

Hanrahan Continues Plans For Superintendent's Job

Dr. Thomas Named To Advisory Group

Dr. Donald Thomas, new Elk Grove District 59 superintendent, has been named by Robert P. Hanrahan, Cook County school superintendent-elect, to a blue ribbon advisory committee.

Helping screen applicants for assistant county superintendent positions will be the job of the advisory subcommittee to which Dr. Thomas was named.

More than 100 educators have submitted applications for the county posts so far.

HANRAHAN TOLD Paddock Publications this week he hopes to announce his appointments in May.

Though Noble Puffer of Barrington, incumbent Cook County school superintendent who has held the office for 27 years, has 10 professional assistants, Hanrahan may not name that many.

Reorganization of the office—to possibly include some combining of duties—is also being considered by the Republican superintendent-elect. (B-10

Cook County school superintendent-elect Robert P. Hanrahan is doing a balancing act these days.

While planning for takeover of the county school post he captured next last November, Hanrahan must still keep up with demands of his present job as administrative assistant for Thornton Township High Schools.

State law prevents the successful Republican candidate from assuming the Cook County school superintendency until next August.

At that, it may be 1968 before Hanrahan can put a major mark on the office held by veteran superintendent Noble Puffer of Barrington for 27 years.

DESPITE DEMANDS of recruiting and public relations programs for the Thornton high schools, Hanrahan has found time to meet several times with Puffer.

The meetings have been "very, very cordial," Hanrahan says.

Hanrahan has opened the job appointments he must make next August to Puffer's present appointees as well as to others.

He will, however, appoint his own men to the assistant superintendents' posts.

Unless the 1967 budget can be amended, however, Hanrahan will be restricted by the budgetary allocations made by Puffer for the current year.

Hanrahan would like to be free to use the county school appropriations differently.

HE IS planning, he told Paddock Publications this week, to confer next week with fellow Republican Richard Ogilvie, the new county board president, to see if amendments in the school superintendent's budget can be made.

If so, Hanrahan says, he will move immediately—in August, that is—to put into effect county school office reorganization plans proposed by an experts' committee he has appointed.

Dr. Oscar Chute, retired Evanston school superintendent, will draw up reorganization proposals with the aid of a committee that includes Dr. James D. Logsdon, Thornton Township school superintendent; David Heffernan, assistant superintendent of Chicago public schools, and Dr. Luvern Cunningham, director of the University of Chicago's Midwest Administration Center.

CHUTE'S committee is expected to make its short-range reorganization report within six weeks. A long-range reorganization plan will also be drawn up, too, Hanrahan said. Author of these recommendations will be Dr. Cunningham.

Two other sub-committees of

his advisory group have also been named by Hanrahan.

A committee on finance includes four superintendents, Dr. Maurice Clark of Western Springs, G. Millard Brewick of Schiller Park, Dr. Stuart Anderson of Riverside, and Dr. Lester B. Ball of Oak Park.

A personnel committee has been appointed to screen applications for the 10 professional posts which Hanrahan must fill.

That committee includes Dr. Frank Endicott, Northwestern University placement director; Dr. Lawrence Gagnon, superintendent of District 106 in LaGrange; Dr. John Springman, superintendent of District 34 in Glenview, and Dr. Donald Thomas, new Elk Grove District 59 superintendent. (B10

Hebrew Head To Address Beth Tikvah

Rabbi Robert J. Marx, director of the Chicago Federation of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, will speak in the area on Saturday, Feb. 11, at 8:30 p.m.

The lecture will take place at Beth Tikvah Congregation, 275 Hillcrest Boulevard, Hoffman Estates.

Beth Tikvah has initiated a series of lectures entitled, "The American Jew Faces 1967". Rabbi Marx is the second speaker in the series. His topic is, "The Challenge of a Changing World."

The new series of gatherings has been termed educational-social evenings. The lecture is delivered to the congregation which is seated about tables. Coffee and cake are served. There is an informal atmosphere. Questions and discussions are an important part of the evenings.

Rabbi Marx was ordained at the Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, Ohio and received a Ph.D. from Yale University.

He is extremely active in the Chicago community affairs. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race. He is an honorary chairman of the Illinois Committee to Abolish Capital Punishment and he is the director of the Jewish Council on Urban Affairs. He is well known for his activities in the field of civil rights and urban improvement and is a widely sought after speaker.

Special Education Law Creates Difficult Task

A next-to-impossible task faces the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) in two years.

By 1969, under provisions of a new mandatory special education law, school districts in the NSSEO must add 536 special education teachers—and 525 classrooms or offices as well.

The 536-teacher figure was released this week by Miss Helen Appeldoorn, coordinator of the NSSEO joint agreement supported by school districts in this four-township area.

It represents the difference between local schools' present special education staff of 201 and the 736 which the law will require by 1969.

THE NSSEO reached the 736-teacher figure by comparing incident rates for various special education areas — physically, mentally or emotionally handicapped — with the expected 1969 school student population.

Only with assistance from the state, Miss Appeldoorn believes, will local schools — which have done better than most Illinois school districts in meeting special education needs — be able to finance the additional classes.

Miss Appeldoorn and other area educators are hoping that the office of the superintendent of public instruction will allow step-by-step implementation of the mandatory special education law when they see the tremendous problems involved.

Throughout Illinois, school districts in trying to meet the new requirements will be faced with both a shortage of classrooms and a shortage of trained teachers.

Most separate special education classes have fewer children than regular classes do. Other handicapped children attend regular classes but get extra help in special resource rooms.

FOR SOME youngsters—primarily the trainable mentally handicapped — a separate school, not just a separate classroom, is what must be provided, experts say.

Illinois colleges are currently gearing to provide instruction for the extra special education teachers that will be needed. But area educators are skeptical that even this extra emphasis will be enough.

The state superintendent's office will soon have a firm picture of the immensity of the special needs under the 1969 law.

THE NSSEO estimates were sent this week to the county superintendent of schools' office. There they will be pooled with those similar reports from other county schools.

All-county figures will, in turn, go to the state school office.

They may provide the basis for new regulations from the state office of public instruction.

Educators also expect the state-wide special education need of figures to provide a basis for new legislation to soften the blow of the new requirements — perhaps by providing financial aid.

Bills are expected to be introduced to allow school districts to levy a special tax to finance building of special education classrooms. (B10

Special Teacher Breakdown Given

This is the breakdown of additional special education services which a new law says the 10 school districts in the Northwest Special Education Organization (NSSEO) must provide by 1969.

The law, to go into effect that year, calls for school districts in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine townships to furnish:

—For the educable mentally handicapped, 42 teachers.

—For the trainable mentally handicapped, 13 teachers and 13 teachers' aides.

—For the socially maladjusted, 143 classes.

—For the perceptually handicapped, 107 teachers.

—For emotionally disturbed children, 67 classes.

—For physically handicapped, one class.

—For children with visual problems, 20 staff members including six Braillists to prepare materials.

—For children with hearing problems, 41 teachers.

—For children with multiple handicaps, one class.

STUDENT POPULATION that year is estimated to be 107,000. Parochial school children are included in figuring the 1969 needs, according to the procedures set up by the state superintendent of public instruction's office, since they too are eligible to enroll in the public schools' special education classes.

Currently the NSSEO, with 80,000 students attending the cooperating schools, employs 71 special education experts.

They include 20 for educable mentally handicapped, two teachers and two aides for the trainable mentally handicapped, four for socially maladjusted, 24 for perceptually handicapped and one for emotionally disturbed.

Ten staff members, including three Braillists, work with children with visual problems and eight NSSEO teachers work with the children with hearing problems.

THE NSSEO has just started to provide classes for children who are emotionally disturbed or socially maladjusted.

School districts in the NSSEO now hire their own speech correctionists, psychologists, social workers, and teachers of the homebound.

They together employ 130 of these specialists. Under requirements of the 1969 special education law, that number would have to be upped to 158. (B-10

Rumsfeld Suggests 31 for Academies

Congressman Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) last week announced the names of 31 young men from the 13th Congressional District who have been nominated for appointments to United States service academies for classes beginning this summer.

Rumsfeld uses a competitive system of nomination under which he submits the names of six qualified young men for each academy appointment available to the 13th District. Final screening and principal selections are made by the academies.

In commenting on the nominations, Rumsfeld said, "The competition in the 13th District of Illinois is extremely keen. These young men are due high praise for winning competitive nominations for appointments to the various U.S. service academies."

RUMSFELD reported that his selections were based on the results of a competitive Civil Service Examination, a rigorous physical examination, and various other factors relating to curricular and extra-curricular activities in their high school years. "Because of the high quality of education in the 13th District," he stated, "only those who placed extremely high in the competition won nomination for these positions. I wish to congratulate each of these nominees and their families on this achievement."

Rumsfeld has nominated six young men to compete for an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. They include:

—Richard Appleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appleton, 917 South Ioka, Mount Prospect. Senior at Forest View High School.

—Lyle R. Bemis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bemis, 1525 North Belmont Avenue, Arlington Heights. A 1966 graduate of Arlington High School.

—Ford Droegemueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Droegemueller, 2013 Buffalo Grove Road, Arlington Heights. Senior at Wheeling High School.

The young men who have been nominated to compete for an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis include:

Charles L. Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Keating, 849 South Vail, Arlington Heights. Senior at Arlington High School.

—Henry R. Tasche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Tasche, 814 Richard Lane, Elk Grove Village. Senior at Forest View High School.

THERE ARE two appointments available to the 13th District for the United States Air Force Academy in Denver. The following will compete for one of the Air Force appointments:

—Frederick Barney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Barney, 1704 North Ridge Avenue, Arlington Heights. A student at Colorado State University.

—John R. Ekeberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ekeberg, 128 South Benton, Palatine. Senior at Palatine High School.

—Robert M. Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson, 109 Ridge Avenue, Prospect Heights. Senior at Wheeling High School.

—Charles F. Nielsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Viberg Nielsen, 262 Eisenhower Court, Palatine. Senior at Palatine High School.

The following young men will compete for the 2nd Air Force appointment:

—Robert W. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Brown, 810 Kimber Lane, Arlington Heights. Senior at Forest View High School.

—Steven J. DeHaven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison DeHaven, 713 South Elmhurst Road, Mount Prospect. Senior at Forest View High School.

—Gerald Lemke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Lemke, 1003 South Wheeling Road, Wheeling. Senior at Wheeling High School.

Rumsfeld has nominated the following young men who will compete, along with nominees of the other Illinois Members of Congress, for 15 appointments from the state of Illinois to the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy in Kingspoint, N.Y:

—Chris G. Borgerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Borgerson, 259 East Forest Lane, Palatine. A student at St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wisconsin.

—Robert DeStefanis, son of Mrs. Victorine DeStefanis, 532 South Waterman, Arlington Heights. Senior at Prospect High School.

Rumsfeld is now accepting applications for classes entering academies in 1968. WRITE: Room 241, Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515. (B10

Model Railroaders Slate Open House

The Northwest Society of Model Railroaders will hold open house the next two weekends at the club's headquarters in Rolling Meadows shopping center.

The clubroom will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. this Saturday and Sunday and also Feb. 18 and 19.

BESIDES "lots of railroading" there will be movies and refreshments included in the price of admission. Fees will be used for club expansion and purchase of additional equipment.

The clubroom entrance is off the service driveway on the north side of the store buildings.

DAR Good Citizenship Awards Go to Five Area Senior Girls

PINS AND CERTIFICATES were recently awarded to five area senior girls, all voted outstanding by their fellow classmates and the faculties of their schools. Mrs. E. H. Loughrin, chairman of the DAR Good Citizens Committee, Eli Skinner Chapter, awards the pins to Sue Chodera, Arlington High School; Connie Andrew, Wheeling High School; Charlotte Kreusch, Prospect High; Debbie Hodgson, Palatine; and Chris Armstrong, Forest View. (Staff Photo)

Five outstanding senior girls, from the five area high schools, were honored recently when they were presented with pins and certificates from the Good Citizens Committee of Eli Skinner Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The awards were made on the basis of four years of high school and each girl was voted most outstanding not only by her senior classmates, but also by the faculty of her respective school.

Receiving the honor from Palatine High School was Debbie Hodgson, daughter of the Harold J. Hodgsons, 1834 W. Stuart Lane, Palatine. Captain of the varsity cheer leaders, she has been a member of student council for four years and of French club for three. Debbie was in GAA for two years and in leadership one. She was freshman relays attendant and this year's homecoming queen.

WHEELING HIGH SCHOOL: Connie Andrew, daughter of C. J. Andrew and the late Mrs. Andrew, 1717 Woodview Drive, Prospect Heights is currently president of the National Honor Society, news editor of the Spokesman, high school paper, and staff writer for Paddock Publications' High School Highlights. She is a member of the Quill and Scroll Society, Student Council, National Forensics League and the Class Board.

Forest View High School: Chris Armstrong, daughter of the H. W. Armstrongs, 752 W. Dempster, Mount Prospect, has been involved in many activities her past four years. In her junior year she was student council secretary and is now vice president. She has worked on many council committees and was senior attendant at the Christmas Ball.

ARLINGTON HIGH School: Susan Chodera, daughter of the Robert D. Choderas, 1216 Marion Road, Arlington Heights, was cheer leader in her sophomore year, is now secretary. She is also a member of Honor Society, Class Board and Student Council, and has been in the Talent Show, and an active worker on various committees.

Prospect Heights: Charlotte Kreusch, daughter of the Frank J. Kreuschs, 906 N. Wilshire, Arlington Heights, has been on the cheer leading squad and also member of Student Council for four years. She is currently secretary of National Honor Society and has been elected homecoming queen by the entire student body. Her extracurricular activity record has been outstanding and she is an excellent student, receiving mostly "A's" for the past four years. (S

Juniors Entertain Spouses With Wine Demonstration

"Wines are alive, and should be allowed to breathe to develop their full bouquet," answered Frank A. Reda, wine representative for Schieffelin & Co. His comment was a response to the question of why red wines should be uncorked at least an hour prior to serving.

This question-and-answer session was part of the program for the Feb. 3 meeting of the Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club, and the annual Husbands' Night, the one meeting each year when the man in the family gets a chance to find out how the ladies conduct their business meetings. The special entertainment for this festive evening was a "Wine Tasting Party," consisting of suggestions on ways to cultivate the fine art of knowing and enjoying good wines.

MR. REDA answered many questions presented by the audience, explaining how vintage years are determined by the effect of the climate upon the grape crops in France, Germany and Italy, the major wine-making countries. He also pointed out the differences between various types of wines, indicating how each should be stored and served.

Most red wines age well in the bottle, but white wines tend to deteriorate sooner and should not be stored for more than a few years. Wine bottles should be stored on their sides, keeping the cork moist to prevent air leakage and destruction of the aging process.

As had been anticipated, the highlight of the evening was the tasting of four kinds of German wines, including champagne. Mr. Reda explained the professional method of tasting wine, and that each new wine should be served in a fresh glass so that the flavors are not intermingled.

THE PROGRAM committee, under the direction of Mrs. Norman Jacobs, provided the solid refreshments, consisting of cheeses, spreads, breads and crackers to accompany the wines. Schieffelin & Co., longtime distributors of wine, supplied the wine and a selection of informative pamphlets on wine selection and serving.

Dancing to stereo music was followed by a "midnight snack" featuring southern burgers, rolls, potato chips, relishes and coffee. The festivities were held in the meeting room of the Elk Grove Village Public Library.

Whether or not the club members and their husbands had previously been wine connoisseurs, everyone left the meeting with more knowledge of, and appreciation for, good wines. (S

Arlington Club Announces Trips To Garden Show

"Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" holds more significance than a song title these days as the Arlington Heights Garden Club releases schedules for its annual tour of the Chicago World Flower and Garden Show in March.

Buses will be available on Saturday, March 11, and Monday, March 13, leaving Pioneer Park at 9 a.m. and going directly to the door of the International Amphitheater. The buses will return to Pioneer Park at 4:30 both afternoons.

Information about prices and the show and reservations may be obtained by calling Dorothy Patti, 392-6981, or Ann Schrank, 253-0616. The public is invited to take advantage of this service. (S

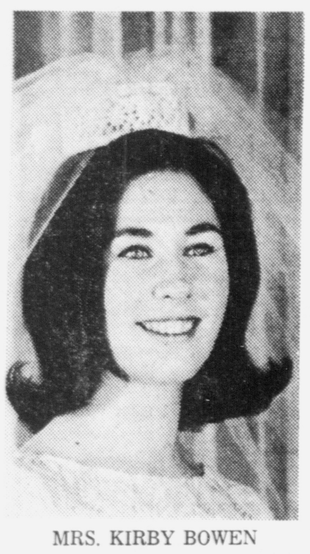
Carol Lynn Bertoglio Weds Army Lt. in Jan. 14 Rites



MRS. KIRBY BOWEN

After their wedding in South Church, Mount Prospect, on Jan. 14, the former Carol Lynn Bertoglio and her bridegroom, Lt. Kirby Bowen, were feted by 100 guests in the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Bertoglio, 402 MacArthur Drive, Mount Prospect.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Bowen of Cincinnati.

THE DOUBLE ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. I. Stevens at 12:30 in the afternoon, amid an altar setting of white mums and glads.

The bride wore a white street-length cage dress of Schiffli embroidery on English net, over a crepe sheath dress, as she came down the aisle on the arm of her father. The dress had a high neckline and long bell-shaped sleeves. Her 3-tiered shoulder - length veil was held in place by an open pillbox of the same Schiffli embroidery on crepe.

She carried white orchids and ivy in a cascade arrangement.

HER ONLY attendant, Jenifer Reiner of Fairfield, Ohio, wore a Dior blue street-length dress, styled with bell sleeves and an A-line skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, anemone, heather and mums.

Capt. Kingston Bowen of Mundelein, the groom's brother, served as his best man, and the bride's two brothers seated the guests. James Bertoglio came home from his studies at Eastern Illinois University and Richard Bertoglio from Valparaiso University to take part in the ceremony.

IN KEEPING WITH the blue and white color scheme of the wedding, the bride's mother chose a blue silk dress with matching jacket and accessories. Mrs. Bowen wore a 2-piece blue silk dress with lavender accessories, and both mothers had an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds are making their first home at 334 Myrtle Drive, Augusta, Ga., while Second Lt. Bowen is stationed at Ft. Gordon with the military police. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, and his bride completed 3½ years there. (S

New Members Sign Dotted Line Jan. 24

So convincing were the speakers that every prospective member signed on the dotted line Jan. 24 when Mount Prospect Center of Infant Welfare held its membership tea. Hostess for the tea was Mrs. E. Schoenenberger, president of the group, who spoke on the history and aims of Infant Welfare.

Other speakers were Mrs. Robert Trochuck who told of the volunteer jobs undertaken by the Center, Mrs. R. Haden who spoke on projects and profits and Mrs. J. Ostrem who told of the social work.

Welcomed to the Center were Mrs. Robert Salzman, Mrs. Thomas Hubbard, Mrs. Gordon Crowe, Mrs. Theo Hanson, Mrs. Corydon Johnson and Mrs. Ronald Scherer. (S

Sorority Activities

GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Betas throughout the northwest suburban area this week will be joining their president, Mrs. Richard Mueller, 1059 E. Plate Drive, Palatine, and Mrs. Richard Batts, 157 Flake Drive, Palatine, in mailing invitations to their "Have a Heart Bridge Tournament" to be held the week of Feb. 11 to 18.

Each Gamma Phi will be hostess in her home for a bridge of two or more tables. Proceeds from the benefit for mentally retarded children are divided between Clearbrook Center, Arlington Heights; Countryside Center, Palatine-Barrington; and the Northwest Suburban Aid for Retarded Children, Park Ridge.

Benefit chairman Mrs. James Milburn of Park Ridge will tally scores and announce tournament winners at the sorority's Feb. 22 meeting.

ALPHA XI DELTA

A program on flower arranging and election and installation of new officers are on the agenda for the Wednesday, Feb. 15, meeting of North Area Alumnae Group of Alpha Xi Delta.

Mrs. Jan Wilgren will present the flower arranging program during the meeting to be convened at 8 p.m. in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. L. Meyers. Co-hostess for the evening will be Mrs. C. Granskog.

All Alpha Xi Delta alumnae are invited. They may obtain more information from Mrs. Meyers, A 4-4861.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation will be a feature of the Tuesday evening meeting of Chicago Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta.

A member of the Mount Prospect Fire Department will give instruction in this lifesaving technique using a life-sized mannequin, Resusci-Anne, at the meeting in the home of Mrs. James Hollensteiner, 117 S. Albert, Mount Prospect.

The demonstration will follow the 8 p.m. business session.

Co-hostesses are Mrs. Edward Linsky, 126 Lancaster, and Mrs. Richard Quast, 900 W. Lincoln, both of Mount Prospect.

All Tri-Deltas in the area are invited, and they should telephone Mrs. Quast, 255-2387, by Monday, Feb. 13, if they plan to attend.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

A workshop for the Mary Thompson Hospital in Chicago is planned at the Wednesday, Feb. 15, meeting of the Arlington Heights Area Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The meeting will begin at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. William Chase, 302 W. Euclid.

Prospect Club Planning Its First Flower Show

The Mount Prospect Garden Club will hold its first garden show June 29 and 30 in the Mount Prospect Community Center, announced Mrs. Emil H. Fick, president. Mrs. Jerome A. Thelander will be chairman of the two-day show.

Committees now are being formed. The public will be invited to attend the flower show.

At their meeting yesterday (Wednesday) garden club members were informed that Mrs. Fick has been elected secretary of District 2 of the Garden Club of Illinois.

FOLLOWING THE theme of "Nature's True Colors," Mrs. George L. Martin showed slides of wild flowers that have been cultivated in home gardens. Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. M. H. Crandall, Mrs. William Lewis and Mrs. Thelander.

It also was announced that Mrs. Arthur F. Jaehnke will be in charge of ticket sales for the Chicago World Flower Show to be held in the International Amphitheatre in March. Garden club tickets are available at a discount price. Mrs. Jaehnke's telephone number is 259-4273.

The garden club members are planning a bus trip March 15 to attend the World Flower Show. Mrs. R. L. Duda, 255-1140, is taking bus reservations. Non-members may participate in this trip. (S

Kiwi Luncheon

Chicago Kiwis will hold a luncheon-meeting Wednesday, Feb. 15, in the La Strada Restaurant, 1531 N. Wells, in Chicago's Old Town. Details of the Kiwi-husband winter party and the eighth spring fashion show to be held in April will be discussed at the meeting. (S

Atise Completes $4,000 Pledge to Clearbrook

The final $1,000 of a $4,000 pledge made to Clearbrook Center for the Retarded only two years ago by Atise Junior Woman's Club, was completed and presented to the Center late in January.

Atise members, who number 16, admit that completing the pledge so soon was a bit of work, and give credit to the support they received from friends in the northwest suburban area. The club accomplished this goal through sponsorship of just three affairs including a dinner dance at the Conrad Hilton and a personal appearance of Robert Goulet in 1965 and a teen dance at the Cellar in Arlington Heights in 1966.

IN DECEMBER, the club welcomed three new members, Mrs. Edward Smith of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Paul Woessner of Barrington and Mrs. Thomas Crouch of Palatine. Mrs. G. T. Beckley, IFWC junior director, and a member of Atise, initiated the new members at the club's holiday luncheon meeting.

Active participation in the Viet Nam Project of Seventh District, IFWC, is currently occupying the time of Atise members as they collect and bring to monthly meetings, needed items for service men. (S

Modern Etiquette

Q. When eating a biscuit and jelly at the dinner table, may the jelly be applied to the biscuit with the fork?

A. No; this is for the knife.

Q. Is it all right to have one's telephone number engraved on one's personal stationery?

A. No; this is only for business letterheads.

Q. Some of my friends have told me it is improper for a person, even when dining alone in a public place, to read at the table. True?

A. Not true. There is nothing in the least wrong with a person, who is dining alone, to read at the table.

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

PART A

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS THURS., FEB. 9, 1967

WHEN WILLIAM GOODMAN, owner of William Lighting in Arlington Heights, is finished with this old table leg, it will be one of a pair of unique table lamps, and those deer antlers he will transform into an unusual hanging fixture. Goodman specializes in custom lighting fixutres and can make a lamp or hanging light from "just about anything." (Staff Photo)

Unusual Lighting Makes the Difference

It's those individual touches that transform an ordinary room into something distinctive, and one way to do this is with the lighting.

Antiques lend themselves to making unusual lighting fixtures, area women are discovering, thanks to William Goodman of William Lighting, 9 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

Goodman says he can create a custom lamp or lighting fixture from just about anything, and as examples, he cites ones he has already made—a wine press, ice tongs, speakers from old-time phonographs, carriage lights.

RIGHT NOW Goodman is transforming a pair of table legs into matching lamps and some deer antlers into a hanging fixture.

Old kerosene lamps or candle-burning fixtures can be wired for electricity, too, he says, and those colorful tiffany shades can be turned into stunning chain lamps, he adds.

The only problem Goodman encounters in making these custom fixtures is missing parts, and this is easily solved. If the customer is not in a hurry, Goodman will shop the area for a genuine replacement. If time is limited, he gets a reproduction.

Custom lighting is only one part of Goodman's business. He also sells a selection of regular fixtures, including early American, Country French, Williamsburg, Mediterranean and contemporary.

CONVERTING OLD LIGHTING FIXTURES to electrically-powered ones is another facet of Goodman's business, 9 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights. Here Mrs. Goodman polishes up a tiffany shade that he has made into a stunning chain lamp. Kerosene lamps, gas lights and candle-burning fixtures all can be wired for electricity to make an unusual lighting accessory for the home, according to Goodman. (Staff Photo)

Hello, Hostess

February Is Long On Dates to Celebrate

February may be short on days—but it's long on holidays and reasons to celebrate! Here, then, are 14 Hostessing Ideas for this busy month.

FOR LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Plan a pioneer-type party around Feb. 12. Star such old play-party games as Wink, Spin-the-Bottle or Post Office. Cover your refreshment table with a patchwork quilt for a homespun bit of early Americana.

Make a centerpiece or table decoration of Junior's Lincoln Logs in honor of the great railsplitter.

Arrange flowers in the chimneys of your hurricane lamps for another Feb. 12 centerpiece with the appropriate pioneer flavor.

FOR SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY

Bake apples for a Valentime-ly family dessert. (Add a few cinnamon "red hots" to spice up the sauce.)

For an easy heart-shaped cake, bake your batter in a square and round cake pan. Use the square cake as diamond shape. Cut the round cake in half. Then place the straight edges of the half circles against the top straight edges of the diamond to make the curves of the heart.

To delight a teen-age girl, have your florist deliver One Beautiful Rose. But sign the card, "From your secret admirer." She'll spend many a happy hour guessing who!

Star chivalry at a teen Valentine affair with the "Sir Walter Raleigh" relay. Give each couple two large sheets of newspaper. The girl steps on one paper while the boy puts the other down in front of her. The couple that reaches the goal line first wins.

FOR WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Bake a cherry pie. (Or buy one ready-baked.)

Treat your youngsters to celebration cupcakes, topped with tiny hatchets. (Attach blades cut out of cardboard to toothpick handles. Paint them silver or gold.)

Play "Truth or Consequences" at your "I Cannot Tell a Lie" party around Feb. 22.

Make a "cherry tree" for a stunning Washingtonian centerpiece. Cement branches (painted if desired) with plaster of paris into a clay pot painted green. Hang double cherries, real or artificial, on the tree with little bows. Give cherries to feminine guests to wear as earrings.

FOR CHINESE NEW YEAR

Celebrate the Chinese New Year with an easy Chinese dinner - frozen or homemade. For favors, decorate rolls of candy with red paper and yarn fuses to resemble firecrackers. The Year of the Sheep (4665 on the Chinese calendar) begins at midnight the night of Feb. 8.

FOR ANY SPECIAL FEBRUARY BIRTHDAY

Give something with the February birthstone, the amethyst. Ladies of ancient Rome believed the amethyst would aid them in keeping their husbands' affections. If the one you're gifting doesn't need this kind of help, you might mention that legend says the amethyst may also be worn to cure intoxication, protect a person from witchcraft, calm men in time of battle and/or have a soothing effect upon both the eyes and the spirit.

The Secret of Instant Youth

By BILLIE BACHHUBER

In these days of instant coffee, instant computation and instant chemical gratification and pacification, there is available also the secret of the most sought after mystery of the ages, instant youth!

Tired and listless, bored and depressed by wintry chores, frigid temperatures and lifeless and colorless landscape, many suburbanites are "fleeing-the-scene." They hopefully seek rejuvenation in warmer and more exotic surroundings.

Others, unable to "get away from it all," remain to endure the snow shovel and "shack fever" while wistfully awaiting the first, faint whisper of springtime.

BUT FOR others there exists a formula for the restoration of youthful exuberance and healthy enthusiasm even during the monotony of the winter months. The formula is available for all in the cities and suburbs, small towns and country towns throughout the United States, but especially so in the Midwest.

It is the contagious excitement generated and shared by fans, referees, coaches and players of the game of basketball.

As any basketball fan knows, there is nothing that "takes you back" like the atmosphere created in a gymnasium during a hotly competitive basketball game. "Buckets" fall where they may as the crowd grows younger and younger.

GENTLEMEN fans can and do stop worrying about receding hairlines or gray hair at the temples, sauna or steam baths, marital problems and business reverses.

The most highly respected professional or business man can return safely to his adolescense at the first shrill of the whistle or bounce of the basketball. If a dubious foul is called, he may jump to his feet, his voice booming out, "Whatta' ya' mean, ref? Are ya' blind?"

The crowd may back him up with resounding boos as the "youngsters" who lead the cheers desperately try to restore dignity and sportsmanship to the sport of basketball! There even may be times when coaches have to be reminded that the referees are "calling 'em."

LADIES OF all ages when attending basketball games can forget for four thrill packquarters expensively prepared beauty creams, silicone injections or face lifts, dinner party planning or that PTA speech.

Feminine spectators who are true basketball fans have learned long ago that youth is really a state of mind. Facial features soften and spirits soar as the gentle ladies relive their own scrapbook memories, perhaps complete with basketball hero, cheerleading and after-the-game coke dances.

Basketball fans know no religious, age or color lines. An enthusiastic team supporter will relive a game or discuss a favorite player with anyone, at any time, for years to come. Chins are up, lines are erased, anxieties forgotten!

ENTHUSIASTIC and wholehearted addiction to the game of basketball is guaranteed without fail to provide "instant youth" to its fans if they but believe in its magic.

Peter Pan used stardust to help teach Wendy and siblings the magical art of flying, but a well-fought basketball game will launch any genuine fan into orbit!

A Look Ahead

By the year 2000, both the housewives' and the breadwinners' work will be reduced significantly.

There will be no dirt or smog; people will live 200 and 300 miles from the cities and commute daily, and the head of the house will devote only four or five hours a day to his job.

These predictions are made by Sidney Epstein, president, A. Epstein and Sons, Inc., Chicago-based international firm of engineers and architects. They are logical extensions of trends already emerging.

FOR EXAMPLE, new materials and techniques will eliminate dirt automatically, he explains. Construction materials will receive negative static charges to repel dirt while positive-charged air ducts throughout buildings will pick up and deliver dust directly to atomic disposal units.

Building exteriors of plastic, aluminum, stainless steel or glass will be smooth, non-oxidizing and non-dust collecting.

High speed ground transportation will be a reality by the 21st Century, making it easy and commonplace for people to live in "suburbs" as far from cities as 200 or 300 miles. They will commute to the cities, however, because industry will have returned there to tap the more abundant labor force.

AND, BY 2000 A.D., fewer people will be performing routine production duties in factories. Instead, automation will relieve the majority of personnel for administration, engineering and product design.

Automation also will bring about a shortened work day of four or five hours. This will mean that employes will no longer lunch during the work day, but on their personal time.

Another effect of advancing technology in this field will be the changing concept of lighting and heating.

EPSTEIN POINTS out that by 2000, the walls of buildings will take over these functions, becoming more than enclosures to contain conditioned climates.

The walls will be made of new plastic-like materials that will bring in sunlight during the day and radiate artificial light in the evening. The walls also will control temperature with built-in radiation devices.

St. Alexius Auxiliary Adds $5,000 to Hospital Pledge

As one of her final official duties, Mrs. Richard Bowes, outgoing president of St. Alexius Hospital Auxiliary presented a check for $5,000 from the Auxiliary to Brother Matthew, C.F.A., assistant superior of Alexian Brothers stationed at St. Alexius Hospital. This sum will be applied to the Auxiliary's $55,000 pledge.

The presentation was made at the Auxiliary's annual meeting held recently in Stritch Hall, St. Alexius Hospital. This brings the total paid on the pledge to $45,000.

The money, designated specifically for the outfitting of the snack and gift shops, pediatrics section and furnishings, fourth floor foyer, day nursery and furnishings, has been raised through a variety of fund-raising projects throughout the past four years that the Auxiliary has been in existence. Some of the special projects included the Auxiliary's annual balls, pink elephant and rummage sales, card parties, doll sale and the continuing sale of a detergent.

THIS PAST YEAR in addition to special projects such as the Dedication Gala Dance and the Dedication booklet patron listing, two new continuing projects have been instituted. These are the Remembrance Fund and Survey Committee. These, together with the newly opened snack and gift shops, contributed substantially to this year's total profits.

In addition to the check presentation, another high point of the meeting came when the newly-elected officers were installed by past president Mrs. George Coney. Installed were president, Mrs. Thomas LaVezzi, Itasca; vice president, Mrs. Robert Fidler, Elk Grove Village; recording secretary, Mrs. Josiah Smith, Elk Grove Village; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Roy Caviale, Park Ridge; and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Chadderdon, Mount Prospect. PEDIATRICS WARD of St. Alexius Hospital is visited by Mrs. Richard Bowes, outgoing president of the Auxiliary, which has recently added another $5,000 to its hospital pledge. Accompanying Mrs. Bowes were the head nurse, Miss Lina Smith, and Brother Matthew, assistant superior of St. Alexius. Part of the Auxiliary pledge is earmarked for the pediatrics ward. Blood Bank Is Newcomers '67 Charitable Project

STABB (Schaumburg Township Associated Blood Bank) has been chosen as the charitable project for the year for the Hoffman-Schaumburg Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club. The decision was made at the club's Jan. 25 meeting which was attended by 105 area women.

Program for the meeting was a talk on skin care, presented by Mrs. Lee Jackson, cosmetician from an area drug store.

Mrs. Robert Smith, president of the Newcomers, introduced Mrs. Pat Barnes, area supervisor for Welcome Wagon, Mrs. Richard Schrafer, the newest Welcome Wagon hostess for the area, Mrs. Jack Wilcox, ways and means chairman, and Mrs. John Horzinmammer, chairman of the sunshine committee. Mrs. Ronald Bagstad was introduced as the newest newcomer at the meeting.

MRS. SMITH also explained the primary purpose of the club—to bring together those who are strangers and those who have an earnest desire to make friends and to become active participants in the communities.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Richard Swartz, Mrs. W. C. Magruder, Mrs. Orv Gaston and Mrs. James Sculerati.

The group's next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22, in Golden Acres Country Club. All newcomers to the area are invited and those wishing further information about the club may call the membership chairman, Mrs. Charles Lawless at 894-3674. (S

Madame President

She Works for the 'Y'

More than 250 women devote spare hours to the Northwest Suburban YMCA. Some of them teach knitting or ceramics; some take care of the snack bar and the locker room; others have the tiny tot nursery and pool guarding.

These women are members of the women's auxiliary of the YMCA, and they are headed by Mrs. Alfred Stier of Mount Prospect until May.

Though not a charter member of the auxiliary, Mrs. Stier has been working for the 'Y' since before it was dedicated in 1961. She described the function of the auxiliary to provide time and talents where otherwise personnel would have to be hired.

THE GROUP meets four times a year, once with husbands. This men's night is Feb. 14 with dinner and entertainment scheduled. Board meetings are held once a month.

Mrs. Stier served as vice president two years before assuming presidency of the auxiliary. She works in the snack bar twice a month.

Mrs. Stier has curbed her other activities considerably since she started working two years ago. Her youngest child in kindergarten, she began working half days, five days a week. Now employed by Branson Instruments in Des Plaines, Mrs. Stier still works only school hours so she can be home with her family.

THE STIERS have a son and two daughters. Rigg, 17, is a senior at Prospect High School; Susan, 11, is at St. Paul's Lutheran School, and Barbara, 6, is in first grade.

The Stiers have lived in Mount Prospect all their lives. Mrs. Stier's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verret, and Mr. Stier's family traces back to a Busse married to a Kirchoff.

In the past Mrs. Stier served on the high school council for two years, and was hospitality chairman of the Parent-Teacher League at St. Paul's Lutheran Church for four years. She has also been vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary for two years.

MRS. STIER said she used to sew and refinish old furniture, but has no time for hobbies now. With taxi service for the children, cleaning and general house work, her job, family, auxiliary and other interests, the president keeps herself busy.

Social life revolves around the children and bridge parties for the Stiers. As soon as the weather turns nice, the family goes out weekends in a camping trailer and doesn't stop until bad weather sets in again. They have camped for six years now, the longest trip being 4,600 miles through Yellowstone Park and Montana.

When Mrs. Stier's term is up in May, she has decided she will at least go back to sewing. Although she would probably remain on the board of directors of the auxiliary, she said, it will be in an advisory capacity.

AN ACTIVE WORKER for Northwest Suburban YMCA, Mrs. Alfred Stier heads the 'Y' Women's Auxiliary and works in the snack bar twice a month. This she manages to do in addition to running her own household and holding down a part-time job. (Staff Photo)

Opportunity Show This Weekend

Women investors who would like to go in business for themselves can see what opportunities exist in the franchise business at the first Illinois Business Opportunity Show at O'Hare Inn this weekend.

The three-day show opening tomorrow (Friday) and continuing through Sunday will have exhibits from such businesses as bridal shops, art galleries, food carry-out stores, sale and distribution of cosmetics and of home care products.

More than 60 national franchise exhibits may be seen, with needed investment ranging from a few hundred to several thousands of dollars. In 1966 franchise retailers were responsible for 25 per cent of the nation's total retail volume.

The show will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. each day, and there will be entertainment.

Editor To Attend Bake-Off

Mrs. Pat Adam, Suburban Living editor, will be in Los Angeles Feb. 11-14, covering the Pillsbury Co.'s 18th annual Bake-Off at the Century Plaza Hotel.

In addition to the Bake-Off, the program includes an introduction to new products and new service ideas from the Pillsbury grocery mix and refrigerated products groups.

There also will be a seminar on space with emphasis on what life scientists have learned about human nutrition as they ready men for moon flight.

Reports on the Bake-Off and its allied activities will appear in Suburban Living in later February issues. (SSD

Spring Hats Is Theme

Spring arrived early on the night of Tuesday, Feb. 7, when "Your Chapeaux" was presented to the Junior Woman's Club of Palatine.

Mrs. Einar Larson, hat designer, surrounded by mounds of beautiful and intriguing materials, feathers, flowers, ribbons and veils, demonstrated how to make a hat from "scratch."

Mrs. Larson has conducted many demonstrations and hat-making classes throughout the Northwest suburbs in the past seven years. Along with her hat career, she recently opened "The Blue Onion" antique, furniture and gift shop in Long Grove.

The night's refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Yount with Mrs. Richard Batts, Mrs. Stephen Duncan, Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. John Guilfoy, Mrs. Jack White and Mrs. Harold Wolfram assisting. (S

Beth Tikvah Carnival Is Sunday

As with many social functions, Beth Tikvah's Winter Carnival, scheduled for Jan. 29, had to be postponed. The new date is set for Sunday, Feb. 12 from 12 to 5 p.m. at the Temple, 275 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates.

All of the originally planned games, the fortune teller, clown, magic shows and white elephant sale will go on as usual.

Refreshments will also be sold.

Tickets for the games and magic shows can be purchased at the door. Other information can be obtained by calling the chairman, Mrs. Richard Weisz, at 894-9409. (SSD

Lady Marines Set Anniversary Dinner Feb. 18

Women Marines, past and present, will celebrate their 24th anniversary Saturday, Feb. 18, at 6 p.m. at Jimmy Wong's Restaurant, 426 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Lt. Col. Michael V. Palatas, USMC, who for the past two years has been officer in charge of the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 536 S. Clark St. Col. Palatas is the holder of the Silver Star Medal for action in Korea. He returned to continental United States in 1965 following a tour of duty in Viet Nam.

This dinner is sponsored annually by the Chicago Area Women Marines Anniversary Committee for present and former Women Marines in the Chicagoland, Cook County, Illinois, Southern Wisconsin and Northern Indiana areas.

Further information may be obtained from Mary Rita Jason, 626-6384 (evenings), or Helen Hannah Campbell, 422-1775. (SSD

For Your Valentines: A Heart-Shaped Salad

Beef Jardiniere Is Meal-in-One Dish

by LOIS SEILER

For the very special Valentines in your family, prepare a heart-shaped salad on Feb. 14. You are certain to be their sweetheart if you use the recipe featured today.

Called a Strawberry Sour Cream Salad, it is a favorite of Mrs. Robert W. Harsh of Arlington Heights.

"I usually prepare this for holidays, birthday dinners and other special occasions. The red and white colors make it ideal for Valentine's Day," Mrs. Harsh commented.

The mold has two layers of strawberry Jell-O combined with frozen strawberries and mashed bananas, with a filling of sour cream in between.

MIMI HARSH remarked that it goes well with almost any meat, but because this molded salad is very rich and sweet, it is best to serve a light dessert or none at all.

Another of this good cook's specialties that is easy enough to make for the family yet delicious enough to serve to guests is Beef Jardiniere.

For this recipe Mimi uses round steak which is pounded and cut into small strips. Browned with onion and garlic, the meat is simmered in a beef or mushroom gravy that is seasoned with soy sauce and sugar. Green pepper and a unique ingredient, shredded cabbage, are added the last few minutes of the cooking period.

"THIS DISH has a faint Oriental flavor," Mimi said, "and the meat is so tender that children enjoy eating it."

Served over rice, the savory Beef Jardiniere is virtually a meal-in-one as it contains both meat and vegetables. A salad is all that is needed as an accompaniment.

Barbecued Ribs are another of this family's favorites. Mimi roasts back ribs at a high temperature (500 degrees) for 20 minutes to brown them quickly, and then reduces the heat to moderate for the remainder of the cooking period. The easy barbecue sauce that she uses for basting requires no cooking; the ingredients are simply mixed together and poured over the ribs.

THIS SAUCE has a delicious sweet-sour flavor, and baked potatoes or German potato salad makes an excellent accompaniment for the ribs.

The Harsh family lives at 412 S. Yale in Arlington Heights. They have three children: Scott, 7; Dale, 5 and Eric, 8 months old. Mrs. Harsh is active in PTA and is a director of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

Week's Best Food Buys

Weather and transportation problems are the major bargaining point, and the trend is to higher perishable food costs in the metropolitan area. Consumers contribute to the disorderly marketing situation.

The local fryer market has taken a big wholesale cost jump, three cents. With basic supply backlog good, even beef has advanced in general retail prices by as much as four cents a pound.

Pork is easing. Food stores feature loin roasts low at 45 to 55 cents a pound, center cut chops from 69 cents a pound, pork steaks at 59 cents and top brand bacon again low at 69 cents to generally 89.

EGGS AND turkey are generally lower. Potatoes and citrus continue as better buys in produce.

Dealer selected price cuts create the following Chicago area food values:

Poultry: larger eggs, turkey, fryer parts, stewing hens.

Meats: portion cut pork loin roasts, center cut pork chops, pork steaks, ham slices, bacon, smoked butt roasts; lamb shoulder roasts and steaks; beef chuck roasts, rump roasts.

STRAWBERRY SOUR CREAM SALAD

2 small or 1 large box strawberry Jell-O
2 cups hot water
1 large box frozen strawberries
2 mashed bananas (optional)
1 cup commercial sour cream

Drain strawberries. Reserve juice and add water to make 1½ cups.

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water and add strawberry liquid. Blend in mashed bananas and strawberries.

Pour half into a heart-shaped mold, ring mold or shallow dish. Place in refrigerator until firm. Leave the remainder at room temperature.

Spread sour cream over the firm Jell-O. Pour remainder of liquid Jell-O over sour cream and chill.

BEEF JARDINIERE

2 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
1 pound round steak, one inch thick
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 small onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
1 can beef or mushroom gravy (10-ounce size)
½ cup water
2 teaspoons soy sauce
½ medium green pepper, cut in thin strips
1 cup coarsely-shredded cabbage

Combine flour, salt and pepper and pound into meat until absorbed. Cut meat in strips ½ by 2 inches.

In a large skillet, brown meat with garlic and onion in the butter.

In a bowl, blend gravy, water, soy sauce and sugar. Pour over meat, cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add vegetables, cover and cook an additional 15 minutes or more until the vegetables are done.

The gravy may be thickened, if desired. Serve over rice. Serves 4.

BARBECUED RIBS

2 racks spare ribs (back ribs preferred)
½ cup catsup
¼ cup chili sauce
½ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon liquid red pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon brown sugar

Cut ribs into serving size pieces. Heat oven to 500 degrees, place ribs in a shallow roasting pan and bake 20 minutes.

While ribs are roasting, mix the basting sauce ingredients. Reduce oven to 325 degrees, pour sauce over ribs and bake one hour, basting frequently. Serves 4 to 6.

Tasty Spread

Hearts and pineapple cheese on Valentine's Day. Blend one (8-ounce) package softened cream cheese with 3 ounces crumbled blue cheese. Mix in 1 teaspoon ginger and 1/3 cup each well drained crushed pineapple and chopped pecans. Chill before spreading on hearts cut from rye bread.

Timesaver

Entertaining on Valentine's Day? Get your party silver polished in advance and keep it sparkling till party day by placing each piece in the right size plastic bag. Keep your dishes in plastic bags, too. No need to wash dishes both before and after you entertain.

We reserve the right to limit quantities. Prices effective thru February 11th.

Area Woman Chosen Mrs. Beauty Salon

Mrs. Jerry Gabba, 3031 Lynn Court, Arlington Heights, has been chosen Mrs. Beauty Salon and will reign over National Beauty Salon Week beginning Sunday, Feb. 12, through Feb. 18.

Area hairdressers will kick off the week by donating their talents at area old folks homes and schools. Early Monday morning, the beauticians will report to the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged in Arlington Heights, to Maryville Academy in Des Plaines and to Mount St. Joseph Home in Lake Zurich where they will give hair cuts, permanents, shampoos, sets and styling to the residents.

This is an annual project of area beauticians, members of Affiliate 47, Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. Additional beauticians are needed for the Monday sessions and both licensed operators and students able to assist are asked to call Ruth Montgomery at CL 3-2574.

IN CHICAGO, the week will kick off at 8 p.m. Sunday with an evening of entertainment starring Alan King in the Civic Opera House.

The show will feature a spring fashion show and a preview of the new spring hair styles as well as the appearance of Mrs. Gabba. Mrs. Gabba is the wife of Clinton Gabba, vice president of National Western Life Insurance Co., Chicago. The couple has two children, Randy, 7, who attends Elk Grove School, and Lisa Lynn, 5.

All proceeds of the show will go to the Heart and Cancer Research Foundations in the Chicago area. Tickets are available at the Civic Opera House box office. (S

Stage, Inc. to Entertain Palatine Newcomers Club

Stage, Inc. will entertain The Palatine Newcomers club at its next meeting, Thursday, Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Winner's Circle, Arlington Carousel. They will present four comedy skits entitled "The Fighter," "Infernal Triangle," "Mother Goose on the Couch" and "The Baby Photo Salesman."

Members of the group are Betty and Rudy Kandlbinder, Bob Bennett, Angelo Polvere, Don Butler and Lee Yelovic.

Newcomers wishing to attend this meeting can make reservations with Mrs. Donald DeWolf, 358-0633 before Feb. 10.

At the last meeting of the Interior Decorating Group of the Palatine Newcomers the members heard a lecture by Miss Helen Huley, an interior decorator residing in Plum Grove Estates and a teacher in the Palatine High School Evening School. She spoke on the correlation of one's personal taste in clothing and decor as well as a basis of color coordination and home furnishings. (S

Palatine WSCS Preparing 13th Annual Smorgasbord

GETTING A PEAK at authentic Swedish decorations and foods for the Palatine WSCS Smorgasbord on Feb. 18 at Fremd High School Cafeteria are the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Chamberlin, with Mrs. Charles Knodel as the costumed waitress. Each of the 40 dining tables will be centered with Swedish dowel trees decorated with home-baked cookie ornaments and topped with wheat, which Swedes place there for the birds. Tables will also display wooden peacock candlesticks, 84 of which were made last year by Royal Browne of the church Methodist Men's group. There will be two identical servings at the smorgasbord, one 5 to 6:15 p.m. and another 6:30 to 8 p.m. (Staff Photo

William Fremd High School on South Quentin Road, Palatine, will again be the scene of the Palatine WSCS Smorgasbord, to be held Saturday, Feb. 18, in the school cafeteria. This is the 13th annual Scandinavian feast prepared by the woman's society of the First Methodist Church, and through the years it has grown from a small church dinner to an elaborate smorgasbord served to over 1,000 guests.

The school's entrance and hallway will become an art gallery, featuring pictures of the old and new Sweden and shields from the individual provinces.

THE DECORATING committee will also drape the doorway to the dining room with evergreen garlands according to the Swedish tradition.

A highlight of wall decorations will be a regulation-sized flag loaned by the offices of the Royal Consulate General of Sweden in Chicago. A large hand-painted mural 9 feet by 24 feet will depict rural Swedish countryside.

THERE WILL be two identical servings, one from 5 to 6:15 p.m. and another from 6:30 to 8 p.m., and all tickets must be purchased in advance. Mrs. Robert Mede, 253-4853, and Mrs. Andrew Hansen, 358-7170, are ticket chairmen.

Serving tables will be decorated with wrought iron lantern candlesticks with live flower topiary trees on either side in the Swedish colors of yellow, red and blue.

All hostesses and waitresses will be attired in colorful Swedish costumes.

Babysitting service will be available at the high school for a small charge. (S

Suburban Living
Especially for Women

Choralettes, Name Of New YMCA Club

"The Northwest Choralettes," a women's choral group started last September as a skill school program at Northwest Suburban YMCA, has developed into a club under 'Y' sponsorship.

The group, directed by Mrs. Robert Ferguson of Des Plaines, rehearses each Tuesday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the YMCA, and has a business session the first Tuesday of the month immediately preceding practice.

THE SINGERS reside in all of the neighboring northwest suburbs and welcome all women interested in choral work. YMCA membership is not required, and no auditions are held. Formal music training is not necessary either, only the desire to sing.

Earlier this winter the chorus entertained at the Georgian Retirement Home in Evanston, at a 'Y' buffet supper and at the Des Plaines Tree of Lights, which benefited Little City.

FUTURE PLANS include a spring concert and an appearance at the 'Y' Mermaid Mamas water show. The group accepts invitations to sing for all types of community affairs.

Further information is available from Mrs. Charles Neubauer, club president, of Rolling Meadows. Her phone is 358-1229. (S

Mt. Prospect Homemakers To Entertain New Members

New members are invited to the Mount Prospect Homemakers' meeting Wednesday, Feb. 15, in Mount Prospect Community Center. Coffee and a social period will begin at 12:30 p.m. with the business meeting following at 1 o'clock.

The topic originally scheduled for the January meeting, "Investment Studies," will be presented by the home advisor.

MEMBERS ARE urged to attend the Bee Hive or workshop at 10 a.m. that same day at the center.

Two projects are planned. Mrs. H. Kolzow will be teaching basic knitting and asks those attending to bring needles and yarn. Mrs. Raymond Bond will help members create Easter eggs, and this requires colored Kleenex, a large bowl and an apron.

Mrs. Bond may be called at 255-4882 for details.

THE HOMEMAKERS recently elected the following officers for a second term: Mrs. James Cregg, chairman; Mrs. Carl Anderson, program chairman, and Mrs. Francis Liebrich, treasurer. Elected to a first term were Mrs. R. Bond, membership chairman, and Mrs. Harold Weary, secretary.

'Cavalcade of Cottons' To Parade for St. Edna's

"Cavalcade of Cottons," a showing of the latest in cotton fashions, will be the featured program at the Wednesday, Feb. 15, meeting of St. Edna's Women's Club, to be held at St. Mary School Hall, Buffalo Grove Road, Buffalo Grove, at 8 p.m.

A colorful forecast of things to come, "Calvalcade of Cottons" features a traveling collection of fashions and is a loan service made available by the National Cotton Council and McCall's Patterns. It is offered as a demonstration of the versatility in home sewing and has information on the latest trends in fabric and pattern styling.

THE WARDROBE, made by seamstresses in Memphis, includes casual clothes, tailored suits and coats, late day dresses and children's wear.

According to Mrs. Raymond Jennings, program chairman, the fashions presented will be modeled by the members of the club and should appeal to all the ladies of the parish, with emphasis on those ladies who delight in sewing.

Refreshments will be served and members are invited to bring guests. (S

Jewel's Miracle Food Prices Save You More! Jewel's Miracle Food Prices Save You More!

SAVE EVERY WEEK WITH JEWEL'S "MIRACLE PRICES"! WHY PAY MORE?

The best way to measure Jewel's low prices is by weekly savings. That's because:

1. "MIRACLE PRICES" ARE PERMANENT PRICE REDUCTIONS — not weekly "specials" — not here today, gone tomorrow!
2. "MIRACLE PRICES" LOWER YOUR TOTAL GROCERY BILL — not just the cost of a few select items, but many of the groceries and household needs that appear on your shopping list every week.
3. "MIRACLE PRICES" MEAN SAVINGS OF 5c, 10c, EVEN 15c AN ITEM — significant reductions in Jewel's former prices to make a big difference in your total weekly grocery costs!

What's a Brother, Mommie?

There were already four sisters in her home and 3-year-old Laurie Ann Prill didn't know what a brother was, but she wanted one anyway. She's a wee bit disappointed in the new baby, another girl.

All five of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Prill, 2201 Cardinal Drive, Rolling Meadows, have an "Ann" in their name. There's Peggy Ann, 8, Leeanne, 7, Laurie Ann, 3, Diann, 2, and now Barbara Ann, born Jan. 21 in Lutheran General Hospital. Mrs. Prill is an "Ann," too, Mary Ann.

"I really thought the odds were against our having another girl," laughed Mrs. Prill, who along with her husband is very happy with another baby girl. "And we only have one tom boy in the bunch!" she added.

Grandparents happy over the birth of 8 pound 11¼ ounce Barbara Ann are the Frank Czupofskis of California and the Ewald Prills of Arkansas.

Jennifer Jo Aguilera is the third daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Aguilera, 299 Navajo Trail, Buffalo Grove. She was born Jan. 28 in Lutheran General Hospital and weighed 6 pounds 14 ounces. Victoria Lynn, 6, and Elizabeth, 18 months, are the couple's older daughters. Grandparents are the Harry Lundins of Des Plaines and Timothy Aguilera of Mexico.

Laura Holly Baumhardt, daughter of the Carl R. Baumhardts, 204 S. William, Mount Prospect, was born Jan. 25 in Lutheran General Hospital weighing 9 pounds ¼ ounce. She has a sister, Cheryl, 4½, and a brother, Kenneth, 3. Her grandparents are the Matthew Wocniaks of Mount Prospect and the Elmer Baumhardts of Morton Grove.

Patrick David Shaughnessy is the name Mr. and Mrs. David P. Shaughnessy of Des Plaines have chosen for their first baby. Born Feb. 3 in St. Francis Hospital, Patrick weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces. He is the grandson of Mrs. David V. Shaughnessy of Arlington Heights and the Arthur J. Knuths of Chicago.

Lori Denise Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rodgers, 853 A. Old McHenry Road, Wheeling, was born Jan. 30 in Highland Park Hospital. Granddaughter of the Ray Garvins of Deusl, Okla. and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rodgers of Hollister, Okla., the baby has a sister, 18-month-old Sheila Renae.

Andrew Edward Cano arrived Feb. 2 in Northwest Community Hospital, the second child for Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cano, 301 N. Schubert, Palatine. His birth weight was 8 pounds 11 ounces. The couple's older child is a 4-year-old daughter, Catherine. Grandparents are the M. Canos of Iowa City, Iowa and Mrs. M. B. Page of Kansas City, Mo.

Mark Mathias Follmann joins a 21-month-old sister, Erika, in the Reinhard Follmann home at 712 E. Oakton, Arlington Heights. He was born Jan. 27 in Northwest Community Hospital weighing 8 pounds 12 ounces. The children's grandparents are the M. Follmanns of Morton Grove and the H. Vollmers of Kewaskum, Wis.

James Andrew Masbaum is the second son and fourth child for Mr. and Mrs. John C. Masbaum, 75 N. Ela Road, Palatine. He was born Jan. 30 in Northwest Community Hospital and weighed 7 pounds 2 ounces. James' brother is John Charles, 4, and the boys' sisters are Susan Marie, 7, and Julie Anne, 2. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Henning of Arlington Heights and Mr and Mrs. Charles H. Masbaum of Chicago are the grandparents of the four Masbaum children. Great-grandparents are the Edward Mischkes, also of Arlington Heights.

Dawn Marie Carollo, first child for Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Carollo, 393 Maple Lane, Elk Grove Village, was born Jan. 23 in Gottlieb Memorial Hospital. Six pounds 1½ ounces was her birth weight. The Dominic Carollos of Lombard and the Steve Minetzes of Chicago are the baby's grandparents.

Helen Ruth Grubbs is the name of the new baby in the Robert Grubbs family of 4403 Hoover St., Rolling Meadows. She arrived Jan. 25 in Northwest Community Hospital and weighed 7 pounds 1½ ounces. Donald, 3½, and Linda, 5½, are the other children in the home. They are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Grubbs of Kearney, Mo., and the Simon Grays of Pleasant Hill, Mo.

Sheryl Spicer, born Jan. 25 in Highland Park Hospital is a third daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Spicer of 916 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling. Her sisters are Celena, 5½, and Sabrina, 2½, and grandparents are Mrs. Fred Kettner of Hazelhurst, Wis., and the Irving Spicers of Chicago.

Jeffrey Alen Auerbach's birth was recorded Jan. 29 in St. Alexius Hospital, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Auerbach of 855 Sayles, Palatine. His weight was 6 pounds 12 ounces. Jeffrey's grandparents are all Chicagoans, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sommers and the Richard Auerbachs.

Amy Suzanne Piet's birth on Jan. 27 adds a seventh child to the Fred Piet family of 1234 Sarasota Drive, Wheeling. Born in Northwest Community Hospital, she weighed 9 pounds 14 ounces. Other children in the Piet home are Pete, 10, Dan, 8, Nancy, 7, Sally, 6, Jim, 4, and Bill, 2. The Robert Fruins and John E. Piet, all of Chicago, are their grandparents.

Rosemary Marie Steinke is a first child for Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Steinke of 22 Cedar, Willoway Terrace. She arrived Jan. 24 in St. Alexius Hospital and weighed 6 pounds 11 ounces. The Carl Steinkes of Barrington, Mrs. Bernadette Bushee of Des Plaines and Frank Bushee of Manchester, Vt., are her grandparents.

Sarah Jane Ries is the name of the fifth child of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Ries, 1346 N. Yale Ave., Arlington Heights. Her birth was recorded Jan. 23 in Northwest Community Hospital, her weight at 5 pounds 5 ounces. KEEPING IN TOUCH with names of new United Air Lines families in this area is a big job for the Extra Care Club affiliated with the airline, but its purpose is to welcome them and provide information on housing, schools, clubs, schools and other details. Club president Mrs. Terry Seanor of Hoffman Estates, seated at left, is shown with Mrs. William Bowen of Barrington and Thomas Gainey of Prospect Heights, who in his work in the Chicago flight office gives the club the names of United families moving here. (Staff Photo) (S

They Have 'Extra Care'

Lucky United Families

The "extra care" which United Air Lines pledges in its travel posters is also provided for United families who are transferred to this area. When a United employee moves his family to the northwest suburbs, the Extra Care Club affiliated with United Air Lines goes into action.

The club, composed of wives of United employees, aims to acquaint all new arrivals with pertinent information concerning housing, schools, churches, clubs, etc.

IN THE PAST year the Extra Care Club has helped settle more than 200 families in this area and expects to top that record this year. Another goal this year is the establishment of similar clubs in Washington, D.C., Newark and Los Angeles.

Thomas Gainey of Prospect Heights, technical systems analyst in the Chicago flight office, has been instrumental in helping the club with lists of names of United families moving to the area. With their arrival, the families are contacted by the real estate committee of the club to help find homes and apartments for them.

THERE ARE 25 area chairmen to welcome the newcomer. This is done with monthly coffees, potluck suppers, by babysitting and by being a friend to a lonely new arrival.

New officers are as follows: Mrs. T. B. Seanor, Hoffman Estates; president; Mrs. W. L. Mennella, Arlington Heights, first vice president; Mrs. D. G. Runyan, West Chicago, recording secretary; Mrs. G. G. Ray, Mount Prospect, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. R. Keown, Carol Stream, United representative; Mrs. H. P. Morgan Jr., Timbercrest, treasurer; Mrs. Gary Salmon, Hoffman Estates, assistant treasurer; Mrs. R. L. Boyer, Hoffman Estates, reservations.

MEETINGS ARE held the second Saturday of the month at Allgauer's Restaurant, Mannheim Road. Highlight of this Saturday's event is a fashion show.

Additional information about the club is available from Mrs. Ray at 392-7415. (S

Clearbrook Benefit Is Rescheduled

New date for the film and musical program to benefit Clearbrook School has been announced as Friday, Feb. 24. The original date, Jan. 27, was snowed out.

The program, "This Land Is Your Land," will be held at 8 p.m. in the Clearbrook School, 3201 Campbell, Rolling Meadows. It is being presented by Seventh District Conservation Division of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs to help raise funds for a nature area to be developed for the children of Clearbrook.

THIS EVENING of travel and song features two films and songs of our country. "The Wilderness Alps of Stehekin," a sound color film, tells the story of a family group traveling through the alpine-like Stehekin Mountains of Washington's Cascade Range.

The sound film "Hawaii," filmed and narrated by Tom Burt, takes the audience island - hopping accompanied by music native to each island including Oahu, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii. Folk singer and composer, Pat Walsh, will top off the evening with melodies of our land and its people.

"THE PROPOSED nature area of native trees, shrubs and flowers would provide enjoyment and learning for the children of Clearbrook who might otherwise have limited opportunity for such experiences," commented the chairman.

Tickets are available at the school and from Mrs. David Toeppen, 409 S. Hi Lusi, Mount Prospect, CL 5-2255. There will be a nominal charge for the adult and children's tickets.

AFTER A WEDDING TRIP to Montego Bay, Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webster Williamson are living in Evanston while the bridegroom attends Northwestern University Law School. The bride is the former Suzanne A. Priebe, daughter of the Elmer Priebes of Rock Island, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Robert W. Williamson of Inverness Countryside and the late Mr. Williamson. Married shortly before Christmas, the bride is back to teaching at Golf Junior High School, Morton Grove. The groom is a graduate of Palatine High and Northwestern University.

MARRIED THE WEEK before Christmas in St. John Vianney Church, Janesville, Wis., were Patricia Louise Smith of Williams Bay and Richard Allen Greenwood, son of the Daniel B. Greenwoods of Rockford. The bride and her parents, the Douglas Sovereign Smiths, are former Arlington Heights and Inverness residents. A breakfast reception was given for 200 guests at The Abbey in Fontana, and the couple then left for a Florida honeymoon. The bride attended Palatine High School and Northwestern University, where her husband is a senior. They are living in Evanston.

Miami Campus Is Home For December Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Applegate, Dec. 28 newlyweds, are making their first home in Oxford, Ohio, the home of the University of Miami. The bride, the former Kathryn Hall Curtis, a graduate of Arlington High School, is also a graduate of Miami and is employed in the university's administration office. Her bridegroom will graduate from the university in April.

The new Mrs. Applegate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon S. Curtis, 633 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Applegate of Milford, Ohio.

THEIR MARRIAGE took place in the Methodist Church of Arlington Heights with Dr. Amos Thornburg officiating. Christmas greens and white altar flowers formed the background for the 7 o'clock double ring service.

A white satin empire gown with chapel train and trimmed with alencon lace was the bride's choice in wedding gowns. A small white pillbox headpiece with alencon lace trim held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white Amazon orchids, stephanotis and holly leaves. Mr. Curtis gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Ann McClenahen of Cleveland served as the bride's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Janine Carlson, Sue Hamilton and Susan Hidding of Arlington Heights and Suzanne Johnson of Kenilworth. All wore identical floor-length empire gowns of emerald green with velvet bodices and satin skirts. They wore matching headpieces and carried white fuji mums, holly berries and holly leaves.

PAUL WARD of Milford served as the groom's best man and ushers were the bride's brother, David Curtis of Park Ridge and Richard Custard, Richard Lydell and Gerald Podany, all of Oxford.

The reception was held in Henrici's Ballroom where Mrs. Curtis received in a champagne silk dress with kelly green accessories and a green orchid corsage. Mrs. Applegate chose an aqua dress with matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The Oxford address of the couple is 912 Arrowhead Drive.

Invite Kids To Movie

A children's movie will be shown at Eugene Field School, Dundee Road, Wheeling, on Saturday, Feb. 11, sponsored by Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Newcomers Club.

Tickets will be sold at the door. All pre-schoolers must be accompanied by an older responsible child or an adult.

Mrs. Norman Duerr, 537-9118, may be called for details.

Frederick Kleisner Takes Bride in Dec. 31 Nuptials

On the last morning of 1966 Frederick J. Kleisner of Arlington Heights took his college sweetheart, Johanna Lynn McDonald, as his bride in St. Patrick's Church in Union Lake, Mich. The groom's parents are the Theodore W. Kleisners of 602 E. Park, and the bride is the daughter of the J. C. McDonalds of Union Lake.

The couple met while attending Michigan State University in East Lansing, and now as man and wife are living in Minneapolis after a week's honeymoon in northern Michigan.

The bride works for National Cash Register Co., and the groom is associated with Albert Pick Hotels Corp.

A CHRISTMAS setting of poinsettias and evergreens adorned the church altar as the bridal attendants came down the aisle, all gowned alike in wintergreen velvet dresses and carrying white fur muffs accented with dark red roses in keeping with the holiday motif.

Mrs. Garett J. Nash of Grosse Pointe, Mich., was matron of honor; Nancy Clark of Grosse Pointe and Debra Brown of Union Lake were bridesmaids. Miss Brown is a cousin of the bride.

WEARING A Bianchi-designed gown of ivory peau de soie with a jeweled leaf applique, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her veil was attached to a Juliet cap of alencon lace topped with a Dior bow. She carried white orchids and stephanotis.

The groom's best man was his identical twin, Theodore, and ushers were Robert Sherwood of Grosse Pointe and Charles Emery of Spring Lake, Mich.

For the morning rites and the brunch afterwards at Pine Knot Ski Resort, the bride's mother wore a silver and blue brocade ensemble with matching accessories and Mrs. Kleisner wore a toast colored chantilly lace shift with a gold brocade hat. (S

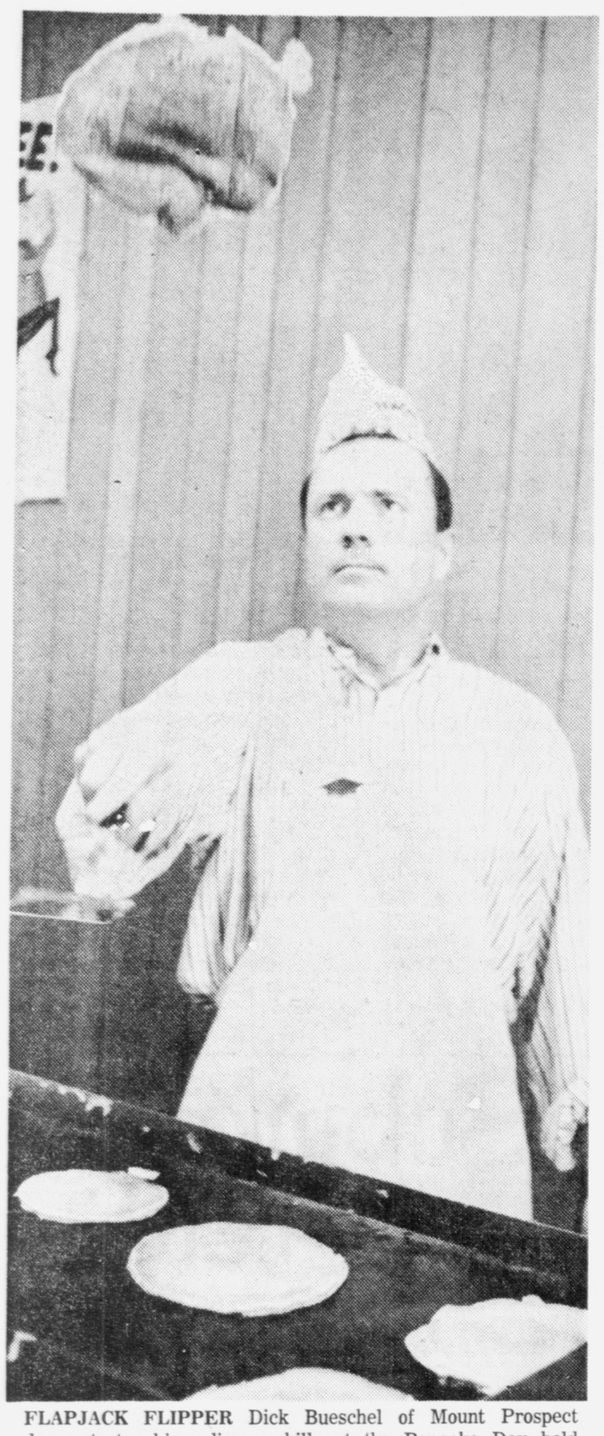
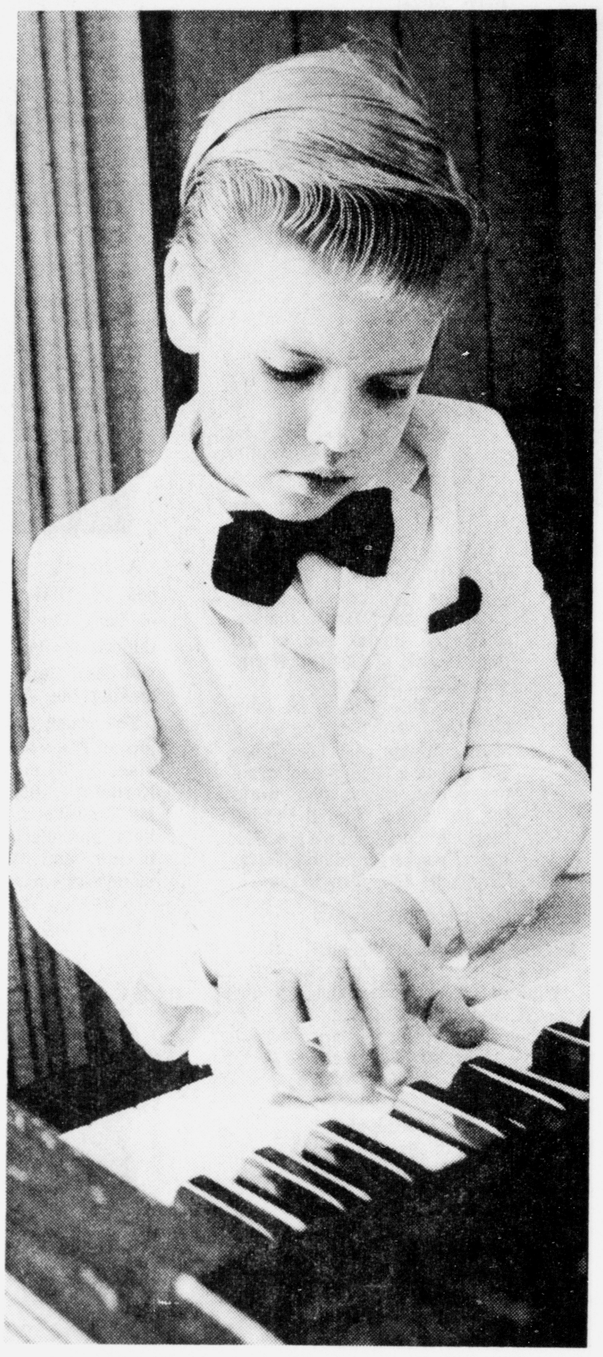
It Was a Change from Mom's Cooking



FLAPJACK FLIPPER Dick Bueschel of Mount Prospect demonstrates his culinary skills at the Pancake Day held Saturday at Northwest Suburban YMCA. Bueschel, along with other board members, cooked and served thousands of pancakes and sausages to more than 1,000 hungry appetites. The all-day affair was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary. (Staff Photo)

NEVER SWIM ON A FULL TUMMY—but after a dip in the "Y" pool there's nothing like a stack of pancakes to fill a feller up. Eleven-year-old Alan Glaser of Prospect Heights was one of the many youngsters who feasted with family and friends Saturday when the "Y" Auxiliary held its annual Pancake Day, its only fund-raiser of the year. (Staff Photo)



YOUNG VIRTUOSO of the organ, 9-year-old Brett Bolte, son of Mrs. Orville Bolte of Arlington Heights, was the youngest entertainer Saturday during the "Y" Auxiliary Pancake Day. Brett dressed in white jacket and green spangled trousers, amazed the audience with his talent. He and the other musicians were students of Wilkins Music School.

University Women To Get 'Kulture'

"Ain't Kulture Great?" is the title of the February program for the Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women. Howard Rice, husband of the first vice president and program development chairman, Kathey Rice, is the guest speaker at tonight's meeting. So popular have Mr. Rice's programs been that members specifically requested that his third presentation for AAUW be on music in the home.

The title of his program, Mr. Rice says, is, of course, said with tongue in cheek. In explaining his topic, Mr. Rice says, "We do not listen to music because it's good for us, but but because we enjoy it. It's downright fun. Once I establish the ground rules, I want to show why it's fun, how to get pleasure out of it and finally how to bring music into the home and make it as much a part as TV."

MR. RICE'S approach has always been from the listener's point of view, rather than the performer's. He was formerly music director for radio station WVCT, Coral Gables, Fla., and owns a large library of records and tapes.

"To learn about music, you must listen to music," states Mr. Rice.

He will illustrate his program with a stereo sound system and special tapes.

Mr. Rice is a graduate electrical engineer and is manager of training services for Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc. He is on the board of directors of the National Visual Presentations Association.

Also at tonight's meeting, members will be reminded of the Felix Greene movie, "China," to be presented Feb. 28 in the Arlington High School Little Theater. Tickets are being distributed by members of AAUW.

A MORNING coffee for new members is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 14, at the home of Mrs. James Andrew, 224 S. Illinois Drive, Arlington Heights.

"Policy Objectives and Power Factors" and "Case Studies in Chinese Foreign Policy" will be discussed by the China study group, Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the home of Mrs. Charles Toot, 225 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights. (S

Juniors Circle Date For 'February Flair'

Plans are now complete for the eighth annual "February Flair" hat show and sale sponsored by the 7th District Juniors of Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. This year's benefit takes place Saturday, Feb. 25, at Elmhurst Country Club.

Millinery fashions will be displayed by "Sue," with representatives of the nine Junior clubs in the district doing the modeling. Show times will be at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

HATS WILL BE on sale from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and guests are welcome to browse and try on the hundreds of new spring styles.

"This year, as in the past, all proceeds go to Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Clinic," announces Mrs. Robert H. Fletcher of Arlington Heights, chairman of the Flair.

ON HER COMMITTEE are the following Arlington Heights women: Mrs. N. D. Wallner, District Junior director; Mrs. Walter Busch and Mrs. Peter Tofoli, who represents the Atise club.

Other committee members are Mrs. Michael Jordan, Elk Grove; Mrs. Everett Burhite, Hanover Park; Mrs. P. H. Piper, Mount Prospect; Mrs. Kenneth Carter, Rolling Meadows; Mrs. Roger Nemetz, Schaumburg, and Mrs. John Koeppen Jr., Wheeling.

Tickets for the "February Flair" can be purchased from any Juniors in the district, from Mrs. M. Jordan, 437-2750, or Mrs. Fletcher, 392-1675.

St. Thomas Club To Hear Hand Writing Analyst

Fr. Anthony Becker, handwriting analyst, will be guest speaker tonight (Thursday) at the monthly meeting of St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Woman's Club, Palatine.

Topic of his discussion will be graphology, and he will use members of the audience in demonstrating. (S

Prayer Day Service Set For Friday

Protestant and Catholic churchwomen from the Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Prospect Heights areas will observe a World Day of Prayer on Friday, Feb. 10, at an interdenominational service in the Lutheran Church of Martha and Mary, 606 W. Golf Road, Mount Prospect.

Theme of the 1:30 p.m. service is "Of His Kingdom There Shall Be No End." The Rev. Albert Weidlich of Grace Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights, will be the main speaker.

SITTER SERVICE will be provided at the church.

All area women are welcome to join in this World Day of Prayer which is observed throughout the world. This year the first service of the day will be held in the Tonga Islands of the South Pacific. (S

'Y' Women Invite Husbands To Dine, Hear UFO Facts

Dinner with a best beau and all there is to know about a UFO are the twin bill of fare for the annual Men's Night of Northwest Suburban YMCA Women's Auxiliary.

The Valentine Day dinner meeting is slated Tuesday, Feb. 14, in the 'Y' all-purpose room at 6:30 p.m.

"FACTS BEHIND the Fantasies" is the title of Sherman Larsen's talk scheduled for the "Y" women, their husbands and guests. The topic describes the puzzle concerning unidentified flying objects.

Mr. Larsen is president of the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena and resides in Glenview. He will speak on UFO's, show slides and a short film and answer questions from the audience.

The committee investigating UFO's is a non-profit organization which studies all reports and attempts to weed out dubious information, expose hoaxes and publicize reliable data according to its literature.

THE MAJOR goal is to make all UFO information available for scientific study and determination. There are 6,000 associate members in the group, from all 50 states and 30 foreign countries and representing a cross-section of society, science and the military.

Reservations for the 'Y' Auxiliary Men's Night should be made with Mrs. Vernon McMurray, 392-7788, by Feb. 10. (S

"Think pink or red" is asked of the Lions Ladies of Elk Grove Village for the next meeting, scheduled for Monday, Feb. 13. A Valentine theme will prevail for the 7:30 p.m. dinner and program at the Maitre d' Restaurant in Elk Grove.

Those attending are asked to wear something in either pink or red.

Special invitations have been sent to past presidents and former members of the Lions Ladies who have moved out of the village.

Interior decorating will be the program topic, to be presented by Rosemary Kallaway.

Nurses' Group Meets Tonight

"Coronary Nursing Care" is the topic for this month's session of the 18th District of Illinois Nurses Association. The group meets tonight (Thursday) at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Tours of Lutheran General will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the hospital lobby. Following the tour, dessert will be served in the 10th floor dining room.

Dr. Irving J. Adatto, an internist on the hospital staff, will be the featured speaker, and the cardiac monitor will be demonstrated. (S

Homemakers 'Select' Furniture Feb. 14

"Selection of Furniture" will be the lesson offered the Palatine Homemakers' Extension Unit by Mrs. D. F. Rundle and Mrs. M. C. Kamper when it meets at 12:45 Tuesday, Feb. 14, in the home of Mrs. J. E. Medek, 526 N. Brockway.

At a recent board meeting held in the home of Mrs. E. Wente, 102 N. Elmwood, Chairman Mrs. R. Swanson, reviewed the duties of the new officers for 1967-1968 and special activities for the unit were proposed. Announcement was also made of the perfect 1966-1967 attendance record of Mrs. H. Breit, Mrs. R. H. Golterman and Mrs. E. W. Passarelli. The unit has had four active charter members since 1941, Mrs. H. W. Homeier, Mrs. Amanda Luerssen, Mrs. C. Odell and Mrs. E. Wente.

THE PALATINE UNIT is represented at the Cook County Homemakers Extension Units' held today, (Thursday) at the West Side Fieldhouse, Des Plaines.

A Feb. 22 craftsday will be held at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Golterman, 143 S. Hale. Members wishing to make Christmas trees are reminded to bring Hillside egg cartons. A variety of other crafts may also be started.

The Unit again received a blue ribbon at the Cook County Homemakers' 26th annual meeting held at Marlac House in Oak Park Jan. 19. The award is presented to units for conscientious attendance at advisory and training school meetings and efficient completion of records.

A potluck luncheon is being planned for March 14. Announcement of the location will be made at a later date. (S

Accident Prevention, First Aid Clinic Topics

Accident prevention and first aid will be the topics covered by Mrs. Maria D. Coburn as she presents the fourth program to the Baby Sitting Clinic at the Arlington Little Theatre, Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 7:15 p.m.

The clinic is a community service sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

MRS. COBURN has been the director of health services for Arlington Heights for the past four years. She is a graduate of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing in Evanston and received her B.S. from Loyola and her M.A. from the University of Chicago.

She served as an Army nurse in the South Pacific during World War II, was nursing supervisor for the Cook County Health Department and was director of nurses for Lake County Health Department.

Mrs. Coburn will cover five areas in her talk: definitions and purposes of accident prevention and first aid, important points for the first aider to keep in mind, general knowledge, what to do in case of an accident, injuries and ailments most commonly found in the home.

DURING THE demonstration portion of the program, Mrs. Coburn will be assisted by three nurses who are members of Arlington Juniors, Mrs. Robert Holmes, Mrs. Robert Harsh and Mrs. William Smits.

Mrs. Jon Floria is the clinic chairman, and she is assisted by Mrs. Richard Steffens.

Host Education Secretaries

A dinner meeting at the Carousel Restaurant, Arlington Heights, is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 15, by the North Suburban Educational Secretaries Association. Hostesses will be secretaries from Prospect Heights School District 23 and River Trails School District 26.

After a brief business meeting, which will include the election of new officers, a wig fashion show will be presented by Mr. Henry's Wiggery of Mount Prospect.

All secretaries and clerical personnel connected with school work are invited. Further information is available from Jean Meister, 296-3103. (S
